ODCT Newsletter 1 Year Anniversary

We must be willing and open to receive God, and whatever God's got for us, with an open heart. We must receive it. And therefore, when the nations here turned down the Word of God, there's heathens yonder that's ready to receive It. And the Gospel will go from this intellectual nation to the heathen that don't know right hand from left. And that's what's taking place right now. That's exactly. It's a leaving.

ONE -YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF NEWSLETTER TESTIMONY

Happy 1st Anniversary! With a grateful heart, we want to thank everyone who has supported and read our newsletters. This journey began as a vision from our Pastor Edmond Raphino in 2009, aimed at keeping believers engaged throughout the week by sharing church updates and testimonies to bless others. Now, in 2025, we're proud to see that same vision carried forward by the youth of ODCT.

Over the past year, we've been blessed to hear from many people across the world who are being uplifted by our newsletter. It's encouraging to know that so many are eagerly anticipating each issue and finding hope and inspiration through it. We're excited to continue this journey and thank you all for your support. Here's to many more years of sharing and growing together!

ODCT CHRONICLES:

OUR GATEWAY TO THE LATEST UPDATES

Br. Naully & the Seals Team have safely returned from Arkansas, bringing powerful testimonies of God's work among us. Our dear Br. Phanes Joseph from Haiti was blessed to visit Wildwood Tabernacle for the first time — the church firmly built on "Thus Saith the Lord". He was deeply moved by their testimony and honored to share a message with them, as well as fellowship with our elder, Br. Earl Martin. Now, he eagerly looks forward to testifying to the saints in Haiti about how God is moving in our midst.

Phileo vs. Agapao

Love

February arrives, and with it, love seems to dance in the air. It's in the warmth of a mother's embrace, the steady support of a father's hand, and the unbreakable bond between family and friends. But beyond the love we know—the love we give and receive—there exists a deeper, divine love. A love that surpasses all human understanding. There are two kinds of love: Phileo love and Agapao love. Phileo love is what we feel for our parents, our children, and our closest friends—it's love from the mind, a natural affection. But Agapao love? That is something far greater. It is love from the heart, a love so pure and selfless that it asks for nothing in return.

Some may wonder: What's the difference between the love I have for my mother and the love God has for me?

As message believers, we understand that Agapao love is the truest love of all. It is the love that led Christ to the cross—not because He had to, but because He chose to. In the message Earnestly Contending For The Faith That Was Once Delivered Unto The Saints, Brother Branham paints this contrast vividly: “Agapao love is of above. Just listen to this. Phileo love is what you have for your wife, your children: that's Phileo. Now, if someone insulted your wife, that kind of love would make you kill the man that insulted your wife. That's Phileo. But Agapao love would make you pray for his lost soul. That's the difference.” That is the power of Agapao love—it transforms vengeance into mercy, anger into prayer. It calls us to love even those who wrong us, just as Christ loved us in our imperfections.

And so, as we move through this season of love, let us strive not just for affection, but for Agapao love—the love that prays, forgives, and endures. A love that doesn't seek its own but gives itself freely, just as He did for us.
