Caroline Field
Miss Helotes 1981

With the Fiesta not far away, the reigning Miss Helotes 1981 — blond, blue-eyed Caroline Anne Field, a 17-year-old Marshall High School senior — begins a round of activities representing Helotes. They will include a ride on the new Helotes Festival float in San Antonio's Fiesta Flambeau night parade in April, and end with her crowning of her successor to be chosen at the Coronation Pageant on Saturday, May 1. She will also ride in the May 8 Cornyval Parade here to conclude an outstanding year of representing Helotes in various ceremonies and parades outside of the area, including the Berges Fest.

One of the highlights was the installation of the Mayor and City Council in November, where Miss Helotes and her Court were participants. Dignitaries came from state and local governments.

Caroline, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Field of Helotes Park Estates, was born in Seattle, Washington, but has attended school here at Helotes Elementary, Coke Stevenson Middle School, and now Marshall, growing up in Helotes. She has also attended the University of Texas at San Antonio Gifted and Talented Program, where she completed courses in humanities and literature and film. Her father is on the UTSA faculty and teaches art there.

Caroline is a member of the National Honor Society and the Spanish Honor Society. She is secretary of the Latin Club, and parliamentarian of the school's J Club.

She has played the role of [Continued on page 3]

Helotes residents will get to see and hear all eleven candidates in the city's first regular election at a "Meet the Candidates" session scheduled for 3 p.m. on Sunday, March 28, at the Lion Club Parrigin Pavilion on Bandera Road.

It will be sponsored by the Helotes Park Estates Homeowners Association and the Helotes Lions and Lionesses Club. The public is invited and admission is free.

The incumbent Helotes mayor, Tom Beatty, and all five incumbent city council members have filed for re-election. They went into office last November in the special election held following incorporation of the city.

For the new election on Saturday, April 3, Mayor Beatty has drawn opposition from Chuck Lee, Bennie Lyon and Frank Thompson. Lee ran for city council in the November election, and Lyon ran for mayor. This is Thompson's first race.

Leon Valley reaches 30

On March 28, the city of Leon Valley will kick off their "Pioneer Days" celebration with an open house at the recently completed municipal complex. A time capsule will be buried containing various memorabilia submitted by many of the local civic and service organizations.

A cook's tour of the new city hall facility will be available to the general public from 2 until 5 p.m.

The celebration is in honor of Leon Valley's 30th anniversary as an incorporated city. The event is sponsored by the Leon Valley Civic and Business Affairs Committee, which extends a cordial invitation to all.

New officers of the Helotes Lodge of the Sons of Hermann in addition to Larence Schenk, president, are: Leonard Pinson, vice president; Alvin Mosmann, recording secretary and treasurer; Henry Mick, Felix Braun and Clyde Barrett, trustees; Ruth Lampman, Bernice Kempf and Wilbur Bradford, finance committee; Burton Braun, guide; Lorene Barrett, inner guard; and Hazel Leissner, outer guard.

March 29-April 3 has been designated Jubilee Week for Central Catholic High School, marking fifty years that the school has been located at its North St. Mary's Street site. All Central Catholic alumni and friends are invited to participate. Central Catholic is the largest boys' private school in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barker of Helotes Park Estates observed their 25th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, among celebration activities was a trip to Lost Maples State Park near Bandera.

More than 400 parents visited Helotes School during Public School Week, and most joined their child for lunch in the school cafeteria. One parent, Ivan Grabhorn, made a presentation on fossils for Mrs. Windecker's class during the special week. He also gave each child a shark's tooth. Neil Keiser demonstrated a computer for Mrs. Burke's class. To the delight of the students, he programmed the computer to give out specific information about each child. This fine support of parents during Public School Week exemplifies the spirit of cooperation which exists among parents and teachers at Helotes School.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin of the Grey Moss Inn are sponsoring an exhibit of 37 wildflower paintings by Abilene artist Mary Motz Wills at Witte Museum. The museum is open Wednesday through Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Biological Control Needed For Fire Ants

AUSTIN—"Trying to destroy fire ants with Amdro is like trying to kill an elephant with a b-b gun," State Representative Dan Kubiak (D-Rockdale) said today.

Kubiak, Chairman of the Select Committee on Fire Ants, said Amdro was at best a stop-gap measure that might provide temporary relief. "The fire ant spread has reached epidemic proportions and there is currently no known remedy to totally destroy them," Kubiak said.

The fire ant has spread across more than 100 counties in Texas. Birds, bees, livestock, earthworms, and humans are susceptible to attack. Fire ants, which can travel up to 30 miles per year, also have caused tremendous property damage.

"Fire ants started out a problem primarily in the rural area. However, infestations have been found in

She would like to teach at the college level. She has been selected to attend this year's UIL competition in Austin to compete in the poetry and prose division.

Caroline is employed part-time at the Hickory Farms store at Ingram Park Mall. However, she still has time for her friends and her hobbies of reading, walking and dancing. She has been on the Marshall Dance Team for two years.

When asked what she would wish for the new Miss Helotes who will be chosen this Spring, she said, "What I wish for her at the Cornyval Parade, is a nice sunny day."

many large cities," Kubiak added. "This is a problem of great magnitude for all affected areas," he stated.

"I believe that the key to destroying the fire ant on a permanent basis is a coordinated, concerted effort by all of the nine states that are infested," Kubiak said. He also added that a buffer zone around the infested area should be found to try and prevent additional spreading. "Once the buffer-zone has been formed, hopefully the ants can be contained until a permanent solution can be found."

Kubiak added that, in his opinion, biological controls will be the best solution. "We need to find the natural enemies and predators of the fire ant," Kubiak said.

Kubiak said his subcommittee will be visiting infested areas of the state to allow everyone an opportunity to testify about the problem.

People using Amdro should carefully allow instructions on its application. The chemical should be used in very small amounts, sprinkled around the mound so as not to disturb the ants. Also, Amdro should only be used on a dry day with a temperature above 60 degrees. Amdro should be used within five days of purchase in order for it to be at peak effectiveness. Only a tablespoon per mound is needed.

Constable Harlon Copeland, 51, served Precinct 2 for 20 years — from 1961 to 1981 as a reserve officer, a regular deputy, and as chief deputy, and then was appointed Constable by the Commissioner's Court as recommended by Dean Jones and Commissioner Tom Stolhandske, Precinct 2, which is the Northwest Section of Bexar County.

Boerne Historical Tour

Another of the places of interest on the Boerne Historical Tour sponsored by the Boerne Area Historical Preservation Society on Sunday, May 2, 1982, will be the log cabins of the old William Vogt-Clegg place at 221 Plant Street.

William Vogt was born in Germany in 1826. He married Ernestine Neihser of Germany in 1850 and they immigrated to America in 1852. They came through Indianola and moved to Boerne in 1856.

They purchased 39 2/3 of land from William Dietert in 1859 and built their first one-room log cabin in 1860. As their family grew, more log cabins were built, all in a line, with each having outside entrances. Mr. Vogt built a two-room limestone block house in front of the log cabins in the 1870's, and added more rooms before he died in 1912.

Mr. L. B. Clegg, then owner of the Clegg Printing Company in San Antonio, bought the remaining 3.8 acres of the William Vogt Estate in 1919. They have retained the log cabins in their original state.

Mrs. Agnes Clegg, who currently owns the cabins, uses the three rooms as guest cabins. Practically suited to the forest-rich environment, the cabin is constructed of hardwood with dovetail notching to join the logs at the corners, a device that displays a more finished appearance and makes the house tight against the weather. It has a gabled roof with rough-hewn planks filling in each gable end and a wooden shake roof similar to the original. The cracks between the logs are filled with stucco. Inside, the rooms are whitewashed.

Mrs. Clegg is an honorary member of the Historical Society and has generously given many antique items to the Historical House Museum.

Tickets for the tour are $5, hours are 12:00 to 6:00 p.m. on Sunday, May 2, and may be obtained from members or at the Historical House on the day of the tour.

They look like real drugs, but that's where the similarity ends and controversy begins.

Called "look-alike" or "counterfeit" drugs, the capsules and pills are sold through the mail or on the streets of Texas' larger cities.

The imitation drugs are almost indistinguishable in appearance from controlled substances that are widely abused. The look-alikes have the same size, shape, color and even imprinted letters and numbers resembling those of legitimate manufacturers of controlled substances.

But the Texas Medical Association says the difference is that the imitations usually contain large doses of non-prescription, over-the-counter ingredients such as caffeine, a stimulant; phenolpropanolamine, an appetite suppressant and nasal decongestant; and ephedrine, a decongestant.

Magazine advertisements for the look-alike drugs make claims such as "strongest body stimulants and appetite suppressants available without a prescription" and "100 percent legal - safe."

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration thinks differently. It has noted increased cases involving phenylpropanolamine at poison-control centers and has linked look-alike drugs to nine deaths nationwide.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies are part of the history of Helotes, and they are not complete without the presence of a mayor. Here in November of 1976, Joe Algueseva, local businessman serving as Honorary Mayor of Helotes succeeding John T. Floore, cuts the ribbon in front of Mr. C. Auto Parts as members of the Skelly family — owners of the auto parts store — assist. The bi-centennial year showed Helotes prospering. Mr. C is still a successful business, located at the Shopping Center. There have been new ribbon cutting ceremonies nearby this month and others are being planned.

The FDA has confiscated the drugs from several look-alike manufacturers on grounds that they are counterfeit drugs prohibited by the U.S. Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. In addition, the U.S. Postal Service has filed complaints charging the mail-order companies with misrepresenting the safety of their products.

The main problem is that only 13 states have passed laws to combat look-alike drugs. Texas is not among the 13.

Here They Set Foot

Sometime this year Texans should know if they have a Lone Star State version of Plymouth Rock.

According to Texas Alamanac Editor Mike Kingston, the artifact in question is half a ceramic tablet that originally was about a foot square. It was discovered in the Boca Chica area at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

The tablet is inscribed with the name of the early Spanish explorer, Alvarez de Pineda, the date 1519 and an apparent reference to 270 soldiers.

Some geologists believe the tablet found by amateur archeologist Ray Penrod in 1974 may date from sometime after 1519. Scientists at the University of Texas in San Antonio have agreed to see if it can be dated.

Some authorities on the Spanish period in Texas feel that even though the artifact may not be from 1519, it may be that a monument was erected at Boca Chica in the 19th Century to commemorate the Spanish explorer's landing point.

Frank N. THOMPSON

Candidate for MAYOR of Helotes

To the Citizens of Helotes

Throughout the time that I have been living in Helotes, I have had a strong feeling for this community. I feel that I can assist my neighbors by taking an active role in our city by being a candidate and successfully becoming your next Mayor.

I would prefer to meet with each of you, and personally share ideas, but the short time before the election day, April 3, 1982, makes this impossible.

Consequently, I will take this opportunity to present a few ideas. We need a conservative but efficient Government, governed logically by a strong city council.

Careful, financial management is essential in our Government and a practice that I have long used over many years of business experience. Although many services are required, budgeting and long-range planning are the only ways to sensibly obtain these services.

It is vital to our community that the Helotes area continues to grow but not to the point that we forget about our neighbors' needs and desires. Revenues from a minimum property tax, possible sales tax, franchises, and permits provide the city a BASIS for budgeting and planning.

It is impossible to expect our city to provide everything overnight and realizing this I know that not everyone will be satisfied. Yet, the potential is there if we unify and utilize sound financial planning.

Your vote in the next city election is YOUR opinion of how you want YOUR city Government to act. IT IS VITAL!!

I am asking for your vote because I sincerely feel I can serve you by being available, and offer my time and efforts in leadership, working with the council that you elect as your representatives.

Please feel free to call me at 695-9907

Wells drop in February

Water well levels and spring flow throughout the five-county Edwards Underground Water District declined during February, the EUWD office has reported.

The drop in levels at the end of the month was attributed to low rainfall totals for the past four months in much of the Edwards Aquifer area and to the beginning of lawn, garden and farm irrigation. However, the water well levels were still above longterm averages.

Spring flow at Comal Springs dropped 31 cubic feet per second to a flow of 299 cfs, matching the 1933-1980 average flow. San Marcos Springs declined 32.7 cfs to a flow of 108.3 cfs, nearly 60 cfs below the longterm average of 168 cfs.

Following are the water well levels shown in altitude above mean sea level with the recorded lows and highs in parentheses:

Uvalde: 880.2 feet, down 1.2 feet (811.0 and 886.3).

Sabinal: 801.2 feet, down 5.0 feet (664.0 and 835.4).

Castroville: 708.9 feet, down 4.2 feet (622.3 and 737.8).

Hondo: 741.9 feet, down 3.9 feet (662.3 and 773.8).

San Antonio: 674.1 feet, down 2.3 feet (612.5 and 696.5).

New Braunfels: 626.6 feet, down 0.4 foot (613.3 and 630.2).

The almond is a member of the same family as the apple, peach and cherry. It developed into a nut instead of a fruit. At some time its pit was found to be good to eat.

Marshall Band March-a-Thon

The John Marshall Ram Band marched from the school to Helotes on Saturday morning, March 6, to raise money for a trip to Orlando, Florida, in May. The morning was cold but sunny for the seven-mile march. They ended at Helotes Park Plaza, played a brief concert, and then moved to the parking lot of Gill Companies for the finale.

Doug Walton, manager of the Helotes branch of Gill Savings, presented the band director, James Miculka, with a check for the full amount of the expenses of sending a band member to Orlando. Left to right in the center of the photo are Mayor Tom Beatty; Miculka; Walton; Mrs. Andrea Ross, Rams Booster chairman and Dan Johnson, Rams Booster president.

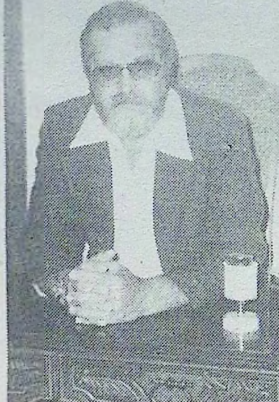

Band Director James Miculka listens intently as he marches beside the saxophone section of the Ram Band. In Orlando, the Band will compete in the Great Southern Contest of Champions. They will leave San Antonio May 6 and return May 10. Cost of the trip will be $48,000.

ALDERMAN FOR HELOTES

I feel we have a good start on providing the citizens of Helotes with an efficient and fiscally sound government. I have devoted my efforts during the past five months as Alderman to the following:

- to keep spending to a minimum until the tax base and revenues are established.
- to organizing and carrying out the campaign to raise voluntary contributions for the City.
- to donating road patching materials, organizing and working with volunteers to perform initial street repairs.
- acting as liaison with the Helotes Volunteer Fire Department to allow the City to office in the Fire Department Building.
- to working with the Fire Department personnel to renovate said building for City office use.

I have taken the job of Alderman very seriously. I have devoted many hours of time and effort to fulfilling my campaign promises of November, 1981, namely fiscal conservatism, minimum bureaucracy, additional police protection and replacing services lost upon incorporation.

There are still many issues to be addressed and problems to be solved. I pledge to devote my efforts to the following needs if re-elected:

1. Complete work on establishing a comprehensive zoning ordinance.
2. Pass ordinances designed to meet the specific needs of the community as a whole.
3. Establish a Municipal Court System to enforce State Laws and Municipal Ordinances.
4. Establish a trust fund to finance major street repairs, thereby avoiding bonded indebtedness.
5. Keep administration overhead at the lowest level possible.
6. Provide additional police protection as funding is available. We are a single community with varied needs and interests. My goal is to do the best job humanly possible to serve all of the citizens of Helotes. I would sincerely appreciate your support to accomplish this goal.

Thank You,

CPS Centennial

Utility poles with multiple crossarms were symbols of growth of electric service throughout San Antonio in the early 1900s. Several companies provided electricity to the Alamo City in those days, but through a series of mergers and consolidations, the San Antonio Public Service Company came into being in 1917. The Public Service Company became City Public Service in 1942 when the City of San Antonio purchased the community's gas and electric systems. The 100th anniversary of the founding of the first company was on March 8.

I am Verna Thompson, and I am seeking re-election to the Helotes City Council. Last November you gave me your support and trust. I used that trust to maintain a conservative approach in building our new city. It has been my desire to preserve the quality of life and maintain the essence of Helotes within the tax structure we can afford. If you agree with my conservative approach, I will appreciate your vote and support in the election.

ELECT MIKE KRISAK FOR CITY COUNCIL

(Paid for by Citizens for Mike Krisak for City Council, Treasurer Janice Caldwell, Rt. 15, Box 1886, San Antonio, Texas 78228)

A Message from your Mayor

The first five months of independent government for the city of Helotes have been an exciting time and, yes, sometimes a trying time, but we have accomplished much for our city.

We have Emergency Medical Service. We have a law enforcement officer who, though he is only paid for 40 hours a week, often works from 50 to 70 hours to protect the properties and citizens of our city.

There is harmony between the Helotes Volunteer Fire Department and the city as evidenced by the location of the rent-free city hall.

We have made agreements with and have collected pass-through charges from the San Antonio City Public Service Board and from the UA-Columbia Cable Company. These payments to Helotes will help in reducing the tax burden for all of us in our new city.

AND, even though our city will not be receiving tax money until October, we have been able to do all of this without borrowing one penny from any lending institution. Better yet, through the pass-through charges paid to us and the generosity of the Helotes citizens who donated funds to see their city off to a good start, we still have approximately $5,000 in our city account.

There are some of you who have not always agreed with what I advocated for our new city, but, believe me, I have asked only for what I thought best for Helotes. I have not made my decisions on what would be best for me, or would be better only a fraction of this new city, but would in the long run be beneficial for the city of Helotes.

There are those who would try to convince you I am trying to set up public housing in Helotes. There is nothing that could be farther from the truth. True, there is a need for public housing in some areas of Bexar County, but the Helotes area is not one of them. I worked against public housing before in this community and successfully prevented a project being designed for the corner of Scenic Loop Road and Highway 16. I will continue to oppose public housing in Helotes and would never introduce anything into this city which would result in forced public housing.

I did not move to Helotes with the intent of seeking public office. However, I was urged by a large segment of this community to run for mayor because of my background in city and state government and because of my experience gained as chairman of the Helotes Incorporation Committee. Once elected as mayor, I refused to be pressured by a select few who were either gathering votes for this coming election or who were interested in bettering their business situation.

There is still much we need to do to assure a pleasant and practical future for Helotes, and it is my belief that once this election is over, we can settle down and concentrate on the issues relevant to our city.

Helotes is a beautiful city, populated by people who are sincerely concerned with the future of their town. Let's all pull together — we can accomplish a great deal more if we work as a team.

Worden School Will Celebrate 40th Year

The first school of social work in the state of Texas celebrates its 40th anniversary this year.

"Since March has been designated National Social Work Month by the National Association of Social Workers, this is an appropriate time to remember the Worden School of Social Service's 40 years of commitment to the community," said Dr. Louis Tomaino, dean of Our Lady of the Lake University's Worden School.

In 1942, a one-year school of social service opened on campus. Over 2,000 students have graduated with master's degrees in social work since the school began awarding the M.S.W. in 1950.

A study done by Worden Staff indicates that within two and one-half years after graduation, at least one-half of the school's master's degree recipients occupy either supervisory or administrative positions in social service, according to Tomaino.

Sister Mary Philothea Thiry, a native of Lorraine, France, and Superior General of the Congregation of Divine Providence from 1925 to 1943, spearheaded the movement to establish a school of social service. Encouraged by the then Archbishop of San Antonio, Robert E. Lucey, the one-year school of social service was opened on October 1, 1942. In August, 1949, the name of the school was changed to the Worden School of Social Service in recognition of the interest and support of the Worden family of San Antonio.

At the present time there are over 200 students in the graduate program at Worden and close to 100 undergraduates.

Worden's curriculum concentrates on preparing students for work with individuals, families, groups and communities. It is especially noted for its preparation for social work in bilingual-bicultural settings.

Phone Best For Aid

Some people apparently find it hard to believe that almost all Social Security business can be handled by telephone, from changing an address to applying for retirement, disability, or survivor benefits, according to William M. Archuleta, Social Security district manager in San Antonio.

This may explain why many people stop at the Social Security office to get answers to their questions, pick up a leaflet, or apply for benefits. They may end up waiting in line or wasting gas (and energy), Archuleta said.

For several years, Social Security has been geared up to handle most of its business by telephone, a direct result of the steady increase in the volume of business from new programs, new legislation, and new clients. Teleservice centers around the country are staffed to provide service by telephone. Also, district offices—some 1,300—have personnel trained to handle almost all Social Security business by phone so a special trip to the office is not necessary.

Archuleta believes telephone service can be a convenience to many people. The best times to call the office generally are the last two weeks of the month, the latter half of most weeks, and in the afternoon.

Retirees Preassigned

Some 86,000 Regular Army retirees recently were dispatched preassignment orders for recall to service in the event of a national mobilization.

Preassignment orders, mailed recently, direct certain recent retirees to duty at Continental United States Army installations if full mobilization is announced by the President.

There is no relationship between the Army's execution of its preassignment program and current world events, according to Department of the Army officials in Washington. The retiree preassignment program has been in the development stage since 1976 and is designed to provide the Army with additional manpower with the skills and experience it needs if fully mobilized.

Retirees with questions about the program or their preassignment orders should contact the U.S. Army Reserve Components Personnel and Administrative Center, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, MO 63132, or by toll free number—1-800-325-2660.

Your Child's First Visit to the Dentist

WHAT AGE?
You should schedule your child's first visit to the dentist before the age of two years. Surveys show that 50% of 2 year-olds have one or more decayed teeth. Don't postpone the first visit until your child is in pain.

PREPARATION
With proper preparation, you as a parent can make the dental journey a pleasant experience for everyone involved. Here are a few tips to follow when getting your child ready for his visit to the dentist:

1. Make the appointment day as easy as possible for your child. Try not to make other plans for that day.
2. If possible, the appointment for your child will be made early in the day. Try to see that your youngster is well rested and has had a good meal.
3. It is best to tell a child about a dental visit the night before the appointment. This way, there will be less opportunity to hear about the "neighborhood experiences."
4. Please refer to the dentist as "our friend" and speak in the positive.
5. Please eliminate from your dental vocabulary such words as "hurt," "grind," and "drill." In fact, it is a good policy not to discuss dentistry within earshot of the child.
6. Please convey the feeling that dental visits are a part of growing up. Don't offer rewards or indicate in any way that there is anything to fear.
7. If your child should ask searching questions, explain that the doctor intends only to examine and will always explain what he is going to do before he does it.

THE FIRST VISIT
The first visit may be for a visual examination of your child's mouth and teeth and instruction for the parent and child on brushing, flossing, and diet counseling. It may also include cleaning and fluoride application, and radiographs to check for hidden decay and abnormal growth and development of the teeth and jaws. Improper biting and chewing habits may be evaluated at this time. Occasionally, interceptive orthodontic procedures may be needed to prevent more extensive treatment at a later date to restore proper function and appearance.

If you have any questions or request further information please call or write 6336 Bandera Rd. Suite F, San Antonio, Texas 78238, 681-5320.

And the number of graduates from the state's medical schools rose by 26 percent during the same period.

The statistics were tabulated from nationwide figures compiled by the American Medical Association. Nationally, the number of students enrolled in medical schools during 1980-81 increased slightly over the previous year -- from 64,195 to 65,497.

In Texas, medical school enrollment increased from 3,811 to 4,150 students, while the number of graduates rose from 741 to 938 over the same one-year period. The number of first-year medical students increased slightly -- from 1,123 to 1,137.

Reflecting a national trend, the number of women enrolled in Texas medical schools increased from 860 to in 1979-80 to 1,000 in 1980-81. Statistics for 1980-81 show that women comprised 24 percent of Texas' medical school enrollment and 26.5 percent of the nation's medical students.

Northside plans 5th High School

The Northside District school board awarded a contract at its March meeting recently for preliminary designs for the fifth Northside high school, to be built by 1984. Several sites are under consideration for the school, but it probably will be built on the far west side of the district near the Great Northwest area. The contract went to the architectural firm of Noonan, Dockery and Noonan.

In other action during the meeting, the board heard a report that its petition to the city of Leon Valley for the annexation of the district's central office on Evers Road near Wurzbach Road probably will be acted on at the next Leon Valley city council meeting.

Supt. Ed Cody told the board that since settlement of a lawsuit against the city of San Antonio regarding the tax exempt status of the district, it has received a partial refund of $1,140,000 from San Antonio. The board is studying uses for the money.

The board also approved an increase in summer school tuition from $55 to $65 for a one-unit course. The summer high school will be held at Holmes High.
