

ISSUE#10
NOV, 2025

As we welcome November, we find ourselves standing at the threshold of a year's end, a moment to pause, reflect, and look ahead with renewed purpose.

The final months of the year remind us how far we've come: the challenges we've faced, the victories we've celebrated, and the strength we've discovered along the way. Each experience has shaped us, preparing us for the promise of a new year filled with opportunity and growth.

November is more than just a bridge to year's end, it's a time of gratitude and grace.

It's a season to honor those who've served, to celebrate those who care, and to nurture hope for what's to come.

Honoring Our Veterans

November 11 marks Veterans Day, a time to recognize and thank all who have served in the United States Armed Forces. Their courage, sacrifice, and dedication to protecting our freedoms continue to inspire our work in healthcare and beyond.

This year, we are taking the opportunity to refocus our efforts on developing initiatives that better serve our veteran community, including wellness programs, mental health support, and resource access. We have already initiated our "Let's Talk" program, a peer support service offering confidential chat or phone conversations for veterans, service members, and anyone who just needs someone to talk to. Whether you're going through a tough time, doubting your ability for growth, or simply want to connect, we're here to listen.

Rebranding and Growing!

Announcing Our Rebrand: A New Name, the Same Powerful Mission

We are thrilled to announce that the Association of Minority Healthcare Professionals is now the Association of Empowered Healthcare Professionals (AEHP, Inc).

This change represents more than just a new name, it reflects our growth, our vision, and our ongoing commitment to creating a stronger, more inclusive community for all professionals. The word "Empowered" embodies our mission:

- Elevate professionals through education and opportunity
- Motivate meaningful leadership and collaboration
- Power the next generation of diverse and dynamic leaders

Our rebrand signifies a broader focus, one that continues to champion diversity, equity, and inclusion while expanding our reach to empower all professionals who strive to make a difference in their various fields.

Announcing Our CPD Accreditation

The Association of Empowered Healthcare Professionals is proud to announce that we are now officially CPD accredited!

This milestone marks a significant step forward in our mission to empower healthcare professionals through excellence, education, and lifelong learning.

As a CPD-accredited organization, our programs, events, and educational offerings now meet the highest standards of professional development, ensuring that every participant receives recognized, high-quality learning that contributes to their ongoing growth and professional success.

This accreditation reflects our commitment to:

Providing trusted, evidence-based education
Supporting professional advancement across all healthcare disciplines

Fostering a culture of continuous improvement and empowerment

We are excited about the new opportunities this opens for our members and partners. Stay tuned for upcoming CPD-accredited workshops, webinars, and learning events designed to help you enhance your skills, expand your knowledge, and make an even greater impact in your field.

Member Spotlight

Jennifer Barber is a U.S. Navy veteran with 11 years of service and a soon-to-be ECPI University graduate, earning her B.S. in Healthcare Administration next spring.

She's driven to advance health equity for underrepresented minorities and vulnerable populations, with a particular interest in compliance, regulatory excellence, and holistic health. A committed mentor to young adults and children, Jennifer blends mission-focused leadership with compassion, aiming to build safer, more culturally responsive care systems. She's also a proud mom of three daughters, ages 5, 4, and 2.

Jennifer Barber

