Please Use Water Wisely

We live in an area that has previously faced severe drought conditions and strict water conservation. After a couple of years of good precipitation, the MPMWC Board of Directors' has moved our water conservation guidelines from Moderately Restricted to Normal Water Supply Condition. Our PMC aquifer is the only water source we have and is not a limitless supply of water. The Water Company asks our PMC residents to continue to conserve. We greatly appreciate your continued efforts to preserve our precious water source! Below are our wells' static levels, with precipitation history. It can take up to a year and a half to three years to recharge our aquifer water levels after an abundant winter!

Drought Resistant Plants for Container Gardening

Consider planting drought tolerant perennials, annuals and shrubs in containers. Water conservation for container gardens can be achieved through plant choice, efficient irrigation, and pot choice. These kinds of plants can tolerate completely drying out between watering. Here's a small list of some drought tolerant plants that survive in our climate:

- Buddleia (Butterfly Bush)
- Candy Tuft (Iberis)
- Ceanothus (California Mountain Lilac)
- Daylillies
- Lavendar
- Onethera (Mexican Primrose)
- Rosemary
- Russian Sage (Pervskia)
- Vinca minor
