

'Adventures in August' By Judith Cook

August is here which gives our parents a chance to cheer,
Hold on I hear you cry!
Juggling life, children and a career,
for goodness sake pass me a beer.

Grandparents are a godsend,
grandchildren however will drive you round the bend.
Keeping them entertained,
where on earth to send.

The universe is free,
nature and parks unless you fall and scrape yer knee.
Keep away from the flying bee!
and always be aware when climbing that tree.

Why not teach the grand kids how to cook,
come on over, give it a look,
OH please don't forget to check your grandma's cookbook.
Learn from the best, that's all it took.

August adventures now yer talkin
can you do it while yer walkin?

Put your mobile phones away,
they will be there for another day.
Come on what da ya say
the open air is free to play.

Boy or Girl or whatever is your gender you will never be sent back to return to sender.

Life is short, go and explore
this isn't the time for being a bore.
Your parents know the score
your grandparents were here long before.
Respect is earned.
Do not get burned.
