A rock collector who is truly in the right place now is Mr. H. P. Jordan, retired from H.E.B., who with Mrs. Jordan recently moved to Grey Forest Drive.

Visiting on Labor Day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Ross, was Mrs. Ruth Flowers. Her husband is with an oil company in Alice.

After a couple of days at Santa Rosa Medical Center for minor surgery, Mrs. Rolland W. Ayres of Marin Hollow Road is home again.

Helotes to Aid Victims of Carla

The Salvation Army this week issued a call for clothing and food and household goods to be distributed to victims of Hurricane Carla.

In cooperation with this drive, Maltzberger's will be a center for those in the Helotes area who wish to make contributions. A box will be available for donors.

Children's clothing will be especially useful, said Mrs. Jack Nottingham, who has volunteered to be in charge of the local drive. In addition, other wearable clothing, linens, canned goods and household items in usable condition will be welcome.

Some victims will return to homes where everything they possess will have been ruined, according to reports coming from the damaged areas.

Items gathered here will be distributed through Salvation Army channels.

PTA Fun Fair Due Sept. 23

Final plans for the Fun Fair to be held on the grounds of the Helotes School on Saturday, September 23, were made at the meeting Friday of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The fair will be held from 5 to 10 p.m. with a ham supper to be served from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Co-chairmen of the carnival, which is the annual fund raising event, are Frank Williams, Tommy Lang, and J. C. Reese.

Pony rides have been arranged by Mr. Lang. There will be a bazaar featuring a horror house, a wishing well, dunking pool, a booth to serve cakes, candies, cookies, and other delicacies. A snack booth will serve hot dogs and other favorites.

Door prizes will include an electric coffee maker, electric drill, and a transistor radio.

Ham supper tickets will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for children.

An interesting feature will be the cake walk.

Phone Company Polls Users on Opinions

Helotes area telephone subscribers received post cards this week from the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company asking for comments on the company's service and policies.

The questionnaire cards were mailed from the office of J. Z. Pickens, manager.

~ ~ Awaiting Carla ~ ~

Waiting for Carla was the principal activity in this area—and much of the South—during the past weekend. The biggest hurricane in history was how Carla was billed. She moved slowly and ponderously. For this reason, radio and television stations were able to give many hours to reporting her coming.

NBC's week-end radio show Monitor was about half-Carla on Sunday, with the local NBC outlet, WOAI, breaking into the network program with reports from its own staff members who had bravely gone into the very areas where Carla was expected to hit.

Sometimes there was almost laughable contrast between the excited voices of the announcers and the matter-of-fact voices of various police sergeants, deputy sheriffs, and Civil Defense workers manning emergency posts in evacuated Texas coast towns. But there really is nothing laughable about such an awesome storm.

The tenseness in Helotes reached a peak Monday night when the north winds reached their highest gusts and rain continued to spit and blow. Lights were out in scattered parts of the area, and some telephones were dead. Nobody knew what the night would bring.

When we awoke on Tuesday, it had brought a calming of the wind and only slow, needed rain. Carla had gone away from San Antonio. We were lucky, we said.

Helotes Shelters Carla Refugees

A number of refugees from Hurricane Carla headed for their second homes in Helotes or came to stay with relatives or friends in this area during the past weekend.

They included:

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rowland and daughter Susan, of Corpus Christi, who stayed with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Davis in the Ranch Acres. Mr. Rowland is Mrs. Davis' brother.

T. M. and A. D. Spillers and Ira Nicholson, who took refuge with the L. E. Spillers on Braun Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Galm, Scenic Loop Road, who came up from their Coast home at Rockport, and were joined here by Mrs. Galm's sister, Mrs. Baby Fisk and Mrs. Mabel Gartner, from Houston.

Miss Sherry Parrott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Parrott, Scenic Loop Drive, an airline hostess for Braniff Airways whose Dallas to Corpus Christi flight was grounded here.

AT THE LION'S CLUB benefit dance, Friday, Sept. 8, workers included Joe Wallace, Sr., left, general chairman; William Ashcraft, dance ticket committee chairman, and Fred Jersig, club president. Buying a ticket is Dewey Hart, prominent Helotes realtor. The dance, held at Floore's Country Store, drew a crowd of more than 500. Proceeds will pay for club house and grounds.

CLARENCE GALM, left, visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wolfe at their table. Mr. Wolfe is president of the Scenic Loop Club. Adolph Hofner and the Pearl Wranglers played for the dance. The car was won by Bill Steen of San Antonio.

The Frontier

How would you like to have lived in the Hill Country a century or so ago? Some native Helotes citizens have grandparents and great-grandparents who did.

Our frontier in 1855 was roughly bounded by the Counties of Grayson, Denton, Parker, Palo Pinto, Eastland, Brown, Lampasas, Burnet, Kendall (then Comal), Bexar, and southeasterly to San Patricio. Two thirds of the state was held by the Comanche Indians and another tribe allied to them, the Kiowa. All other Indians except the Kiowas were enemies of the Comanches.

In that year, there were only 500 Comanches on reservations. All others roamed the western part of Texas. They often hunted and fished here and sometimes they went on raids.

Arrowheads can still be picked up along the Helotes Creek, small grim reminders of the past.

There never was a good war or a bad peace. Franklin.

The best way to make a mountain out of a molehill is to add a little dirt.

Most boys have a head like a door knob—any girl can turn it.

An educated man is one who has finally discovered that there are some questions to which nobody has the answers.

Adam Morales is the contractor and Joe Valdez is doing the rock work. The guest house combines native rock with cedar. The roof is of cedar shakes. Outside blinds in a muted peach-tone have been added to the main house, once owned by the Rosas family.

Echoes From the Past

Lillian Stein, Scenic Loop, announces the marriage of her daughter June Arnold Stein to Roger Eugene Ivey, son of Mrs. D. L. Crittendon, Alamo Heights, which will be held at the Jefferson Methodist Church, Donaldson Ave., San Antonio, on the 19th of August at 8:00 p.m. The Rev. James Morgan will officiate. June is a graduate of Northside High School and Roger is a graduate of Alamo Heights High School and former student at San Antonio Jr. College. Mr. and Mrs. Ivey will make their home in Leon Valley on Evers Road after a honeymoon in the Hill Country. Reception for guests will be in the church's community hall following the ceremony.—THE TALE-TWISTER, August, 1955.

Mrs. Mary Howell has kindly turned over the facilities of Grey Moss Inn on Monday evenings to the Square Dance Club. The Sam Collins family have contributed their services as instructor for the past several months. They report that a new class is started each five weeks, the next being Monday, June 12th. The teen-age and junior squares have been dancing at the San Pedro Courts in San Antonio for the last three weeks and are becoming quite proficient. Mr. Collins stated that an exhibition square dance from San Antonio has been invited out for next Monday night. All residents of this area are invited to attend either as spectators or participants.—THE HELOTES HIGHLANDER, June 9, 1950.

Twenty fast years and more have gone since two men drove out from San Antonio to take another look at the reported scenic beauty of the hills around Helotes. They were looking not for amusement, but with business in their eyes, with a vision, a recognition of the possibilities

Fire Department to Map Water Sources in Area

To improve fire fighting in this area, officials of the Helotes Volunteer Fire Department last week named two committees. One will check available water supplies and the other will aid in quick location of any possible outbreaks of fire.

The first committee, which includes Reynolds Alguiseva, Robert Skell, and Royce Cottrell, will pinpoint and map all sources of water in the Helotes area of 1500 or more gallons. They will record all major stock tanks, wells, lakes, or other water supplies. They plan to contact the owners and gain permission for the fire trucks to use this water supply in case of catastrophe.

They will see that there are pipes with suitable connections at spots accessible by truck for quick filling tanks, wherever this is agreeable with the owners.

To cut down on loss of time in locating a fire in the large territory, the other committee will chart the entire area. This extends from Helotes to the county line west and north and past the Babcock Road area. They will provide a quick system of identification of all ranches, farms, homes and businesses.

Each will be given a key number. Firefighters can then rely on good signs located close to highways. Persons reporting alarms can give a key number which will also be printed on the fire department's maps. Serving on this committee are Russell Yarbrough, Charlie C. Davis, and Robert Harris.

Volunteers Put Out Sherwood Grass Fire

With Max Toepperwein as engineer, the Helotes Volunteer Fire Department last Friday answered a call to put out a grass fire of unknown origin which blazed on Whippoorwill Way in Sherwood addition.

Some cedar posts of a nearby fence were damaged slightly, but quick action prevented a serious brush fire in this new subdivision located near Bandera and Scenic Loop Road.

Others who fought the fire included Joe Wallace, Sr., Ed Faust, Henry Wynn, and Dade Rayfield.

Defendant: "Well, the car was parked in front of the cemetery, so naturally I thought the owner was dead."

Because when you give to Radio Free Europe, you keep truth on the air behind the Iron Curtain.

And the truth hurts the Reds. It loosens their strangle hold over the oppressed countries of East Europe. Breaks through their monopoly of lies. Keeps them unsure. Off balance.

Why are your dollars needed? Because Radio Free Europe is a private organization, supported by the American people. Your dollars help keep its 29 truth transmitters in operation, pay for supplies, equipment, announcers, news analysts.

Rams to Face Miller Tonight

After a rough season opener last week, the John Marshall High School Rams will play host tonight at 8 p.m. on home grounds to the junior varsity of defending state champion Corpus Christi Miller Bucs. Playing in the John Marshall Stadium, the Rams will have the backing of the homefolks to add spark to their determination to take advantage of all the breaks.

Last Friday they journeyed to South San Antonio to take on the Bobcats of District 14-AAA. The Bobcats erupting in the second and third quarters emerged the winners by 38-6.

The first quarter, which was scoreless, gave high hopes to the John Marshall fans watching the improved team in its first test under Coach Bob Maddox. But the South San Bobcats didn't wait around in the second quarter. They registered 14 points in this stanza alone versus the 6 points gained by the Rams.

Tom Verstuyt ran for the first TD for the Bobcats and Mario Lopez passed to Richard Dominguez for the extra two points.

A 20-yard scoring pass from John Marshall's Frank Speechenberg to Doug Bressler in this quarter left the score a quite respectable 8-6 briefly.

Then the passing of Lopez, to Dugger, and Alfred Carrillo's running sparked a 24 point third quarter for South San Antonio which iced the game, and chilled the Rams fans.

A 50-yard pass and run play from Lopez to Dugger yielded a third quarter touchdown. Boyd Geiselman ran for the point.

Carrillo scored the fourth touchdown run on a 20-yard double reverse, and after Geiselman's extra-point run it was 30-6.

The Lopez-Dominguez combination accounted for the final touchdown, Carrillo carrying for the points.

The final quarter was calmer, but the Rams couldn't find the comeback trail in time.

Statistics of last week's game are:

	South San	John Marshall
Passes completed	4	1
First downs	9	6
Passing yardage	103	18
Rushing yardage	148	118

The game tonight will be the second pre-conference tilt for Coach Maddox's boys who are playing their second year in AAA competition. They belong to 13-AAA and will meet Beeville on home grounds next week before tackling Robert E. Lee, a conference foe, on October 6.

Coach Maddox comes to John Marshall from New Braunfels where he gained a reputation for producing scrappy elevens. He compiled a fine won-loss record.

The John Marshall Stadium is on the high school campus on Eckert Road, one-half mile from Bandera Road.

Echoes—

behind the quiet, halmy charm of these uplands. The men were convinced. The firm of Requa and Hildebrandt was formed; half a thousand acres of rough country was bought; and then began an era that was to transform the hills forever from their age-long beauty sleep. A hundred years ago the deer and turkey, unmolested, saw only an occasional Comanche youth glide by under the liveoaks. Fifty years ago they heard the creek and groan of heavy wagons on the rocky road to Bandera. Twenty years ago the new day begun: roads were good; only the old settlers used wagons, and automobiles were everywhere.

But Helotes was still sleeping in the sun. Harness and horse collars still hung in the store, and sightseers stopped only to ask the way to somewhere else.

By 1940, however, the big change had come. People drove to Helotes and the Scenic Loop for a good time. The attraction of the hills had been advertised by radio and newspaper. Dude ranches were taking the public seriously. The public, hungry for the peace and tranquility of the country, was coming back for more. Many came to stay. Now homes sprang up. Bandera became a national "western" byword as tourists came and went. And every Bandera visitor, for all these years, has passed through Helotes, going and coming.

Helotes between 1940 and 1950 has got itself the milk-teeth of a growing community—a fine rock church, a fine rock school, two modernized food stores, a wood working shop, a modern garage, a package house, a builders supply store, good roads, a bridge, and two expanding subdivisions west and north. The Helotes Inn has got its face newly rouged; a bigger and better post office is on the drawing board; and you can buy locally the last word in television and automatic water softening—a far cry from saddle soap and buckshop for tomorrow's meal. A city is being born.

Trade goes where it's invited, they say. Each weekend sees mountains of greenbacks race through Helotes in search of amusement farther west where advertising has invited it. One of the aims of this paper is to see one day the spirit of promotion take hold in the town and make Helotes once or twice a year the end-goal of those racing white-sidewalls, with a "western" carnival and rodeo to amuse the folks when they get here. If it's "western" fun they want, let 'em see it. If it's a "western" town they crave and want to live in, give 'em room and let 'em come!

The growth of Helotes is, in the present decade, beginning in earnest. Can it be made a planned growth, guided in the right direction? THE HELOTES HIGHLANDER—June 9, 1950.

Want to welcome a new news medium to the fold. It's the Tale-twister, edited and published monthly by the Helotes Lions Club and mailed free to "every known householder in Northwest Bexar county between Highway 90 west, the San Antonio city limits and Fredericksburg rd. # By Truck, Plane, Boat DeBords Tour Alaska

A black bearskin rug being processed in Alaska is just one of several mementos of a fabulous six-week safari to Alaska made recently by Mr. and Mrs. George DeBord, Bandera Road, and their daughters, Cynthia 14, and Lynette, 10.

They left here one summer day in a new Travel Queen pickup truck. Three weeks went into driving, camping and sightseeing en route to the Forty-ninth state and back. It took fifteen days alone to get to Anchorage.

They saw the ghost towns of gold mining days, including Old Dawson City. This required crossing the Yukon by ferry.

It was necessary to fly to Cordova, where they visited friends, as this coastal town cannot be reached by road. There to meet them as they came off a DC-6 were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sanders, who formerly lived here at the ranch.

They flew over Mt. McKinley and other high mountain peaks of Alaska on one sightseeing tour.

Mr. DeBord, accompanied by his friend, made a side trip on an 185-Cessna chartered plane. They went on a rugged three-mile hunting trip afoot. That is when Mr. DeBord got the black bear.

The entire family fished at Tee Bay Lakes. They stayed in log cabins built by the government on Eyal Lake. This is a favorite spot of skaters, but it was raining when they were there. So they settled for a picnic indoors beside a massive round fireplace.

They also toured the Hawkins Islands by cabin cruiser. Mrs. DeBord's big moment came when she caught a halibut fish weighing between 65 and 75 pounds. A few days later Mr. DeBord topped this by getting one weighing in at 100 pounds.

They returned to Helotes in time for Cynthia to enter junior high and Lynette to enter fifth grade. To keep happy memories alive they have excellent pictures of their safari.
