Mrs. Wendy Huffaker, her eight-year-old son, Lance, and mother, Mrs. Edith Moore, have rented the Walters' place at Scenic Loop and Blue Hill Road. The family moved here from Buck County, Pa. Mrs. Huffaker is the owner of two show horses, one of which she plans to show in Dallas this fall. She is a professional horse trainer.

Saddle Tramps Ride

The Helotes Saddle Tramps are spreading the word about their Big Barbecue slated for next Saturday, October 7, at Logan

Park between 4 and 7 p.m. Members have been putting on riding exhibitions at large Northside community centers, promoting the sale of tickets which are $1 for adults for the Barbecue supper and 75 cents for children. Money, of course, will go to obtain an arena for the riders.

Harts Have Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Dunaway—Sonny and Jane—of Houston visited Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hart recently while their co-ed daughter, Jane, was returning to Trinity University.

Scenic Loop Playground Sales

Jack Blecher has bought Frank Riley's place on Hilltop Drive. It's that brown house which overhangs Twelve-Foot (Roosevelt Dam), and is visible from Scenic Loop Road since it got a new white trim. Mr. Blecher operates a restaurant in a Broadway drugstore.

James L. Gentry, a San Antonio School teacher, has recently purchased the former summer home of Dr. Harris Smalley on Lookout Mountain. It is of a charming simulated log construction.

Both real estate transactions were handled by Dewey Hart, realtor.

Stanley's Here

Mrs. W. W. LeSturgeon, Bandera Road, entertained last Tuesday with a Stanley party, one of a series that has been given in Helotes recently.

Home on Leave

George Ayala, airman 3rd class, visited his family on Scenic Loop recently. Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, is his stomping grounds these days.

Medina Lake Boosters

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Scott's Servicenter at Medina, have claimed the Lake for home since they opened there in October, 1946. He joined Humble Oil and Refinery Company twenty years before that and saw most of Texas while helping to manufacture gasoline and its byproducts.

After the second World War, they sold their home in Ingleside and opened a service station in Uvalde for a couple of years. They bought their present corner

Give the P-TA an 'A' for Their Fair

HORROR HOUSE interior looked like this, a scene that none of the visitors to the Horror House got to see because it was kept dark. Only Photographer Dade Rayfield's flash camera revealed this scene. Chief Monster David Bailey is at left, with his assistant at right. That the girls were shivering with delight is shown in their faces.

CUSTOMERS FOR the fortune telling booth were attracted by Bob Mikel, left, with the moustache, and Mrs. Louise Nottingham in authentic gypsy costume. Inside the booth, revealing the future for all who crossed her palm with silver for the P-TA, was Mrs. Clea Mikel.

PONY RIDES loaned by Roy Akers also ranked high in popularity with the very young. School students — and adults — took delight in dunking Harvey Mayfield, P-TA president, and Richard Everett, Helotes school principal, who took turns getting pitched at. A well-aimed throw dropped them into a vat of water. Proceeds from the fair will pay for classroom equipment, said Mrs. Nottingham, publicity chairman.

IN SPITE of the looks on the faces these young customers leaving the Horror House it was one of the most popular attractions of the P-TA Fun Fair. Door prize winners Saturday were: Mrs. Wilbur Davis, electric coffee pot; Mrs. Avy Gost, electric drill; James Logan, transistor radio. Harry Toepperwein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Toepperwein, was awarded a prize for selling the most tickets to the fair. Sandra Skell sold the second highest number.

Along Our Route

Rockport, Tex.
Sept. 19, '61

Dear Sir:

I am sending a check to cover a year's subscription to the Helotes ECHO as we are homeowners there, for which we were very thankful due to the visit of Carla to our home here.

We just refugeeed to Home Helotes and am just now returning here to find our home in good condition, though some of our neighbors had great damage.

My chief complaint is Carla took all the fishing piers, all the way from Corpus to Galveston—so fishing is out till someone builds new ones.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Otto Galm

Experts to Teach Disaster Survival

Who wouldn't spend four Monday nights to save a life—probably his own, at that?

Here's your chance. Beginning next Monday night at 7 p.m., civil defense training will be offered to all adults who wish to attend the 3-hour sessions at Helotes Elementary School. Teenagers are welcome if they have completed high school. The course will continue until October 23.

Fifty people signed up for the course at the meeting last week. However, L. G. Hansen, coordinator of Helotes Civil Defense, estimates that at least 80 persons will take the training which will stand them in good stead in case of natural disaster, such as the recent Carla produced, as well as in event of atomic attack in this area.

The training will be under the leadership of Marvin Heskow, John Marshall High science teacher and official defense teacher. He will have at least four assistants at each meeting. Monday, he will have the help of Marvin Finto and Andy Cobb, two Northside teachers. Professionals from Fort Sam Houston will also be here.

Classes will be held in the Cafetorium of the school from 7 to 10 p.m. Four topics will be considered, with a practical demonstration of what must be done under each phase. These include how to build a shelter, and then, how to follow through. Fire fighting, first aid, and the proper items to acquire for stocking a shelter will be discussed.

Civil defense to combat injury from conventional and

Firemen's Ball Set For Tonight at 8

Tonight at eight—grab your date. It'll be a Ball at John Floore's—the Fire Department's Ball.

Johnny Maxwell and his Western Swing Band will keep the tunes lively until midnight. A rifle will be given away.

Whatever comes in will go out to pay for that Fire House that looks so reassuring to everyone interested in the Helotes area. At least, it will help reduce the indebtedness.

Ed Faust, general chairman of the dance, has made arrangements to make the dance a big success. It'll be a Ball, for sure, he promises. Donations are $1 per person.

HAM SUPPER was served in the Helotes school cafeteria. These are just a few of the many who were served during the supper hour. Residents of the area turned out almost unanimously for the annual fund-raising carnival on Saturday, Sept. 23.

The Great Fault

In our time the Helotes hills have always been here. In our time they always will be here. They are the major feature of the landscape upon which we live, and a major attraction for those who come to the Helotes area.

In geological time, it's a different story. Millions of years ago where we live was under a sea or an arm of a sea. The sea water was filled, as it is now, with big and little and minute creatures, many with shells. The limestone of which the Helotes hills are composed is little more than the empty shells and the skeletons of those watery creatures, piled up in countless numbers and to great depths.

Then the sea receded or the land was thrust up above its surface by great internal convulsions of the cooling planet. The flat, wet, featureless land began to dry.

In one of those convulsions, one which happened comparatively recently in geological time, a great crack split across the face of what is now Texas, extending from Del Rio on the Southwest, up through Brackettville, Helotes, Boerne, New Braunfels, San Marcos, Austin and east of Dallas.

This crack, still there, is called by modern geologists the Balcones Fault.

It was a shippage along the Balcones Fault many thousands of years ago that uplifted the area now known as the Texas Hill Country. Before, this area had been as flat and low-lying as the country east of San Antonio.

The streams in the uplifted area were accelerated by being lifted up, and they began to erode rapidly the adjacent land. Topsoil was washed away, and then the streams began to cut into the limestone deposits. Wind and rain aided the erosion process. The complete Edwards limestone stratum was washed away, although only a few miles away at San Antonio it still exists, lying 600 feet beneath the surface.

Eventually, "hills" were carved out of the eroded face of the land. Helotes, at the edge of the hills, sits squarely upon the great fault. But this fact is nothing to get worried about. Just give thanks for all this geological history that produced the hills we enjoy.

A woman motorist jumped out of her car after a collision with another car and shouted at the driver, "Why don't you people watch where you are driving? You're the fourth car I've hit this morning!"

Helotes Continues Help Offered Port O'Connor

Citizens and visitors of Helotes who contributed toward the $1000 cash fund sent last week from here to Port O'Connor for immediate relief will be gratified to know how the natives of that port city are making progress on the long, road back. Hill country people find themselves taking a continuing interest in this coastal area which was so hard hit by the hurricane.

As word of progress made there reaches here, the Echo will report the facts. Clothing, bedding and other necessities were distributed there by the Salvation Army, and a great quantity of supplies also went out from Helotes, directly from one Texan to another.

Before Hurricane Carla struck with savage fury, the town of Port O'Connor was heading toward prosperity. The population was nearing the one thousand mark. A number of new homes had been recently built. Barrack buildings from Matagorda island had been brought in and were in the process of being transformed into comfortable living quarters.

A federal project, installing a concrete breakwater along the bay front, was nearing completion. Street lights were installed. The tourist centers were improving their facilities, and the people were talking about the growth and development that appeared certain.

Then the fateful day of September 11 came, and Carla's devastating eye roamed over Matagorda island and Port O'Connor. The quickly rising tide was a merciful warning, and the population heeded it. They evacuated their homes and town little knowing at the time what disaster lay ahead, and most of them left with only the clothes they were wearing. Then they fearfully waited at a distance while Carla stalled, and seemed unable to make up her mind where to go.

At 1 p.m. Monday, the hurricane came roaring into land. Within a few hours the surrounding country was reduced to rubble and kindling. Wind and water and battering masses of piers joined forces to flatten out the town. Nine out of every ten homes, trailers, motel units, concessions, were completely destroyed, and the few weary, surviving units were so badly damaged that it is doubtful if they are worthy of repair.

The people of Port O'Connor lost their homes, their furniture, their clothes, some of them half their cattle, many of them their boats, and all of them most of

Mexican Theme Used

At Lutheran Banquet

Eighty-five women and children recently attended the banquet given by the A.L.C.W. for L.Y.A. members in Zion Lutheran Church parish hall. A Mexican dinner was served and the hall was decorated with bright flowers carrying out a Mexican theme.

A table prayer was offered by Mrs. Louise Galm, president of A.L.C.W. Betty Gimbel gave a welcome and the program was supervised by Mrs. Lucille Griener.

Pastor James Heinke, son of the Rev. H. H. Heinke who was a former pastor of Zion Lutheran Church of Helotes, spoke. Other highlights included fun songs, the Doll Song by Marilyn Goodwin, The Chipmunk Song by four L.Y.A. girls, accordion numbers by Doris Adams, and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" sung by six boys. Mrs. Helen Michel gave the closing speech.

Plans were announced also for Youth Day, October 8. Zion Lutheran Church of Castroville has been invited to send youth to Helotes for Christian Fellowship, according to Mrs. Margie Hutchins, church reporter.

everything. But their spirit has not been crushed. They have already recovered from the initial staggering blow. They are indeed grateful that not one of them was killed or drowned or suffered severe injury.

They have the will and determination to return to what Carla left them, and start all over again, and rebuild better homes. After all, the older residents have been through this terrifying experience three or more times in their generation. But they hope and pray that Carla and her bewitched children will stay out of their area for many years to come.

Five couples belonging to the Country Hoppers square danced with Buster Brown calling at the latter's home and dance pavilion on Loretta Street, San Antonio.

Those who took part in the Western party were Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Stacy, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mikel, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Spalding and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nottingham.

The Hoppers plan to return the invitation to the city folks to come to Helotes in the near future. Meanwhile, they have issued an invitation to anyone who wants to visit to come see them dance in the Youth Building on Saturday nights.

Child Dancers Dress

Four girls and four boys, will be seen square dancing at Leon Valley and Fiesta San Jacinto events. They have chosen a costume for the boys of blue jeans with a white blouse and a sash to match the bright skirts of the girls dancers. The girls will also wear white blouses. These are part of the group which has studied square dancing with Mrs. Avey Gost. Mrs. Darrell Spalding will do the calling.

A Penny's Worth

By Penny MacAllister

New in John Marshall this year is the Dean of Girls, Mrs. Mary Fisher. She offers, for the high school girls, consultation ranging from college and careers to personal problems.

A number of girls from the Helotes area belong to the Ramblinettes, the John Marshall pep squad. Traveling to every game, the girls do much toward boosting school spirit and scores.

Some of these Ramblinettes are Paulette Swift, Linda Hopwood, Cheryl Nelson, Cynthia DeBord, Nelia DeBord, Martha Martinez, Dora Mayfield, Sherry Swope, Judy Haley, Barbara Hopwood, Rita Brauchle and Gay Braun.

Several new courses have been added to the John Marshall curriculum. Among them are: French, English history, second-year Latin, business English, home and family living, advanced chemistry and third-year Spanish.

Yearbooks picturing the '60-'61 school year arrived Friday, Sept. 15. The annuals, better known as The Horn, were distributed at a sock hop following the Miller-Marshall football game.

Joe Aguiar, a Marshall graduate, was married to Susie Caballero in San Antonio's St. Mary Margaret Catholic Church the morning of Sept. 15.

Last year's Marshall graduates from the Helotes area include a number who are now continuing their studies or holding jobs.

Tex Nichols is studying English at San Antonio College night school and holding a job at Seabey's during the day. Tex plans to attend Texas A&I after he has completed his course of study at SAC.

Bob Moss is another Marshall graduate attending SAC where he is studying business administration. He also plans to continue his studies at A&I.

Clifton Hoff is basic training in the Navy with Company 282 in San Diego. He was due in Helotes this week for a leave of two weeks. He will return to San Diego, to spend fourteen weeks, where he will study to become an electrician's mate.

Joe Wallace has a full schedule at San Antonio College now. He is studying history, English, sociology, trigonometry, algebra, chemistry, and physical education. He will continue his studies at The University of Texas later.

There were a lot of happy seniors the night of Sept. 19 as senior rings were presented. Those in this area receiving rings were: Jan Ann Nichols, Jack Braman, Rita Brauchle, Butch Brown, Charley Davis, Barbara Hopwood, Juanita Madla, Bert Maldonado, Jess Mayfield, Margie Penfold, Ann Rousseau, Leslie Schott, Wayne Sterzenback, and Penny MacAllister.

In closing, I leave you with the following worthy thought: "Nothing is impossible, if you are the one who doesn't have to do it."

A person never gets well from a grudge by continually nursing one.

George Chambers to Play At Cliff Benefit Dance

A benefit dance will be held September 30 at 2 p.m. at Braun Hall with music by George Chambers and the County Gentlemen. Chambers is a popular Western artist and a graduate of Northside High School, now John Marshall.

A $1 donation will be earmarked for Operations Cliff.

The public is invited.

Lydia Trotta Becomes Bride of Patrick Buckley

The wedding of Miss Lydia May Trotta and Patrick Mark Buckley took place at a nuptial Mass Saturday in St. Paul's Catholic Church in San Antonio. The Rev. Joseph P. Buckley, the bridegroom's uncle, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of

Mrs. A. Schwarz Dies in Boerne

Mrs. Anna Pfeiffer Schwarz, born in Boerne 81 years ago, died there, Wednesday, September 20, following an extended illness. She has a son and daughter living in Helotes as well as several grandchildren.

Funeral services were held last Friday at the St. Helena Episcopal Church in Boerne with the Rev. Joseph L. Sheldon, Jr., officiating. Burial was in the Boerne cemetery.

She is survived by four daughters. They are Mrs. Max (Lottie) Toepferwein of Bandera Road, Helotes; Mrs. Alvina Tibbit, San Antonio; Mrs. Ella Sabra, Boerne; and Mrs. Morene Ison, San Antonio.

Her three sons are Walter Schwarz of Bandera Road, Helotes; and Max and Lorenz Schwarz both of Boerne.

She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alma Saathoff of San Antonio, and Mrs. Olga Richter of Boerne.

In addition she leaves twenty-six grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

The sympathy of the community is with the bereaved family.

Steve Trotta, Sr., of Helotes and the late Mrs. (Margaret) Trotta. She was given in marriage by her father.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Buckley of San Antonio.

Carrying a cascade bouquet of white roses and orchids, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt flowed into a sweep train. A beautifully jeweled crown held her illusion veil.

Miss Loretta Burns was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Beatrice Jancke and Miss Patricia Gerth. Lyndelle Buckley was flower girl and Jack Kenworthy, ringbearer.

Charles D. Buckley assisted as best man. Jimmy Whitherspoon was groomsmen. Ushers included Edward A. Buckley, Jr., and Steve Trotta, Jr.

A reception was held in the Augusta House.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckley will be at home at 219 Kipling after a wedding trip to New Orleans.

It Was a Real Party

The Women's Club voted at their meeting recently to contribute $10 to the Salvation Army for relief in the Hurricane Carla district.

The meeting was a gala party with cute games, and gifts being exchanged. Mrs. A. H. Ochs, Jr., program chairman, and the hostesses, Mrs. Buddy Hartman and Mrs. F. W. McBryde deserve a vote of thanks.

Tour to Ranch To Be Tuesday

Invitations were received this week by local soil conservationists to attend an all-day tour to view range conditions next Tuesday and to elect a supervisor in a wind-up ceremony at Raymond Russell Park.

Under the co-sponsorship of the Alamo Soil Conservation District and the farm and ranch committee of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, the tour will begin at 9:30 a.m. Those going will meet at the corner of Culebra and Potranco roads. They will leave from there to go to the E. M. Stevens Ranch, 22 miles west of the Medina County line. Mr. Stevens has 2005 acres in his ranch, 210 in cropland, 280 in pasture, and 525 in rangeland. Mr. Stevens grazes a herd of 80 registered Angus.

Those attending will be guests, noon, of Mrs. Stevens who will serve a barbecue and have a short program.

They will also survey 3,354 acres under the supervision of the Southwest Agriculture Institute. They will see improved pastures, chemically treated brushlands, and heavily grazed areas.

Bill McReynolds, Farm news director of WOAI radio and TV will be master of ceremonies.

The group will return by Highway 281 to attend election of a supervisor at Raymond Russell Park at 4 p.m.

Rieger to Display Boat at Floore's

It'll be Marineland at John Floore's Country Store this week end . . . as a fifteen-foot Fiberglass Magnolia boat goes on display in Helotes. The boat, which is from Rieger Marine, Bandera Road, has a 40-horse power motor.

It is ideal for use on inland waters such as Medina Lake, and officials of Rieger Marine invite the boating public to stop by Floore's to see it.

500-Pound Russian Boar Shot Near San Geronimo

A 500-pound Russian boar that had raided the Gallagher and Lytle ranches was killed Wednesday evening by a four-man hunting party. Latta Martinez of San Geronimo has reported. The 12- or 13-year-old giant hog had killed about forty to fifty goats on the Lytle ranch and at least thirty to forty more on the Gallagher ranch.

The telling shot was fired by E. G. Pope. Others participating were Charley Kidd and Doug Carmichael. Dogs handled by Lloyd Montgomery, employed at the Gallagher ranch, flushed the boar. Only the fact that it had recently been injured by an even larger boar made it possible for hunters to get within shooting distance, Martinez said.

Twelve or fifteen hunting parties previously had tried to bring it down.

Marshall High Rams Near Conference Play

John Marshall takes a breather before opening Conference play in 13AAA next Friday on the grounds of Robert E. Lee High against the Volunteers. The open date will allow for extra workouts which might prove the turning point in this season's competition.

One point delivered the victory to the Beeville Trojans last Friday night when they squeaked past John Marshall's Rams, 7-6, at the stadium here.

Fullback Kyle Munsker's one-yard plunge up the middle in the first period ended a 68-yard drive for Beeville, and gave the visitors their only touchdown. Gerald Garcia came off the bench to kick the point that turned the tide against victory-hungry John Marshall.

Mike Sederberg, Ram quarterback, went a yard through the middle in the second period, capping a 45-yard march. With the needed touchdown clinched, the Rams' end sweep was stopped short.

Tommy Corrigan, Marshall end, grabbed a fumble in the third period to stop Beeville on the Marshall one-yard line, keeping the score respectable.

According to Ralph Swift, chief of the Fire Department, which is sponsoring the course, survival of children who may be at school at disaster time will also be considered. Routes they will take and actions on the part of their parents will be thoroughly explained.

Mr. Hansen, a lieutenant-colonel in the Texas State Guard, explains that this training is the beginning of a program for survival which will be conducted continuously here. He will be working in cooperation with Louis Mann, Bexar County Director of Civil Defense.

There is, of course, no charge for this training. The Fire Department is providing baby sitters at the school for those who wish to bring small children Monday night.

Among those who indicated last week that they are intending to participate are the following:

Conference play facing the Rams will be rugged. They will open against the vigorous eleven of Robert E. Lee which dumped the Douglas MacArthur Brahmas recently, 25-10. But Coach Maddox' boys have been showing a growing spark which might mean that they will find the winning combination.

Fans will be there, regardless, as will the Marshall Ramblerettes, who have been doing an outstanding job in the face of three winless starts.

First Social Worker: "I've figured out a way to combat juvenile delinquency."

Second Ditto: "Great! What's your idea?"

First Ditto: "Interest the kids in bowling. That way you get them off the streets and into the alleys."

Hunters Can Get Started

Antelope hunters should be packed and ready, for this week-end marks the opening of the season. Those who prefer other game, as well as the big ones, should mark these official hunting season dates for Texas.

They are:

Oct. 1 through 7—Antelope in West Texas.

Oct. 7 through December 5—The south zone mourning dove season. The north zone season closes Oct. 30.

Nov. 3 through Jan. 1—Goose season.

Nov. 16 through Dec. 31—Turkey, whitetailed deer and javalina.

Nov. 18 through Dec. 17—Duck season.

Dec. 1 through 8—Mule deer in West Texas.

Dec. 1 through Jan. 16—General quail season. In some counties, however, the quail season probably will open from two to four weeks earlier. Quail seasons in regulatory authority counties will be set Oct. 6 by the Game and Fish Commissions.

Stamp to Honor Western Painter

A four-cent commemorative stamp of much interest to collectors will go on sale October 5, Mrs. Matilda Barham, Helotes postmaster, has announced.

The stamp commemorates the 100th anniversary of the birth of Frederic Remington, distinguished American painter, sculptor, and author. Featured on the stamp is a portion of Remington's oil-painting entitled "The Smoke Signal." He is especially noted for his portrayal of early day Indian and Western scenes.

"Brother—they ought to put that one in jail!"

Why all the carelessness, bad manners, outright law breaking? Because someone's in a hurry or just isn't thinking? Pretty silly reasons for flirting with death. Nearly 40,000 died last year in traffic accidents, many because good drivers drove recklessly just once. Keep your head!

Help stop senseless killing. Drive safely.
