Three Dances To Be Held En Route

A once-familiar scene will come to life this weekend as cowboys "round'em up and head'em out" on a Longhorn drive from Helotes heading northwest 30 miles to Bandera.

The Longhorns are from the YO Ranch of Mountain Home and the Hicks Ranch of Bandera, among others.

Sponsored by the City of Bandera, the event will raise money for the March of Dimes during its 50th anniversary of birth defect prevention and research.

The Longhorn cattle - 40 head plus 25 roping steers - will be brought to Helotes today, Thursday, Oct. 20, and penned in the pasture at Bandera Road and Scenic Loop.

A party and dance will be held at Floore Country Store tonight with music by Clay Blaker and the Texas Honkytonk Band.

On Friday morning at 9 a.m. a trailhead ceremony will be held in front of Floore Store, featuring officials from Helotes, Bandera, San Antonio and Bexar County. The March of Dimes child ambassadors also will attend.

Radio Station Y-100, one of the co-sponsors of the cattle drive, will broadcast from Floore's Friday morning beginning at 6:30 a.m.

The drive will stop for lunch at Pete's Cafe in San Geronimo and then go on to Kelley's Shamrock near Pipe Creek for the night stop. A barbecue and dance will be held at Kelley's Shamrock with music by Blaine Keith and Sundown.

The lunch stop Saturday will be at McCall's Flea Market west of Pipe Creek.

The welcoming ceremony in Bandera is expected to begin at about 5 p.m., with the cattle being driven up Main Street. A party and dance will be held Saturday night at the Cabaret. With music by Clay Blaker and the Texas Honkytonk Band.

Loop 1604 To Be Widened

The proposed improvement of Loop 1604 in northwest Bexar County has been cleared for detailed plan preparation. The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation made the recent announcement.

The project, which extends from one mile west of Interstate 10 to one mile west of Texas 16 (Bandera Highway), will expand the existing facility into a four lane divided highway with continuous frontage roads. Overpasses are planned for John Peace Drive, Chase Hill Boulevard, Babcock Road, the proposed extension of Tezel Road, and Hausman Road.

The clearance came from the Federal Highway Administration, based upon completion of the public hearing process. A public hearing was held June 23 at the University of Texas at San Antonio.

As soon as plan work is completed the project will be scheduled for construction. The project's estimated cost is $15,143,000. It is anticipated to be contracted in early 1990.

UTSA Researcher Wins Award

Research on a device that can detect toxic substances has earned a researcher from The University of Texas at San Antonio a special award from the U.S. Army. Dr. James P. Chambers, an associate professor in the Division of Life Sciences, is one of only five scientists nationwide to receive a Distinguished Service Award in 1988.

Brig. Gen. Peter D. Hidalgo, commander of the U.S. Army Chemical Research, Development and Engineering Center, presented the award to Chambers Monday.

Chambers' award honors his efforts to develop a system known as a biosensor which can detect toxic substances using certain proteins contained in the brain of humans and animals. These proteins, called receptors, are located on the surface of nerve cell membranes. When the receptors are exposed to various types of toxins, the toxins bind to them, triggering various chemical reactions.

The Army is concerned about the dangers of chemical and biological weapons, and hopes that Chambers' work will lead to the development of receptors capable of identifying poisons on the battlefield.

Chambers said the Army is also very interested in potential peacetime uses for biosensors.

Although the receptors that Chambers uses in his research chiefly react to neurotoxins, he anticipates that other types of receptors could be isolated for medical purposes such as diagnosing certain diseases. For example, insulin-sensitive receptors could be used to monitor sugar levels in the bloodstream, alerting diabetics when they need insulin or even triggering special equipment to automatically administer the necessary dose of insulin. Other receptors may be found that react to pre-cancerous proteins in cells, enabling early detection and treatment of cancer.

Red Ribbons Get Council Ok

Helotes City Council approved Thursday night a resolution proclaiming Oct. 23-30 as "Red Ribbon Week" in Helotes along with the rest of the nation. Everyone is asked to wear a red ribbon during the week to demonstrate a commitment against drugs.

The Taft High School choral department will present its first concert of the 1988-89 school year on Thursday, Oct. 27. The concert in the school auditorium will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Also approved during the short session were resolutions encouraging all Texans to vote for Proposition One — the "Good Roads" amendment — in the Nov. 8 general election, and approving the cattle drive through Helotes on Oct. 20 and 21.

Ken Bryant, chairman of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission, told the Council that the Commission is working on a Master Plan for Helotes based on a 20 or 30-year projection of growth in the area.

Mayor Vivian Hultz announced that the March of Dimes will conduct a "jail or bail" fund-raising drive here on Saturday, Nov. 12, and that all of the Council "has been volunteered to be jailed."

Absent from the Oct. 13 meeting were Council Members Niels Jensen and Verna Thompson. A quorum of Leonard Hill, Tom Hopper and Ruddy Loeffler were present.

Postponed was an executive session on the agenda to interview an applicant for the Administrative Assistant position, and to discuss hiring two part-time patrolmen for the Helotes Police Department.

UNDERSTANDING SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE

Physician Assignment

By James Roosevelt,
Chairman, National Committee to Preserve
Social Security and Medicare

There are many advantages to using Medicare "participating" physicians. First, your responsibility is limited to 20 percent of Medicare's "reasonable charge," because the doctor is not allowed to charge you additional fees—or "balance bill" you.

Second, the physician submits claims to Medicare for you.

Roosevelt

To be "participating" means the doctor accepts assignment on 100 percent of Medicare patients' claims. Even if physicians accept assignment on some claims, they're called "non-participating." If your doctor is a non-participating physician and he or she does not agree to accept assignment in your case, you'll probably be charged additional fees over the 20 percent co-payment. Few supplementary private insurance plans cover these balance bills. Another negative is that you often are required to file your own claims. If they're denied, it is up to you to appeal rather than your doctor.

Although it's estimated physicians will balance bill beneficiaries by over $3 billion in 1988, the Administration does not think assignment should be mandatory. Instead, it has implemented, a voluntary program offering incentives to doctors to become participating physicians. So far, this program has had little visible impact. About 22 states have introduced legislation in the last few years and four have passed some form of mandatory assignment—Massachusetts having the most comprehensive law so far.

Free brochures about the organization and a copy of its newspaper are available by writing to: National Committee, 2000 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

Mr. Roosevelt, the eldest son of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, worked as Secretary to the President in the White House when Social Security was implemented, and was a member of Congress when Medicare was enacted into law.

In 1983, a Florida schoolboy found a bag of diamonds on a railroad track while looking for his missing bicycle. The jewels remained unclaimed for over a year and were then auctioned off for $350,000 which went to the boy.

About Investments

By RON McMULLAN
IDS Personal
Financial Planner

Q. I've been reading lately about the investment people getting in trouble after dealing with "junk" bonds. An investment advisor has been trying to convince me to buy a mutual fund that invests in junk bonds, but everything in the news scares me. Should I stay away from the fund?

A. As is often the case in the investment world, the use of one term — in this instance, "junk" bond — in a broad sense makes things a little confusing.

A bond that has a rating of BB or lower from the major rating agencies is considered a junk bond; such bonds are perhaps more appropriately known as high yield bonds. These bonds are issued by companies that do not have a long history of sales or earnings, or by companies with uncertain credit strength. Recently, you've heard about junk bonds being issued to finance some corporate takeovers; in most of these cases, the bonds have received low ratings because it is unclear whether the assets of the company being taken over would be sufficient enough to finance the bond offering.

In any case, so-called "junk" bonds offer higher yields than investment grade bonds — because they are riskier and their prices are more volatile. It's the old story; you assume higher risk for a higher potential reward.

A number of income-oriented mutual funds have such bonds in their portfolio. These funds sometimes offer higher yields than funds holding primarily investment grade bonds, but their share prices also may be more volatile and their principal more at risk.

Investment policies differ from fund to fund, but with many of them, high yield bonds comprise only a portion of the fund's portfolio, and even then, the fund may hold only those high yield bonds that the fund's manager considers to be relatively low-risk. In addition, many funds can switch to bonds with higher ratings during periods when high yield bonds may be especially risky (such as when the economy is in a recession or growing slowly).

Still, an investment in a high-yield bond fund is not for everyone. Your financial advisor should explain to you the specific risks involved in investing in such a fund, and you can decide whether the fund would fit in your personal investment portfolio.

Q. Please explain the difference between a mutual fund with a load and one with no load.

A. The difference seems to be getting more and more complicated, but it's an important difference.

A mutual fund with a "load" is one that has a sales charge, usually taken out when you purchase shares in the fund. In the past few years, "rear-end load" funds also have become popular; these funds impose a deferred sales charge that you pay when you redeem your shares. Rear-end loads are usually charged on a sliding scale, with the fee normally dropping one percent a year; if you own the fund for more than five years, the charge is eliminated.

We should not generalize, however, because there is a wide variety of ways that mutual funds calculate sales charges, depending, among other things, on whether you make a lump sum investment or purchase shares over a period of time. The most common charge is around five percent, although charges can legally be higher. Always check a fund's prospectus carefully to determine the load, and ask your financial planner to explain it to you.

"No-load" funds, as you might have guessed, do not impose a sales charge. It would seem that you would be better off not paying a sales charge, but the decision is not always that easy.

In many cases, no-load funds are purchased directly from a fund company, with no contact with an individual representative from the company. This may be fine for the investor who is willing and able to make his or her own investment decisions. On the other hand, load funds are often distributed by companies that, as part of your purchase, offer the services or a representative or financial planner who can help guide your investment decisions, both before and after the initial sale. Whether that financial expertise is important to you is an individual decision.

One final word. The sales charge is not the only charge involved when buying shares in a mutual funds, be sure to compare the charges above and beyond the sales loads.

Northside Dedicates Holmgreen High

The John Holmgreen Junior-Senior High School was dedicated by the Northside District Thursday night, Oct. 20. The school is located in the South Texas Medical Center.

Northside School District dedicates one of its new schools, named after prominent San Antonio businessman and educator, John C. Holmgreen, on Oct. 20. The public is invited to attend.

The John C. Holmgreen Junior/Senior High School is located in the heart of the South Texas Medical Center. The school's namesake was the chief executive officer of Alamo Iron Works until his retirement in 1987. He currently teaches business management at the University of Texas at San Antonio.

Holmgreen was instrumental in the development of the Northside Health Careers High School which opened five years ago. He led the San Antonio Medical Foundation's outreach to the education community which culminated in donation of 13 acres of Medical Center land to Northside School District and seed money for creation of the health magnet high school.

the Northside Children's Center, Psychological Services, Holmgreen Jr. Sr. High School (formerly the Northside Opportunity Center) and the Health Careers High School.

Built at a cost of $2.2 million, Holmgreen Jr.-Sr. High School is a 48,000 sq. ft. facility which has 11 classrooms, a science lab, reading, computer and art rooms, and a library. All academic courses required for grades 6 through 12 and for high school graduation are taught at Holmgreen.

Holmgreen Jr.-Sr. High School meets the needs of those Northside students who can be better served away from their regular campus, usually for a temporary period of time. The goal of the instruction at Holmgreen is to teach social and academic skills so the student may return to, and be successful at, the "home school". Principal is Dr. Gary Martin.

John Holmgreen is a native of San Antonio. He began his career with Alamo Iron Works in 1942 after graduation from Southern Methodist University. He was elected to the Board of Directors in 1958, became president in 1969, and Chairman of the Board and CEO in 1977.

He serves on the Boards of Directors of Texas Employers Insurance, Employers Casualty, American Industries Trust, Valero Corp. and McCall Industries.

In 1980, forty years after earning his first college degree, Holmgreen completed Trinity University's graduate degree program.

Swedish Exhibit To Open Oct. 25

"Sweden and America 1638 — 1988: A History Celebrated" will be on display at The University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures from Oct. 25 through Dec. 11.

The exhibit, which documents the contributions Swedes, Swedish immigrants and Swedish Americans have made to America, consists of 12 large panels with photographs and text on both sides, with information on the New Sweden colony founded in 1638 in what is now Delaware, the immigration period and the present-day relationship between Sweden and America.

Approximately 1.25 million Swedes immigrated to the United States between the Civil War and World War I, according to the Swedish Council of America. The first Swedish settler in Texas, Sven Mangum Swenson, arrived in 1838. Swenson promoted Swedish immigration to Texas, and his uncle, Svante Palm, who moved to Texas in 1850, became known as one of the most learned men in Austin.

In April, 1988, King Gustav of

Sweden visited Texas to honor the contributions of Swedish Texans and to observe the 150th anniversary of the arrival of the first Swedish settler in Texas.

Rams Hope To Rebound Friday

Marshall hopes to rebound and add some pride to the high school football season when the Rams take on Del Rio Friday, Oct. 21, at Northside Stadium.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. in the District 30-5A game.

Marshall, 2-5 on the year, have a little more to worry about this game since Del Rio posted its first victory of the season last week, a 27-16 shocker over Jay.

"We sit up and take notice of everybody," said Marshall Coach David Visentine. "They've been a good running team in the past so that part of the game didn't surprise me."

Del Rio rushed for 177 yards against Jay and also connected on a 78-yard touchdown.

"We're pretty evenly matched with Del Rio," Visentine said. "We'll try to have a ball control offense and keep the ball away from them. We need to score every opportunity we get. We don't want to waste any scoring opportunities."

Visentine was referring, in part, to the 7-6 loss last week to Eagle

Pass. The Rams got inside the 20 three times but came away with only one touchdown, a six-yard run by Terrance Porter. The Rams were sacked beyond the 30 on one drive and came up short in a fourth-and-four situation.

"I think we were pretty evenly matched with Eagle Pass as the score is indicative of the game," Visentine said. "We had a chance to win it but we didn't. We have to take our lumps."

"Our defense played pretty well. They had not played as capable as they were most of the season but Friday night they played well." Marshall is 1-2 in District 30-5A play and have three games remaining on the season. Clark blasted the Rams, 31-9, the previous week.

"We're going to try and do our best the last three games," Visentine said. "I think the seniors would like to go out with the best record possible."

Roadrunners To Open Season Nov. 15

The University of Texas at San Antonio men's basketball team will play six games against teams that participated in NCAA post-season play last season according to a 1988-89 schedule released by Head Coach Ken Burmeister.

The Roadrunners will play NCAA Tournament qualifiers DePaul and North Texas on the road, while they will play two conference games against National Invitation Tournament participants — Arkansas-Little Rock and Georgia Southern.

In addition, UTSA will play home games against Texas Christian of the Southwest Conference on Dec. 2 in the Convocation Center, St. Mary's on Jan. 24 in the Mayor's Challenge Cup game at the HemisFair Arena, and Trinity on Dec. 5 in the Convocation Center.

UTSA opens the season with an exhibition game against the Turkey National Team, on Nov. 15 at home. The first regular season game is scheduled at home on Nov. 25 against Schreiner. The Roadrunners will once again play UT Arlington on the road, Nov. 28, and at home Dec. 22. UTSA will play North Texas in Denton, Dec. 8, and DePaul in Chicago, Ill. on Feb. 22.

UTSA closes the season with three consecutive home games against TAAC opponents — Hardin-Simmons, Feb. 25, Centenary, Mar. 2, and Houston Baptist, Mar. 4.

The TAAC Tournament will be played in Little Rock, Ark. on Mar. 7-9, with the final game televised live by ESPN.

Raiders To Take On Corpus Team

Taft travels to Corpus Christi Saturday, Oct. 22, to take on one of two King teams in a high school football game.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. in the non-district game.

King is 3-4, as is Taft, but King seems to be a little Jekyll and Hyde in its play.

"They're a talented team with a big and explosive offense," said Taft Coach Mike Haynes. "Potentially, they're a real good team. We could go down there and play the best team in South Texas or we could play the one which makes a lot of mistakes.

"I don't know what to expect from them."

Haynes said his staff has only seen three games of King either on film or in person. Interceptions seem to play a big part in their Jekyll and Hyde routine.

"If we catch them on the upswing, we could be in a lot of trouble," Haynes warned. "But they're mistake-prone at times and lose drives and field position."

King operates a run-and-shoot offense and play aggressively on defense with the aid of some 210-pound defensive ends and 200-pound linebackers.

Taft hopes it doesn't pull a self-destruct act either. The Raiders gave No. 1 ranked Holmes the roughest game of the season but wound up losing, 14-0. The Raiders outgained Holmes, 144-122, in total offensive yardage but the Raiders committed five turnovers. Taft is now 1-3 in 30-5A, Holmes is 3-0.

"We've been able to self-destruct at times this year," Haynes said. "We've played well at times but then we seem to fall apart at times. We beat ourselves as much as anything.

"We scored once but it was called back and then we stalled out at around the 20."

The game marked the return of Dyron Brodbeck who had been out with a leg injury. Brodbeck strained the leg last week but is expected to be "fine this weekend." The junior tailback gained 64 yards on 21 carries.

Volleyball Tourney Due

The University of Texas of San Antonio women's volleyball team, currently 22-4 on the season, will host UT El Paso, Houston Baptist and St. Edward's in the UTSA Volleyball Classic tournament on Oct. 21-22.

Dog Show Set For Sunday

Show dogs from across the country will show off in San Antonio for American Kennel Club championship points Sunday, Oct. 23.

The San Antonio Kennel Club has 1,711 entries from 126 breeds for its 122nd All Breed Dog Show and Mark O'Malley sat out the Holmes game but will be back at quarterback against King, according to Haynes. O'Malley's ankle was tender, Haynes said, and he wasn't up to full speed.

Reserve defensive lineman Paul Cantu is expected to miss the King game.

Reserve quarterback Bobby Sandoval, threw two touchdown passes to lead the Raiders over Del Rio, 28-14, in a District 30-5A game. Chris Lara caught the two scoring passes, for 71 yards and five yards. Eric Patterson scored on a 49-yard run and Chris Sanchez bulled in for a two-yard score.

UTEP will face Houston Baptist in the opening game of the tournament which is slated for 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 21. The Lady Roadrunners will be up against St. Edward's in their opening game at 4:30 p.m. on the same day.

Obedience Trial. Herb Hyatt of Helotes, show chairman, expects dogs from more than 30 states and from as far away as California and New York. A few rare Chinese Shar Pei are expected.

Admission to the show building is free.

USAA Towers Open

USAA recently opened its new Towers retirement condominiums near Fort Sam Houston. This photo was taken at the blessing of the 38-story building on Oct. 9. The participants are Dr. Buckner Fanning, H. Drake Leddy and Dr. E. Laurence Chalmers.

The "Texas Abandoned Motor Vehicle Act" which grants authority for the sale of these vehicles also provides to the purchaser a vehicle free and clear of all liens. This entitles the purchaser to register the vehicle and receive a certificate of title.

Popcorn was one of the treats enjoyed by the American colonists at their first Thanksgiving dinner. It was offered by Quadequina, brother of the Indian Massasoit.

Highway Jobs Open For Women

There are now job possibilities for women in the highway construction industry. The Highway Construction for Women program will be recruiting women for referral to highway construction jobs in the San Antonio area in October. These positions include form setters, concrete finishers, steel reinforcers, carpenters, truck drivers and general construction laborers.

The Highway Construction for Women program staff is interested in talking with women who may desire the new challenge of "non-traditional" work. Interested women should call on Monday, Oct. 31, only, (512) 227-8217, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and ask for the Highway Construction for Women program.

CARD OF THANKS

Thank you to the Helotes Area Volunteer Fire Department — especially Ron Binks and Maggie Grabhorn — for their quick response to a fire at the Henry Zumwalt home on Oct. 3. Their quick response and skilled efforts saved our home.

When the weather is excessively dry, it's a good idea to make sure your skin isn't, say dermatologists. The skin is our first line of defense against the elements. In hot, dry weather, the skin is simply not able to retain enough moisture to maintain a smooth, healthy texture.

For best skin care results, apply moisturizer several times daily: before going outdoors, after showering—avoid very hot water—and before going to bed. Areas such as hands, elbows, knees and heels may require more frequent treatment.

Lawyer Joins Quarry Fight

The group leading the fight against the rock quarry proposed for Helotes has hired an attorney to assist them. He is Philip S. Haag of the firm of Hooper and Haag in Austin. He has had experience with the Texas Air Control Board, the Texas Water Commission, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Attorney General's office.

Mrs. Shirley Cotton, chairman of the Helotes Environment and Land Preservation group, said that a second meeting for area residents has not been set.

Meanwhile every household in the area should write or otherwise contact every elected official having jurisdiction in Helotes and all the regulatory agencies.

Mrs. Cotton said the petition drive has been very successful.

She also said that HELP needs to raise $100 per household for attorney and other professional fees. Household members that already have made a contribution, should send the balance up to $100. The address is 11235 Javalin Trail, Helotes.

Firefighters Visit Schools

The Helotes Area Volunteer Fire Department visited schools during Fire Prevention Week to educate children about the dangers of fire. The Little Village School, Forest Hills Presbyterian Day School and Helotes Elementary all hosted the firefighters and their apparatus. At the Fire Department open house on Saturday, area residents received home safety literature as well as refreshments. Fire Chief Ron Binks also thanked the public for the success of the Department's bake sale two weeks ago, when $329 was raised for Fire Department equipment.

A large oak tree can give off almost 30,000 gallons of moisture a year.

Also Ladale York, Gatekeeper; Myrtle Robinson, Ceres; Thelma Schweppe, Pomona; Mary Whittaker, Flora; Mercedes Kiles and Annie Evans, Executive Committee; and Joseph Bambeck and Ladale and Peggy York, Youth Committee.

Bids Due On Engineering Building

The University of Texas System Board of Regents has approved the final plans and specifications for the new engineering building at The University of Texas at San Antonio at a total project cost of $12.9 million.

The Board of Regents also voted to approve the use of $12,020,000 from the Permanent University Fund bond proceeds for project funding.

The new engineering building will contain 70,800 gross square feet and will be located south of the present science building. The building will contain general lecture and classroom space, instructional laboratories, seminar and conference rooms, and faculty and division offices.

Bid specifications were released Oct. 16, with bids opening beginning Nov. 16. After the contract is awarded, construction should begin in January 1989 and take approximately two years to complete.

"This completes the process for the engineering building to go forward," said Dr. James W. Wagener, UTSA president.
