Re: Job Application.

Dear, Sue

Entering into this new and exciting world of Horticulture as a mature adult has been interesting for me . As a former concrete worker and business owner I am enthused to be part of the green world as a change of pace. Designing gardens has long been an interest of mine. My mother is where I believe this desire comes from. She has been building her own gardens since I was very young and I was privileged to get to absorb her years of knowledge. It has inspired me to take on Horticulture as an adult in my midlife who was in need of a career change.

Along with my own hobby of growing different vegetables and herbs the professionals at olds college have done a tremendous job preparing me for a career in Horticulture. They have allowed me to learn many hard and soft skills in many different Horticulture based industries over the last few years. My old career as a residential concrete contractor has given me years of experience working in a fast paced, hard working, environment that relies heavily on the concepts of design and green space integration. My old career also taught me how to deal appropriately and responsibly with customers and clients.

I found interest in your company when visiting your website after seeing a job posting. I love the idea of creating beautiful green spaces for people in their places of solitude where they do all there relaxing and thinking. I would love to be part of your team and look forward to meeting with you soon, to discuss further opportunities.

Sincerely; Andrew Steel
