Two of the members of the Freeway Courtesy Patrol of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation are John J. Paniagua, left, and Franklin J. Herber. They are standing by one of the pickup trucks used by the patrol. The trucks are specially equipped to handle all types of emergencies.

Freeway Courtesy Patrol To Be 5 Years Old

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation's Freeway Courtesy Patrol will soon celebrate their fifth anniversary, having helped 60,000 motorists in the San Antonio area and prevented innumerable accidents by expediting the removal of disabled vehicles from the roadway.

Studies indicate that the Freeway Courtesy Patrol has saved motorists a substantial amount of money. More importantly, the Courtesy Patrol has given the freeway traveler someone to turn to when trouble occurs. From flat tires to empty fuel tanks, to a lady about to have a baby, the SDHPT personnel are there to help! They have also made about 18,000 reported stops to remove roadway hazards or debris.

The vehicles used by the patrol are well equipped to handle emergency communications. The Distinctively marked yellow pick-ups have radios that can operate on frequencies and bands used by the San Antonio Police Department, CB'ers and the SDHPT. Telephone connections are also on board.

The pick-ups are equipped with first-aid kits, gasoline, diesel fuel, water and battery booster cables. Large padded bumpers have been installed for assisting stalled cars out of the travel lanes.

The patrol is on duty from 5 p.m. Friday until 8 a.m. Monday, from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. weekdays and 24 hours a day during each state and federal holiday.

Fireworks And The 4th

Fireworks and the Fourth are a patriotic combination. Yet too often the combination misfires and results in the tragic stories that can be found in the Independence Day files of the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness.

"These stories are of youngsters — and their parents — who learned too late not to play with fireworks. They're not toys," says Richard Evans, M.D., an ophthalmologist who is medical advisor of the Society's San Antonio branch.

"Fireworks belong at licensed public displays," said Dr. Evans. "There, their colorful patriotic skybursts can be enjoyed without endangering life or property. But when private individuals start playing with fireworks, trouble and tragedy are inevitable."

As proof Dr. Evans cited a survey Prevent Blindness conducted a year ago among Texas ophthalmologists that indicated that 23 Texans were blinded or lost most of their sight on July 4th because of fireworks. An additional 49 people suffered eye injuries ranging from second degree burns to corneal lacerations. He added that the Consumer Product Safety Commission also reported last year that, nationwide, over 11,000 were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks-caused injuries; 1,600 of these were to the eyes.

"What these figures show is that there is no such thing as a safe firecracker," Dr. Evans emphasized. "Even seemingly harmless sparklers sizzle at 1500 degrees F and give a burn that will quickly take the sparkle out of the eyes of any youngster who has been playing with one.

"But the most dangerous projectiles are bottlerockets. Bottlerockets caused almost all the cases of blindness reported in the Texas survey and over half of the other injuries.

"The majority of injuries were to teenaged males who seem prone to 'horse play' when they get a hazardous projectile such as a bottle rocket in their hands," he said. As examples, he told of two boys who jokingly 'waged war' with lighted bottlerockets and of two others who competed with each other to create the biggest bottlerocket blast. In each instance this "Fourth of July fun" resulted in a boy blinded and cosmetically disfigured.

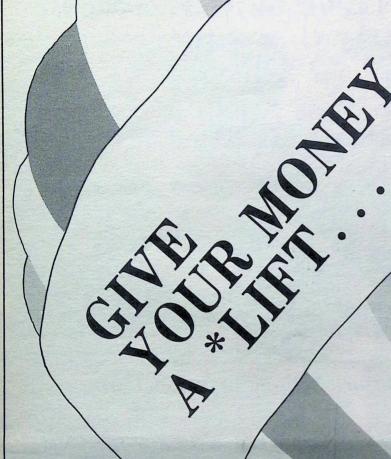

To prevent such tragedies, Dr. Evans said that the Society would like to see fireworks strictly controlled throughout the state and is disappointed that all of the bills introduced recently in Austin to strengthen existing laws have apparently died in legislative committees.

"Preventing fireworks injuries is better than trying to cure them, with all the miracles of modern medicine, it is not always possible to save the sight of a child who bends over a firecracker, only to have it explode in his face. That is why Prevent Blindness urges all parents to insist that family fireworks be limited to public displays, and no exceptions permitted."

The casual atmosphere, relief from cooking and cleaning up and the low cost of most fast food dinners, can help a family find a good deal of togeth-erness they might not have had elsewhere.

Phone Company To Use Laser Lights For Calls

High-speed bursts of laser light through hair-thin glass fibers soon will transmit local telephone calls in North San Antonio, according to Frank Hurst, district manager for Southwestern Bell.

"We're installing the most modern lightwave system in use today — one of the first in Texas to link customer lines to a central office," he said.

Countryside Business Park, 17219 Highway 281, and the burgeoning area between there and the airport are being connected to the Wetmore Central Office by a cable containing 12 optical fibers, Hurst said.

Calls that begin as electrical signals in local lines will be converted into pulses of laser light to traverse the four-mile lightguide cable.

Designed by Bell Laboratories and manufactured and installed by Western Electric, the lightwave system "is the most economical and efficient method of meeting growing telephone demand, Hurst said.

Telephone company forecasters expect the cable to handle growth for the next two decades - not just for population growth, but also for expanding use from home computers talking with other data bases.

Lightwave systems are telephone customers' invitation to the Information Age, according to Hurst. They can transmit voice, data and signals television simultaneously.

"Video games have brought computers into the home, and it won't be long before 'smart terminal' type phones regulate household energy, provide burglar alarm systems and retrieve stock market reports, sports scores, receipes, news headlines and library information," he said.

With a maximum capacity of 10,368 customer lines, the Wetmore system's 12 libers take the place of installing 21,736 copper wires over the next 20 years.

"Only four of the fibers will be activated immediately. Hurst said, "As San Antonio grows northward, we can activate more of the fibers without having to dig more ditches, lay more conduit or pull more cable," Hurst said

THE HANGOVER EXPLAINED

By Terry Vincent, M.D.

The hangover that follows a drinking spree, known in medical circles as an alcohol withdrawal syndrome, is one of the two predictable effects of alcohol. Perhaps surprising, alcohol is not a stimulant, not at all. It's a sedative! One might feel a bit peppy and jolly after a drink or two, but that's like the initial excitement stage of an anesthetic, the onset of the overall sedation picture. Drink enough and you'll "pass out" so great is the sedative effect. In four to six hours the alcohol is burned up by the body and the second impact from drinking begins: the hangover.

Medically called "a period of increased psychomotor activity," the hangover persists for a much longer time than the sedation. The uglies may last for twelve or more hours. If more alcohol is ingested during the hangover ("the hair of the dog that bit you"), the symptoms will be masked by the short-term sedation, only to reappear in a few hours. With continued drinking the sedative effect becomes less pronounced and doesn't last as long, while the hangover becomes severely increased and prolonged until finally there isn't any sedative effect at all and the drinker remains in a hangover state not far from convulsions and delirium tremens

The classic uncomplicated withdrawal syndrome, the hangover, is dose-dependent. That is, the more you drink the worse off you are going to be. The medical description of this common condition is so complicated I'll translate: It's characteriazed by varying degrees of trembling of the hands, irritability, insomnia, "the blues," sweating headache, loss of appetite, bloodshot eyes, rapid pulse, fluttering in the chest, increased blood pressure, heartburn, inability to concentrate, and in-tellectual impairment. And if you're allergic to some of the blends of whiskey or the fermentation process of wine, add watery eyes and a stopped up nose to the pic-

Treatment? The best is preventive. If you must drink at all, keep your intake below your personal withdrawal syndrom level. If you don't, then seek out a quiet place where you can be alone, drink gallons of liquids kind except alcoholic - and keep the aspirin bottle handy! This self-inflicted hangover disability will eventually end

Bierings Entertain Visitors From Wyoming

Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bobby) Douglas from Green River, Wyoming, recently were house guests of Mrs. Emil (Franci's) Biering and were entertained by Mrs. Bicring's four children and their spouses. Bobby is a great-nephew of the late Emil Biering.

The Douglases enjoyed meeting and visiting family members plus taking in sights in and around Helotes and the areas in which Bobby's grandfather, the late Alfred Biering, and his grandmother, Letta (Gottschalk) Biering were born and reared

It was Bobby's second time in the area but a first for his wife Jane.

A Sunday dinner was prepared by Mrs. Robert (Irene) Connor in Mrs. Biering's home, at which time numerous relatives and friends were guests to help welcome the Douglases.

They were hosted at dinner by Mrs. Adelhaid Friesenhahn in the home of her daughter and son-in-law. Janet and Jimmy Stanzione, in Kirby. There they met and visited with all of Mrs. Friesenhahn's immediate family.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmeuth Luersen motored the couple to Corpus Christi, where they viewed the coastline and beach and then went on to Alice to meet more

Returning to Helotes, they were taken sightspeing and out to dinner in the area and then went to San Marcos to Aquarena Springs with Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Biering.

One day was spent by the couple taking in the sights of the city of San Antonio.

It is of interest to note that Bobby is a great grandson of the late Emil Gottschalk, who was a pioneer merchant in downtown Helotes during the turn of the century.

While the Douglases enjoyed their visit, needless to say they were enjoyed by all who got to see them here. They all say, "Hurry back, Bobby and Jane!'

Reading Is Urged

For Summer

"Rodeo de Lectura" es el tema del programma de lectura de este verano, patrocinado por La Biblioteca Publica de San Antonio, en cooperacion con La Biblioteca Estatal de Texas. El programa sera del primero de Junio hasta el fin de Agosto.

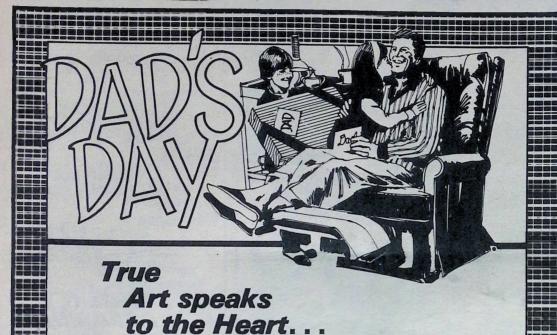

Todo nino que vaya hasta grado ocho esta invitado a visitar la biblioteca principal, o cualquiera de los doce sucursales o biblioteca mobil, y recoger su carpeta de Rodeo de Lectura gratis. Esta carpeta esta llena de juegos, rompecabezas espacio para anotar los libros leidos durante el verano.

Los ninos que lean diez libros de la biblioteca recibiran certificados y sus nombres seran exibidos en la biblioteca de su comunidad. Una estrella sera agregada por cada diez libros adicionales que se lea despues de los primeros diez.

Tiene ninos que no leen todavia? Ninos de edad preescolar que no lean pero que son buenos para escuchar pueden participar escuchando cuando un libro de la biblioteca es leido por un hermano, hermana mayor or por su papa o mama. La Lectura debe ser durante todo el ano, y un placer de toda la vida. Pero el verano es un buen tiempo para disfrutar todas los mundos que se nos ofrecen a traves de los libros.

Helotes Hermann Sons Lodge Celebrates 90th Birthday.

Following a dinner and presentation of former lodge presidents, the Fleetweld Cowboys played for dancing. The celebration held at Braun Hall on Braun Road drew a large number of lodge members and their families and friends.

Among those enjoying the dancing were Mr. and Mrs. Clif Lampman of Galm Road. The celebration was held Saturday night, June 4. Guests included Louis Engelke, head of the statewide Hermann Sons organization.

The children got into the dancing spirit, too - as they do at most Helotes parties.

Watching the dancers were these four comfortably-seated ladies.

High-Tech School Gets 15 Teachers

Fifteen San Antonio College faculty members been selected to prepare the scientists and engineers of the future in San Antonio's first high technology high school, which will open this fall.

The fifteen SAC faculty members will teach a group of approximately 100 San Antonio area high school juniors and seniors advanced in biology, chemistry, calculus, physics and other courses. Students from 13 San Antonio school districts applied for membership in the school.

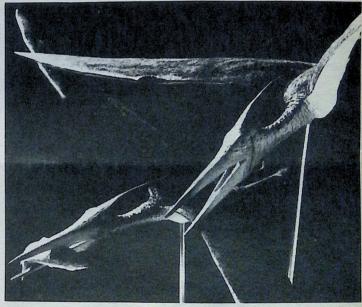

The high technology high school was initiated by San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros and is being administered by the Alamo Community College District through SAC in cooperation with United San Antonio.

Classes for the high-tech high school will be taught on the SAC campus from noon to 4 p.m. five days per week. Students will attend their high school classes in the morning and then will come to the SAC campus for hightech courses in the afternoon.

More than 100 San Antonio area high school students applied for membership in the school. Six were from Northside District schools

UTSA Sets Workshop For Piano

The Division of Music at UTSA will offer a summer piano workshop July 18 through July 24 for students ages 12 to 18.

The six-day intensive program will include private instruction, master classes, piano ensemble lessons, literature seminars, sightreading and accompanying seminars, and recitals by students and faculty.

Applicants may audition in person or by tape. Auditions should include at least 10 minutes of music and works from at least two contrasting musical styles. Tapes will be returned to applicants.

Tuition for the workshop is $85. The deadline for applications is June 30. For more information about the summer piano workshop at UTSA, call Dr. Janice Hodges at 691-4357.

It's been 65 million years since San Antonio saw its last dinosaur.

But, with the June 26 of "Dinosaurs; opening Vanished Texans", Tyrannosaurs rex. Alamosaurus, Quetzalcoatlus and a host of others are not only back in the Alamo City, they're invading the Witte in significant numbers.

From a 231/2 foot long reproduction of the horned Triceratops to a life-sized pair of soaring fiberglasssculpted Pteranodons, dinosaurs and displays devoted to explaining their lives and times are sprawling across several galleries in the Witte Museum.

Dioramas, slide shows, illustrated time lines and demonstrations of the scientific processes are included in the exhibit along with dinosaur skeletons. Some of the objects on view are touchable-visitors can examine a permanent one at the the skull of the Tyrannosaurus rex and rub their fingers along his six-inch long, serrated teeth. They can scrutinize the skeleton of a plesiosaur and marvel at the enormous footprints of a Pleuroceolus.

Skeletons of living dinosaur relatives can be compared with the prehistoric skeletons, contemporary plants and animals, such as opposums, sharks and magnolia trees, that were alive during the Age of Dinosaurs.

During the Cretaceous Period, Texas was largely covered by water; the only highlands were at Llano. Swimming reptiles inhabited the salt water, flying reptiles scanned the waves in search of fish and creatures such as Triceratops and Tyranno-saurs rex lived in the swampy areas of west Texas.

The exhibit, which will be

Witte, is the only one in the country to focus exclusively on Texas' dinosaurs.

"Dinosaurs: Texans" is sponsored by the Caesar Kleburg Foundation for Wildlife Conservation. Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Breuer and the Ruth and Vernon Taylor Foundation.

The Witte Museum is located at 3801 Broadway at Brackenridge Park. It is open six days a week, Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children under 12 and free on weekcen home games, including a long-awaited matchup with St. Mary's University in HemisFair Arena, and a grueling road schedule which includes a two-game trip to California and participation in the All-College Tournament in Oklahoma City in December, highlight the 1983-84 men's basketball schedule for The University of Texas at San Antonio.

Roadrunners Announce 1983-84 Schedule

The Roadrunners open their third campaign in NCAA Division I play at home on Friday, Nov. 25, against Presbyterian College of Clinton, S.C. They will then launch a very difficult road schedule, including road trips to three Southwest Conference schools, Rice, TCU and Baylor.

On Dec. 15, the Birds will face the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. Dec. 17 will see UT-SA in Fullerton, California to face California State-Fullerton

The Roadrunners will play their second holiday tournament in the school's young basketball history when they travel to the All-College Tournament in Oklahoma City on Dec. 28-29.

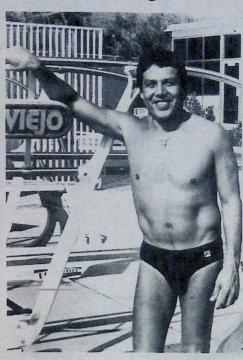

The Greeks and Romans used butter largely as a medicine.

The home schedule for UT-SA features the much ballyhooed contest with St. Mary's University on Feb. 6 at HemisFair Arena. Also, Lamar University, UT Arlington, the University of New Orleans, North Texas State, Pan American and McNeese State of Lake Charles, La.

Head Coach Don Eddy's Roadrunners have eight returning lettermen from last year's 10-17 club, including Derrick Gervin (6-8 SO F), Rick Doyle (6-10 SR C) and Ike Thornton (6-4 SO G). Other returning letter winners are John Stiver (6-9 SO F), Alden Wren (6-2 SR G), Robert Wallace (6-0 JR G), Scott McKoin (6-5 JR G), and Tim Gabrish (6-10 SO C).

Promising newcomers for UTSA are three guards and two quick forwards. The guards are Vince Cunningham (6-0 JR G), a junior college transfer; Brent Cotton (6-5 FR G); and Gary Payne (5-9 FR G), who is coming out of the U.S. Army. Calvin Haynes (6-5 FR F) from Los Angeles Verbum Dei High School and Kevin Morris (6-6 FR F) from Pasadena, Cal. will be big additions at quick forward.

Cliff Hanger

Sam Hernandez, the only American to win the famed Acapulco cliff diving championships twice (1977 and 1980), has been named spokesman for the 1983 "Summer Fun for Kids from Kool-Aid" Program in San Antonio. The program offers free admission to 21 city swimming pools during July in exchange for proofs-of-purchase from Kool-Aid.

Dentistry For Sports Meet Set

Dentists, physicians and athletic trainers from throughout the country will share their expertise June 24-25 during the first Sports Dentistry Symposium in San Antonio.

The symposium will be at The University of Texas Health Science Center and is co-sponsored by the University of Michigan School of Dentistry.

Course co-director Robert Morrow, D.D.S., associate dean for advanced education in the health science center's dental school, heads the school's unique mouthguard program. He and colleagues have made custom mouthguards for the UT Longhorn and Prairie View A & M Panther football teams.

In addition to mouthguards, topics will include facial protection methods, treatment of dental injuries and the controversial concept that repositioning the lower jaw can increase athletic performance.

Faculty will include well-known athletic trainers
Spanky Stephens and Eddie
Day from UT Austin, Russell
Miller from the University of Michigan and sports medicine experts.
