Math (Nash)

On Wednesday, we will be taking the second attempt at iLEARN Checkpoint #2. We have been reviewing the material in small groups since the last test. This week we will also keep working through our current chapter over ratios, rates, and proportions.

Science (Nash)

We finished the Solar System chapter last week, so on Monday we will work on the chapter study guide. The test will be Tuesday, February 17th. We will also be completing an in-class project this week.

ELA (Baker)

Reading: This week, we continue reading our novel A Wrinkle in Time. As we read, we will focus on the skill of summarizing. We will also recognize our responsibility to speak the truth in love as we analyze two characters' interactions in the story.

Vocabulary Test: The students have their test on Monday. Please take some time to quiz your child on their vocab words. Their cards are in their zipper pouches.

English: We continue our unit on verbs this week.

Jar of Books Challenge: Please encourage your child to read this month! Our Read-a-Thon begins on Monday, Feb. 16th. Any books read will also count toward our Jar of Books. More information on the Read-a-Thon will be coming home soon.

Reading Buddies: We will make a craft and exchange valentines with our first-grade Reading Buddies this week. If your child could make or bring a card for their buddy, I know they would love it!

History (Newton)

History: We are going to study Nathan Hale and Benedict Arnold, two spies of the Revolutionary War before we wrap things up and sign the Treaty of Paris alongside Benjamin Franklin. There will be a test over the Revolutionary War on Wednesday, February 18. A study sheet will be given to the students next week.

Bible (Baker)

Bible: This week, we focus on the "Roof of Character" for the "House of Truth" we've been constructing in our classroom.

Memory Verse: The students will practice Proverbs 3:1-12 for the test on Friday. If you want to be blessed, have your child quote this to you! They're doing a fantastic job memorizing God's Word!
