Among the social events of this weekend will be the wedding, Saturday, August 9, of Miss Susette Marie McDonald and Kenneth Wayne Gomez to take place at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. The bride-elect has been honored with many showers and luncheons.

Mrs. Bebe Leigh celebrated her birthday at a surprise party at the Family Affairs Steak House August 6.

Paul Doerr is in intensive care at Audie Murphy Veteran's Hospital following a heart attack, and we hope that he will soon recover.

Mike O'Hara, also at the Veteran's Hospital following surgery, is improving daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Webb were recently injured in an automobile accident at the bridge on Highway 16 when their car struck the railing. Both received injuries requiring hospitalization, but are improving. They make their home in Helotes Ranch Acres. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Transit Buses To Go To UTSA Campus

This storybook setting—The Logan Ranch—was the scene of the reception held after the wedding of Miss Mary Jane Logan, former Miss Helotes, to R. R. Blanco. See Story Page 3.

A special free bus service from San Antonio to the UTSA campus will be available on Aug. 25 for the last of the university's six New Student Conferences.

The conferences will allow the university's first undergraduates and new graduate students to register early.

Aug. 25 is the last day for the series of six such conferences which began on July 29. Free bus service is being provided for students who were unable to attend the previous conferences because they did not have transportation.

The buses will leave downtown San Antonio five times during the day to coincide with the New Student Conference schedule.

Bus service will originate downtown at Navarro and Commerce going north on Navarro to Martin, west on Martin to San Saba, IH 10 to Wonderland Park and Ride and north on IH 10 to the campus. The return trip from UTSA will cover the same route.

The buses will stop at all regular downtown bus stops on the route and at Wonderland Park and Ride.

City buses to the campus will begin running the first day of classes—Sept. 2. The fare will be 60 cents each way. When requested, a special transfer will be issued when boarding to allow transfers at no additional cost.

Students must have a conference reservation card to participate in the Aug. 25 New Student Conference. To register for the New Student Conferences or receive more information about the free bus service, contact the UTSA Dean of Students Office. Persons may also call the San Antonio Transit System at 227-5371 for information about the bus service.

Festival Assn. To Have Election Party August 21

Election night for the Helotes Festival will be fun for all, as a supper will be served to get the 1976 Cornyval off to a start.

The Helotes Spring Festival Association will have a hamburger supper-meeting at Floore Country Store, Thursday, August 21, to which all past members, officers, and prospective members including those new in the community are invited. Memberships at two dollars per person will be available and will entitle persons to vote for the new officers, Joey Tomlinson, president this year said. Supper will be served from 6:30 to 7:30, and will be free.

The nominating committee has presented a slate of officers which will be finalized when all names have been checked for willingness to accept duties and responsibilities.

At an earlier meeting the organization voted to return the date to the first weekend in May for the Cornyval. For the past two years it fell on the second weekend which involves Mother's Day, keeping some members from actual participation when called out-of-town because of the holiday. It had been tried in an effort to obtain sunshine, but the first weekends had no more rains and seem a safe choice.

The Bi-Centennial theme was also voted and the group hopes to include the Cornyval '76 on the official celebration listing.

The recent Pre-Festival Dance and Auction netted $300, it was announced, to add to parade events, especially.

Texas State Grange Votes Policy

The Texas State Grange concluded its 41st annual session on Saturday, August 2, in Blanco, Texas.

Thirty resolutions were debated by the delegate body, forming the following State Grange policy according to James H. Kiles, San Antonio, State Master.

WE FAVOR:
State land use legislation and support policies and programs which will result in the best possible land use for the future.

Lower taxes for agricultural land and support legislation whereby land used solely for the production of livestock and/or agricultural crops be placed into the category of agricultural land and be taxed according to the production of food and fiber.

The continuation of the USDA, State and local cooperative programs of Mirex treatment of Imported Fire Ant eradication program.

The continuation of the Soil and Water conservation "Cost-Sharing Act."

Transferring of welfare programs such as food-stamp and school lunch programs from the Dept. of Agriculture to the Dept. of HEW.

The expansion of a sound agricultural foreign sales program by the Dept. of Agriculture.

Legislation to promote stricter law enforcement and more prompt court actions as solution to crime control problems rather than have gun control laws.

Relaxing certain governmental controls on natural gas, nuclear plants, oil shale, and off-shore

July Rains Above Average

Rainfall for July was 3.9 inches here, according to records kept by Henry Brauchle at Poor Boy Ranch, one-tenth inch short of the June total of four inches. However, a few places in the area had a higher amount due to the thunder shower pattern that remained here most of the month, causing also some breakage of trees.

The average for the first seven months of the year in this area has been passed, as the total so far is 22.1 inches for 1975 at the beginning of August.

Hay was being baled near and in Helotes with record crops this past two weeks, and grass is in plentiful supply for cattle and horses. The hundred mark in temperature had not been reached by August here.

(see page 8)

NISD Sells $8 Million Bonds

In special session, the Board of Trustees, Northside Independent School District sold $8 million school construction bonds to the best bidder Republic National Bank of Dallas and Associates, last month.

Effective rate of interest on the sale is 5.90316 as compared to 6.4 percent paid last year for $10 million. Better rates this year can be partially attributed to better bond ratings awarded this year to NISD by Standard and Poor Corp., investment advisors. Standard and Poor awarded a rating of "A+" to Northside, up from last year's "A Good Grade."

The $8 million issue is the third in a 4-year, $31 million issue approved by Northside ISD voters in 1973.

The money will be used to construct six vocational shops at secondary schools, a District Baseball Field, and to renovate and enlarge existing Northside schools.

Troop 401 Scouts Dr. Jordan Attend Camp To Address

Boy Scouts from Troop 401 of Helotes attended camp during July where they practiced advanced scouting under natural conditions—taking part in hiking, climbing, riding, and boating as well as competition.

In early July, five boys attended the Philmont Camp outside Cimarron, New Mexico. There were Dean Barker, Troy Hartmann, James Reed, David Beckmann, and Jeff Widner.

During July 20-25, there were 12 boys from the local troop at Camp Friedrick, on the Bear Creek Scout Reservation participating in various scout activities. Boys attending were Dean Barker, Don Barker, Paul Allen, David Beckmann, Eric Beckmann, James Reed, Theron Bambeck, Joseph Bainbeck, Jeff Widner, Billy Mussey, Matthew Nelson, and Todd Hartmann.

Also attending camp were Scoutmaster Bill Barker, and Committeemen Charlie Beckmann, James Reed and Bob Allen.

UTSA Graduates

Dr. Bryce Jordan, President, The University of Texas at Dallas, will deliver the address at UT San Antonio's second commencement Sunday, August 17. Ceremonies will begin at 3 p.m. in the auditorium of the UT Health Science Center at San Antonio. UTSA President, Dr. Peter T. Flawn, will officiate.

Approximately 200 graduate students from the University's five colleges will be awarded master of arts, master of science and master of business administration degrees.

Dr. Jordan, president of UT Dallas since 1971, is the first permanent president appointed to head that University.

Like UTSA, UT Dallas is a new institution. Both universities were established by the Texas Legislature in 1969, and have faced many of the same problems in developing a new, first-class institution of higher education.

Dr. Jordan began his academic career as an assistant professor of music. He taught in the music department at the University of Maryland and was chairman of music departments at the University of Kentucky and The University of Texas at Austin. He became vice president for student affairs at UT Austin and later became president ad interim at UTSA.

He is listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the South and Southwest, and in Baker's Biographical Dictionary.

Dr. Jordan is also president of the Association of Upper Level Colleges and Universities.

SAN ANTONIO—Spl. — The 162 Hermann Sons lodges across Texas, including the lodge in Helotes, are participating August 1-October 31 in a membership drive that will salute the nation's Bi-Centennial.

Calling upon all 73,000 Sons of Hermann members in the state to think about important actions 200 years ago leading to national independence, Henry Riemer, San Antonio, grand president of the fraternal order, said:

"It is fitting that we focus our attention on the things that have contributed, and which continue to contribute, to the building of our great nation; and the lodge system is certainly a contributor to what is good about America."

Riemer announced Louis B. Engelke, also of San Antonio, first grand vice president of the statewide organization, as campaign chairman.

Miss Mary Jane Logan Is Bride Of R. R. Blanco

The marriage of Miss Mary Jane Logan of Helotes to Ricardo R. Blanco of Leon, Spain, and now of San Antonio, was solemnized in a traditional ceremony at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church here on Saturday evening, July 19, 1975. Officiating at the celebrated Nuptial Mass were Msgr. William C. Martin, Rev. Teleforo R. Blanco, and Rev. Tom McSwiggin. Altar boys were Marc Logan, brother of the bride, and Edward Sopas, her cousin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Logan, this city, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Piedad R. Blanco of Leon, Spain.

In keeping with Spanish and early Texas tradition, the bride was preceded down the aisle by padrinos as well as her other bridal attendants.

These included Mrs. Mary Madla Logan, grandmother of the bride, accompanied by James Logan, son of Mrs. Logan and uncle of the bride; who were padrinos de arras—coins, blessed symbolic of the old dowry tradition.

Also padrinos from Laredo were Laro J. Padronos, Mr. and Mrs. Roberto M. Sanchez, aunt and uncle of the bride. Padrinos de Cojinos were Mr. and Mrs. Marc Buchanan. Padrinos of the Book and Rosary were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gutierrez, Laredo, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Padrinos de copas were Mr. and Mrs. Javier Gutierrez; Mrs. Mina Gutierrez, madrina de buqueta; and Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Valdez, padrinos of the wedding cake.

The bride wore a traditional gown with a bodice of lace and her bridesmaids were gowned similarly with picture hats.

The bridal music included organ music with Magda Madla, cousin of the bride playing, and mariachi church orchestra and choir from St. James Church in San Antonio. The solo was sung by Mrs. Julie Darnell Moore.

The maid of honor was the cousin of the bride, Miss Rosa Maria Madla, from Sabinas, Coahuila; and the matron of honor was Mrs. Carmen R. Blanco, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, from Madrid, Spain.

Bridesmaids were Misses Debbie Duecker and Ann Hernandez. Junior bridesmaid was Cindy Dry.

The best man was brother of the bridegroom, Roman R. Blanco from Spain.

Groomsmen were James Logan, cousin of the bride; Andrew Melgaard; and Frank Logan, Jr., brother of the bride.

The flower girl was the cousin of the bride, Vanessa Gutierrez. Ringbearer was Bernabe Sanchez. Rice girls were Sara Alicia Sanchez and Kathy Ibarra, and also Michelle, Laura, Linda and Anna Madla, all cousins of the bride.

A nuptial blessing was given to the bride and groom by Msgr. Martin. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Blanco, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride also wore an heirloom gold coin necklace now the possession of her Grandmother Logan which was originally her great-grandmother's, and is over 60 years old—as a symbol of tradition.

Following the services a reception and supper-dance took place at the Logan Ranch on the sunken patio. Guests from many parts of South Texas as well as out-of-state were entertained.

The bride and groom then left for a wedding trip and honeymoon in Majorca, Spain, and France.

They are at home in San Antonio where the bridegroom is on the

Mrs. Louise Cheves Dies In Houston

Funeral services were held Wednesday, July 30, 1975, for Mrs. Gordon B. Cheves of Comfort and Grey Forest, in Runge, Texas, her birthplace.

Mrs. Cheves, who had been in failing health, was visiting her son and his family in Houston, Texas when she died on Monday, July 28, at the age of 78.

She was born Margaret Louise Talk in Runge, daughter of John Gordon Talk, Sr. and his wife, Eva Mayfield Talk on November 21, 1896. Her grandfather A. A. Talk had ranched some 100,000 acres of South Texas which he had divided equitably among his 10 children. She grew up in a ranch setting surrounded by her many cousins and other relatives and learned frontier hospitality which came naturally to her all her life.

Her father was also a banker in Yorktown and served some time in the Texas Land Office in Austin so that she had the benefit of town life as well.

She was the eldest of a family of five children which included four of her brothers, one of whom survives her, John Gordon Talk, Jr., now of Valley Mills, Texas.

She was married to Charles O. Brown, Sr. and had three sons, Charles O. Brown, Jr., associated with Trinity University, who is publisher of the Helotes Echo, and resides in Grey Forest; Benson Talk Brown, who is an engineer in Houston, Texas; and Lans Oliver Brown, who is in research at The University of Arkansas, in Fayetteville.

On May 15, 1938, she was married to Gordon Bedford Cheves, who was associated with Colgate Company throughout most of their married life. They lived many years in Austin where their home was a mecca for all their large number of family and friends, especially on most holidays and during the football season of The University of Texas.

Young members as well as the older members of their family found Mrs. Cheves a genuine friend and effortless hostess so that they were pleased to bring their friends into the fold.

Mrs. Cheves always preferred homemaking to other pursuits, but she found time in her busy life to work in journalism, having been employed in the advertising department of the San Antonio Light, and often helped on the Echo; to work in the political arena, having been on the Capitol staff of Senate workers in Austin during many sessions of the Legislature; and working as a nurse, where she was well-known at several Austin hospitals.

She was of early American lineage and was a member of the Austin chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Her aunt is the oldest living survivor of a defender of the Alamo. She was related to many of the founders of the State of Texas and a cousin of Cynthia Ann Parker.

The funeral services were held in Runge at Rhodes Funeral Chapel with Rev. Fred Brown, the pastor of the First Methodist Church of Runge—of which her family were founders—officiating. The funeral oration was delivered by her youngest nephew, a Methodist minister, Rev. John Gordon Talk III. All of her children and grandchildren were present with the exception of one grandson, Dr. Randy Brown, who is interning at an Austin hospital following his graduation which she attended in May from The University of Texas Medical School in Galveston. Her other five grandchildren are Mrs. Lana Brown Jones, San Antonio; Benson Gordon Brown, and James Michael Brown, Houston; and Charles Allen Brown, and Miss Lisa Brown, of Fayetteville, Arkansas. She also has two great-grandsons, Wade and Brad Jones.

Pallbearers included her three grandsons present and her nephew, Gordon Talk, and her great-nephews, Edmund Calvin

Talk and John Koopman.

Burial was in the Runge Cemetery in the Talk family plot.

Following the services the ladies of the Methodist Church in Runge held a memorial reception and the family then gathered in Yorktown at the home of her niece, Mrs. Bobby Talk Koopman.

In addition to those many cousins of her generation she is survived by numerous aunts, uncles, and great-nieces and nephews, being related to a great many, South Texans.

She was always a cheerful person, and as her nephew said in paying tribute to her memory, it was her role to draw her family together at all times. She will be missed.

Sympathy is hard to express at a time when one is closely involved, but it goes especially to her husband, Gordon Cheves, who was the other part of the happy memories her family carry of her life.

This beautiful spring-fed pool will be dragged into a court hearing on Monday, August 11, at 9 a.m. after a dispute developed this summer between a swimming guest-member and the current pool supervisor, wife of the President of the Scenic Loop Playground Club.

The pool, known since Indian times when it was called Arcasis, has about 11 springs, including two larger ones. The Teepee Spring was constant flowing until the time of the drought in the 1950's.

A hearing involving a guest-swimmer's rights versus the authority of the swimming pool attendant will go into the property rights as decided to present landowners in the Playground, now the City of Grey Forest.

Raymond Johnson of Marshall High School has received word that his name will be included in the Who's Who of high school students of America. He has been active in extracurricular events as well as making National Honor Society.

In Memoriam To

Ray Clinton Dunford who died one year ago on August 2, 1974, at the age of 17 years:
You wished no one a last farewell,

Or even said "good-bye."
You were gone before we knew.

And only God knows why.
God broke our hearts to prove to us,

He only takes the best.
To some you are forgotten;
To others a part of the past,

But to us who loved and lost you,
Your memory will forever last.

A million times we've missed you.

A million times we've cried.

If love alone could have saved you;

You never would have died.

Deep in our hearts, you will always stay, loved and remembered every day.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Some home gardeners are facing a critical shortage this year of an item many have always taken for granted—home canning lids. The problem has reached crisis proportions in parts of the country, where home gardeners have planted crops in hopes of saving on grocery bills. As harvest begins, these home gardeners are discovering that the canning lid shortage means there is no way of preserving their ripe fruits and vegetables for fall and winter use.

Texas gardeners are having their share of such problems, as evidenced by the complaints received in our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division about the lack of lids.

Both our Consumer Protection and our Antitrust Divisions are currently looking into the canning lid shortage in Texas. On the national level, the House of Representatives subcommittee on small business has been holding hearings on the problem. The Federal Trade Commission and the Justice Department are also conducting investigations into the shortage and its causes.

Part of the problem is the tremendous increase in the number of home gardeners. The federal Office of Consumer Affairs estimates that 12 million new gardeners have joined the market for home canning equipment in the last two years.

Another part of the problem is that, in addition to the greatly increased number of gardeners who need lids, some home canners have been buying far more lids than they will need. Because of this hoarding for future use, the shortage has been aggravated.

Due to these real and exaggerated demands, some manufacturers have been unable to supply enough lids, although industry figures indicate that 1.6 billion lids have been produced. According to these figures, that ordinarily would be enough to supply 70 lids to each family engaged in home canning.

Without canning lids, home gardeners who hoped to save money by raising some of their own food may find that their efforts have been wasted. They could end up having to give away part of their harvest or watch it go bad.

Texas Department of Agriculture spokesmen say that many Texas home canners stop searching for lids after finding that their customary source has none in stock. They urge home canners to shop around for canning equipment, since some supplies are available in such non-traditional locations as department or discount stores and specialty shops.

Try the following additional recommendations, also, to avoid problems at harvest time: Buy only as many canning lids as you will need—don't hoard. If you cannot get as many as necessary, and you have a freezer, use it to preserve your fruits and vegetables. Remember, too, that some crops, especially fruits, can be dried with excellent results. And try checking with friends and neighbors to see if they might be willing to purchase your extra produce.

For health and safety reasons, always follow the correct procedures for canning, freezing, or drying of foods. If you are a novice gardener, your county's home economics extension agent can supply information on these methods. And if you have a consumer complaint about lack of canning equipment, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division.

What To Do With All That Rot!

Can Texas ever have too much rain? Some might not think so—but this year most of us have had too much of a good thing.

Many gardens are still flourishing because soil conditions have been built and maintained properly—or the owner just happens to have the perfect location for good drainage. In our heavy clay soil, good drainage is usually created by hard work.

If you want to avoid plant rot in wet seasons, work in plenty of compost. This keeps the soil from packing and holding excessive moisture. Addition of cedar chips especially help our type of soil and so do sand and peat moss.

What I suggest you do right now is roto-till the three above-mentioned items into your garden soil. If your garden has survived, leave it alone to go on producing. Work around it. Now add some farmyard fertilizers with your own homemade compost and a covering of hay.

Till this into the soil. If you don't intend to garden until next Spring, let it work by itself. The hay layer will keep weeds from coming through.

Over the hay, you can place a black plastic paper or even newspapers weighted down with rocks to keep the weeds from coming through and to create heat to breakdown components placed in the soil.

When autumn leaves start falling, uncover your garden spot and spread the leaves as thickly as you wish. Recover it and allow it to sleep through the Winter. In Spring, till the garden thoroughly—adding fresh compost or natural fertilizers.

You will find the soil rich and healthy when you uncover it. It will be fine with aerated pockets and will spring back instead of packing down when you walk on it.

These methods not only help avoid rotting caused by too much moisture, but will amazingly help in a dry spell, too. In other words, your garden will drain or hold moisture as needed, and be far more fertile, too.

What are you waiting for?

Gas Price Rise Predicted

By Bob Krueger

Last week the House narrowly turned down the opportunity for a major improvement in moving this nation toward energy independence, and, instead, took a backward step toward increasing reliance on the Arab countries.

A number of us, both Democrats and Republicans, have been working for some months to fashion an energy policy which would allow the phased decontrol of government-regulated oil prices. Over a period of several years, the government would move away from regulating the price of domestic oil, much of which is now sold at prices less than half of those which we pay for imported oil, and these prices are frequently too low to encourage new exploration and development in this country. Consequently, we now rely on imports for 40 percent of our oil, and this means that we will be increasingly subject to Arab blackmail and to the economic disaster that could be caused by another oil embargo.

In order to counter this threat, many of us, Democrats and Republicans alike, are working toward a compromise package that would protect the consumer against sharp price increases, but would give adequate rewards to producers of domestic oil so that we would not be subject to such economic blackmail by foreign countries. In this process, I offered one of the two major energy proposals considered by the House, and when both mine and the opposing versions narrowly lost, I was asked to offer President Ford's oil pricing compromise. On six occasions in the past ten days, I met with Frank Zarb, head of the Federal Energy Administration, and several Congressional leaders to work out this compromise. Although I did not like it as much as my own initial proposal, I was more concerned with getting an improved energy policy for the country than I was with seeing my own ideas enacted. Unfortunately, this proposal was also very narrowly defeated. Had six of the Making use of the great coal supply existing in the U. S. by modifying pollution control measures on the use thereof.

Re-examination of our existing congressional action on the oil depletion allowance which has brought oil exploration by major oil companies to a standstill.

We Favor:

Congressional action to establish timely and reasonable statutes on "pollution regulating agencies" to bring about a set of standards that will allow oil refineries and other energy producing facilities to expand without the financial hardship caused by constantly changing "anti-pollution regulations."

Legislation which would increase the inheritance exemption on estate taxes.

Legislation setting up medical review panels, for malpractice lawsuits to determine whether doctors acted within proper standards and the establishment of maximum limit on claims.

Extension of time presently allowed industry to meet environmental and safety rules; in order that smaller companies can complete in bidding on highways, power plants, or water impoundment structures.

Continuing our previous position of the inclusion of a right to work provision in the State Constitution. WE OPPOSE:

Federal land use legislation. Bi-lingual education.

435 House members changed their votes, we would have won, and the President had indicated that he was prepared to agree to the compromise—but we lost.

Now it is my best guess that there will be a sudden decontrol of all domestic oil prices on September 1 and that is likely to mean an increase in the price of gasoline from 7c to 10c per gallon. If this happens, then some of those members anxious to punish people connected with the oil industry are likely to come back with punitive legislation and with threats of nationalizing the oil companies, though I do not believe such proposals would ever pass.

I think there are several reasons for this failure to reach a compromise: (1) the irrational desire among some to punish the oil companies; (2) a failure among some members to examine the real issues, but instead a willingness to vote for short-term price roll-backs as if that was a real help to the consumer; (3) the tendency among some to play confrontation politics, pitting the Congress against the President, rather than addressing the needs of the nation; and, (4) strong lobbying activity by special interest groups. Unfortunately, the need for a strong economy, with reliable domestic energy reserves to free us from dependence on foreign sources, is a viewpoint that does not have any special interest lobbyists or special interest spokesmen. Sometimes the special interests win out over the public interest and this happened in last week's vote. The margin was narrow and I am convinced the President will veto the bill and, in the long run, I believe that the public interest will be served. I will continue to work toward that end.

Methodists Plan Lay Mission

The Helotes Hills United Methodist congregation will hold a lay witness mission September 12 through 14. This will be a weekend experience for the local church designed so that laymen can speak to laymen about the reality of Christ in their lives.

A coordinator—as well as witnesses, some from as far as 1,000 miles away—have been invited to participate. Among these are busy laymen from various walks of life who will be coming at their own expense to share their knowledge of God, a spokesman said.

The mission which opens with supper at the church on Friday and is concluded with Sunday worship service will include group sessions, coffees, lunches, discussions and fellowship.

The witnesses will be invited to stay in local homes as guests. Anyone wishing to have guests should call Mrs. Barbara McCubbin, 695-8131 or Mrs. Stella Whetstone, 433-6263.
