Fred Wendt of Shaenfield Road recently made a 2,000-mile trip from Hawaii to San Diego aboard the aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk. The trip was part of a navy program called "Tiger Cruise," in which son, fathers and brothers of crew members are guests on the carrier during its return to homeport. Mr. and Mrs. Wendt's son, James, is a member of the Kitty Hawk's crew. The aircraft carrier was returning to San Diego after eight months at sea, including four months in the Indian Ocean.

Scott Tagliarino, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tagliarino of McNeel Park, has been elected treasurer of the San Antonio Chapter of the International Association of Business Communicators. Scott works for the Valero Energy Corporation here. He is a graduate of John Marshall and the University of Texas School of Communications, where he was editor of The Daily Texan.

Mrs. Carrie Wright of Grey Forest was the winner in the "Winn's Shopping Spree Contest" at the Valley-Hi Winn's Store. She got to gather all the merchandise she and one child could gather in one minute in a Winn's store shopping cart. Mrs. Wright's merchandise was valued at more than $1,000.

A poem entitled "Feelings" by a third grader at Helotes School Heather Ross, has been published in the fall issue of the Journal of the Texas Personnel and Guidance Association.

Joseph Bambeck of Beverly Hills has been named chairman of the Muscular Distrophy Association for Helotes. Besides the annual Labor Day Telethon, he will be in charge of a Muscular Distrophy 1982 Love Run in the Helotes area in early August.

At the Helotes merchants' Christmas Days Sales, held at Helotes General Store, Santa Claus greeted the children (here he is holding J.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Lee) and a pianist provided Christmas music.

Mrs. Maurine Mullins examined the many handmade items offered by Mrs. Lillian Zimmerlie at the Christmas Days Sales. Jack Nottingham conducted a benefit auction Saturday afternoon that netted the Helotes Historical Society $240.

Christmas trees were sold at the Christmas Days by the Youth Club of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church. The trees are fresh-cut New Mexico pines. They are still being sold at the church each evening.

City Council Votes Budget

The Helotes City Council. after a series of weekly meetings and executive ses sions, Thursday, Dec. 17, passed unanimously a pro-posed budget for the City of Helotes to cover anticipated expenditures for the next 21 months of the city's opera-

Based on minimum needs of operational expenses, public safety, and public works, the budget committee, headed by Wayne Chauffe, presented a ten-tative budget at the Dec. 11 meeting at a public hearing. After several suggestion of Council members, the amount set was just short of $98,000.

Although the budget is to cover Jan. 1, 1982 until Sept. 30 1983, and will be in deficit spending until taxes are received beginning in Oct. 1982, the anticipated receipts during the final 12 months are estimated at $97,570 based on a projected tax of 18 cents per $100 evaluation. The tax rate has not been set, yet.
Mayor Tom Beatty in adjourning the meeting said Council meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 7, 1982 at the PARC Building.

Game Birds

Retain moisture and flavor of pheasants and wild turkeys by plucking the feathers and leaving the skin intact rather than skinning. To pluck, remove wings at the joint nearest the body. Cut off the feet at the first joint above the feet. Most hunters prefer to pick the birds dry rather than wet.

After "rough picking," the down feathers can be removed by "skidding" or rubbing across the bird firmly with the thumb. Use a knife blade and the thumb as a stop to pull pinfeathers. The bird can be singed over a flame to remove down. Remove the head and most of the neck.

If skinning is preferred, use bacon strips across the bird during cooking to add moisture

Smaller birds can be either skinned or plucked. More flavor and moisture are re-

Somehow-It's All Worthwhile

"Look there's the firelady!"

...Through the last few months these words have been heard by several of your neighbors...in the grocery store, beauty shop, at school, in church, in the dentist's office, and other areas around town.

Doing the chores of mother and house-wife these ladies are ever vigilant — one ear tuned to the dryer, the other to "Fire Alarm" over portable alarm systems in their kitchens.

Training is constant and rewarding.

Recalling the cold, wet ride on the back of the fire truck — flying down the highway in 50° weather doesn't sound rewarding or inviting.

Rewards were difficult to appreciate during the long day at the elementary school during Fire Prevention Week...answering 999 questions; and, finally wearily going home to clean up and get supper ready for the family.

Rewards are very remote as you snap off you fingernail hauling hoses off the pumper truck just to learn how to hook them up to a hydrant.

Rewards are lost as you give up Friday mornings — no longer a brief moment of leisure before the hectic weekend of family life — to go practice moving a truck 50 times larger than the family station wagon in and around curves and hills, craftily hanging onto the clutch, (remembering the day you just had to have power drive in the new car).

The reward is definitely lost as you just sit down to a

All the kids are at the table — clean and hungry — "Fire Alarm" blasts. You run out the door grabbing over-sized boots, hat, cumbersome coat...only to find out it was a false alarm 30 minutes later. Dinner is cold, and waiting with the dirty dishes.

Suddenly, one day there is the clear call of the "Helotes Fire Alarm Tone". You run out the door, properly equipped with hat, boots, gloves, coat. You are at the station in record time, and along with other trained neighbors and friends on the truck and at the site of a huge rapidly burning brush fire.

homes are in danger, a dog is chained in the path of the fire. You fight, with a strength you didn't know you had. Suddenly the training comes forward and you're confident...protecting property, and most of all lives. It's over. You're hot, tired, dirty, and thirsty...but the job is done! You know you helped to do something special for your community. You sleep that night, exhausted.

The next day in the grocery store a little boy walks past you, looks at you very carefully, and with a trust in his eyes, and pride in his voice tells his mom, "I know her, she's the FIRE-LADY!"

Bone Disorder Therapy Researched Here

The medical profession appears firmly divided on the best treatment for osteoporosis, a bone-thinning disorder that affects up to 10 million Americans.

Gregory Mundy, M.D., an endocrinologist at The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, is conducting research that he hopes eventually will help settle the controversy.

Osteoporosis occurs most often in the elderly, especially postmenopausal women (one of every three older women has it), but it also strikes younger people who have certain cancers.

The most popular therapies are Vitamin D and calcium, estrogen, and flouride. Physicians disagree, however, over which drugs, or 'combination of drugs, are most effective.

Osteoporosis is a disorder in which the bones lose density, becoming brittle and easily broken. This loss of bone mass is an almost universal accompaniment of the aging process, affecting virtually all women over 50 and most men over 65.

Throughout life, Mundy explains, the human body continues to create new bone while resorbing, or breaking down, older bone. During the growth years — normally through adolescence — more bone is created than resorbed. Hormones control the processes by which bone is laid down and later resorbed.

Bone formation usually peaks between the ages of 20 and 40. Then, as the body continues to age, it begins to resorb more bone than it creates, often leading to osteoporosis.

"Bones don't get smaller in diameter," Mundy says. "They just become less dense and more brittle. Certain diseases also tend to increase bone resorption.

"There is no sharp dividing line between 'normal' agerelated bone loss and most clinical osteoporosis," he adds.

Symptoms of the latter include back pain, fractures (particularly of the hip) and skeletal deformities such as humpback caused by compressing bone.

In most cases, detecting osteoporosis requires a bone biopsy.

biopsy.
"The condition most often is discovered when an elderly person comes to the physician with back pain or a hip fracture," Mundy says.
"These are almost always due to osteoporosis."

A similar type of bone loss occurs frequently in patients with cancer, particularly breast cancer or cancer of the bone marrow.

Fight Against Wilt Progesses

Congressman Tom Loeffler has reported that U.S. Forest Service officials have reported on their progress in developing a plan to coordinate the control and prevention of oak wilt and oak decline in the Hill Country of Texas.

Loeffler said Forest Service officials as well as representatives from Texas A&M University, state and private groups met on Nov. 20 to develop a plan of action to combat the disease.

The Texas Congressman said thus far a five-point plan has been formulated for: (1) streamlining the process for providing technical assistance to landowners; (2) gaining consensus on control recommendations' (3) identifying research and information needs; (4) conducting a survey to estimate disease incidence and severity; and (5) establishing demonstration control areas. A detailed proposal incorporating the groups' recommendations is due to be submitted in January.

Heavy losses from the disease may eventually have an impact on more than three million acres of trees in nine states from Virginia to Texas.

Johnson-Martin Wed In New Mexico

Mrs. Raymond L. Johnson, Jr.

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Farmington, New Mexico was the setting for the wedding of Pamela Faye Martin and Raymond L. Johnson, Jr. on Saturday, November 28, 1981 with Rev. Father Joseph Coutu officiating.

The bridegroom is the son of Frankie and Raymond L. Johnson of Helotes, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte York of Farmington and the late Dean D. Martin. She was given in marriage by Ron Anderson, her brother-in-law, of Grand Junction, Colorado.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace with layers of ruffles extending into a long train. She wore a lace picture-brim hat with a long veil. She carried silk roses of pink and burgundy with a lace fan

Her bridesmaids wore gowns of misty mauve Quiana with full-length lace sleeves and lace bodice. They carried white fans with silk roses of pink and burgundy which complimented their headdresses.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Ron Anderson, sister of the bride, of Grand Junction.

Bridesmaids were Nancy Nelson and Lori Thomason of Farmington; and Laurie Johnson, sister of the groom, of Helotes, Texas.

The flower girl was Kerri Anderson, niece of the bride.

Serving as best man was Richard H. Oates, Jr., now of Laramie, Wyoming, a friend of the groom who also graduated from John Marshall High School here in 1976

Groomsmen who wore burgundy tuxedos, included Matt Sorenson, Rocksprings, Wyoming, Michael Randow, Houston, Texas, also of the 1976 class of Marshall High; and Ron Anderson, Grand Junction. Steve C. Johnson, brother of the groom, was an usher.

The reception was held at The Inn, in Farmington.

After a wedding trip to Jackson Hole, Wyoming and to Canada, the couple will reside in Sidney, Montana, where the groom — a graduate of Texas A&M University — is employed by the Western Company of North America as a district

HOW TO BUILD YOUR OWN ROSE PARADE FLOAT

For a nation gone crazy with do-it-yourself enthusi-asm we give you the ultimate backyard task: How to build your own Rose Parade float!

Our experts are the designer/builder team of Raul Rodriguez and Don Ander-son of Fiesta Floats, Temple City, California. As a team they have won more awards than any float builders in the history of the Rose Parade, including the Grand Prize the last five years in a row. The selected example is

The selected example is Avon's 1982 Rose Parade entry, "Beauty of the Orient", a stylized salute to Japan in keeping with the parade's theme of Friends and Neighbors. Avon won the coveted Grand Prize last year and hopes to duplicate that feat this coming New Year's Day.

Your Budget: $20,000 to $100,000 Since budgets are a closely guarded secret you will have to build your float under guidelines that range from around $20,000 to $100,000 and more, accord-ing to the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association. Incidentally, the Associa-tion charges an entrance fee and there is a long waiting list.

First, the Chassis, featur-ing several thousand dollars worth of welded steel reinforced for strength at stress points to meet design needs, a new or low mileage truck or luxury car engine, an oversized cooling system, space for two drivers, and the biggest and best truck the biggest and best truck tires you can afford. Wanted: Michelangelo Then comes the Framing. For this you will need a genuine sculptor/artist who can handle a welding torch like Michelangelo. The steal like Michelangelo. The steel shaping your genius will create must conform to the ultimate design in mind. The next to last major step is called Superstructure, wherein the incredibly de-tailed figures and intricate patterns take visible shape, again under the eye of professional artists and sculptors.

Finally, you'll need a hundred or more dedicated young people supervised by professional florists to add the live flowers that create the finished product, and all of whom are willing to give up their New Year's Eve!

Tons Of Glue
In between all of this you will need buyers who know where to get flowers from all over the world, tons and tons of glue, and tons and tons of glue, and the patience of Job.

If anything goes wrong along the way you might try calling Avon. Maybe they'll send a rep to help.

San Antonio Stock Show To Return Feb. 12-21

The 1982 San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo is just around the corner. This year's show, Feb. 12-21, will hit town with some exciting new rodeo events, entertainment attractions and some of the biggest stars yet.

The new Entertainment Center, donated by Harry Freeman — on the west side of the Coliseum, is open to the public at all times during the 10-day show. Visitors to the Center during the day can participate in the Special Days events like square dancing and clogging, or watch the Old Fiddler's Contest, Feb. 20 and 21. And at night, they can see such big name Texas bands as Bubba Littrel, Frenchie Burke and the Sound Masters and the Metheny Brothers.

The old Family Center has been remodeled and turned into the new Branding Iron. Every night at 9:00 the lights go down, guitars start tuning and the Center comes alive as a Country and Westerndance hall.

And that's just the beginning. In the Coliseum itself, the new arena floor will be complete, as well as breezeway murals by Shawn Bridges showing various San Antonio scenes, new central heating and air conditioning and a completely refurbished concession system.

New concessionaire for the Coliseum, Leisure Foods, Inc., has spent more than $200 thousand replacing old equipment and adding more stands with better food, faster service and a much greater variety. Special food booths will offer fajitas, funnel cakes and strudel to go along with the usual hotdogs, hamburgers, BBQ and beer.

You can appreciate all these new additions while listening to some of the nation's top performers. The Rodeo of Champions returns this year with big time stars on the program. Singer and story-teller Jimmy Dean will open the show on Feb. 12 and 13, followed by Marty Robbins on Feb. 14 and 15, Mel Tillis on Feb. 16 and 17, Tammy Wynette on Feb. 18 and 19, and Conway Twitty on Feb. 20 and 21. The Rodeo events promise to be wild and crazy as ever, but with two big program changes. In the Calf Scramble, womens lib has arrived. This year, girls will compete side-by-side with the boys for the first time.

And a brand new event for this rodeo, the Steer Riding, will feature boys and girls ages 11-14. Junior Steer riders will compete aboard steers weighing no more than 900 pounds but in the style of professional bull riding. First place pays $500, which must be used to purchase livestock for agricultural projects or as a school scholarship.

But don't just walk in and see the rodeo and leave. The San Antonio Livestock Show is one of the three largest in the Southwest. More than 11 thousand of the nation's finest cattle, sheep, poultry and swine will compete for awards in many categories. Bidding for the award winners, at the Livestock Auction, promises to be intense and competitive this year. Last year's bidding broke 16 records, with the grand champion steer selling for $28,000.

If horses are your passion, then you won't want to miss the quality horse shows and sales. On Feb. 11, the quarter horse show kicks off ten days of performance, halter, timed event classes and even horse auctions. Paint horses, Appaloosas and the state's quickest cutting horses round out the program.

Majestic To Get Musical

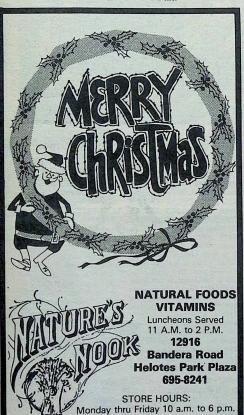

"A Chorus Line," the musical hit that won nine Tony Awards, including Best Musical, the New York Drama Critics Award for Best Musical and a Pulitzer Prize for Drama, will come to the stage of the Majestic Performing Arts Center, Tuesday, Dec. 29, for eight performances.

Conceived, choreographed and directed by the six-time Tony winner Michael Bennett, a former dancer, the musical tells of the 'gypsies,' the dancers who move from one Broadway chorus to another until stardom beckons or age catches up with them.

For a show rooted in 'showbiz' traditions, "A Chorus Line" breaks a number of theatrical traditions. Until the finale, which Douglas Watt of the New York Daily News called 'smashing,' the dancers wear the same practice clothes dancers wear at a chorus call. There are no sets in the usual sense since most of the show is performed on a bare stage, recreating the atmosphere of a genuine audition what the show is about. Only a set of mirrors give added depth and shading to the action onstage.

The score, written by Marvin Hamlisch and Edward Kleban, was not written to be popularized via radio, records or disco, although one song, "What I did for Love", did break through and became a hit.

Wells Rise In Edwards

With the exception of the Hays County area, spring flow and water well levels increased in November throughout the Edwards Underground Water District, the EUWD office has announced.

The rise in levels was attributed to heavy rainfall in the early fall and to a drop in irrigation.

Comal Springs in New Braunfels increased 23 cubic feet per second to a flow of 335 cfs at the end of November, well above the average flow of 285 cfs, Tom Fox, EUWD general manager, said. However, San Marcos Springs dropped 48 cfs to a flow of 176 cfs, compared to the longterm average flow of 166 cfs.

Following are the water well levels shown in altitude above mean sea level with the alltime recorded low and high reading in parentheses:

Uvalde: 881.7 feet, up 0.9 foot (811.0 and 886.3).

Sabinal: 817.0 feet, up 1.8 feet (664.0 and 835.4).

Castroville: 718.8 feet, up '.5 feet (622.3 and 737.8).

GENERAL HARDWARE SALES & SERVICE

Many people use herbs for medicinal purposes every day but don't realize it.

The mint found in chewing gum and after-dinner mints is said by herbalists to soothe the stomach. Liqueurs such as Pernod and others containing anise, are said to pro-mote appetite and digestion. Even coffee and tea when taken specifically for their stimulant properties are among herbs used for their effect on the body.

Three San Antonio authors have edited a new reference book on herbal medicine, for "intelligent laymen" and health professionals, entitled "Folk Medicine and Herbal Healing.'

"Physicians as well as laymen sometimes resist learning about folk medicine even though they use it unknowingly every day," said George Meyer, M.D., professor of psychiatry at The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio and an editor of the new text. "They are afraid of being primitive or being superstitious despite the fact that groups such as the World Health Organization respect and now officially encourage traditional medicine.

'The Mexican, South
American and Chinese cultures are much more open to medical folk traditions than people in this country," Meyer said. "Physicians, in the United States for example, will treat patients when they come to the established clinics, but often do not take into account what those same patients do for themselves outside the clinic."

Despite this lack of communication, the new book documents the fact that, at least in South Texas, knowledge of herbal lore is being kept alive at the family

CHILD'S FIRST DENTAL VISIT

A child going to the dentist for the first time is often a handful of anxieties. Any dentist using the right techniques can transform the most terrified child into a cooperative patient who is no longer afraid – a child who will leave the office with a smile on his face.

arraid—a child wind will leave the office with a smile of this face.

The first thing a dentist must do is convince the child of his shonesty. Children are smart. They are not easily fooled. If a syoungster is promised that a particular thing will be done, the dentist had better be sure he does it.

Usually, the dentist begins with something easy. He says "To-day I am going to count your teeth." And, after that, come what may, he must count the teeth, using whatever means necessary. Remember this: The child often cries before anything is done to him (even a first haircut). He is not hurt, and the dentist has to prove that he can be trusted to do exactly what he says he is going to do - no more, no less. The noise and hysterics generally disap-pear after the first visit. If the dentist establishes his reliability and hat he is trustworthy, there will rarely be any more trouble.

If you have any questions or request further information please call or write 6336 Bandera Rd. Suite F, San Antonio, Texas 78238.

But is there any reason to be-lieve that a woman's spiritual fibre is less sturdy tha a man's? Is it not possible for a woman to come to terms with herself if not with the world; to withdraw more and more, as time goes on, her own personality from her productions; to stop childish fears of death and eschew charming rebellions against facts?
