The Peanuts Papers!

Hear Ye, Hear Ye!

4th Grade Math Message

This week 4th grade is finishing up our chapter on geometry. On Thursday we will design and create a polygon art picture using triangles. They may finish it over the weekend. Friday will be the Chapter 7 Test.

5th grade is working with decimals and the metric system of measurement. Test 11 will be on Wednesday this week.

Enjoy the three-day weekend!

~Mrs. Rejko

Language Arts A note from Mrs. Baker

Reading:

4th - We will review folktales, fables and parables this week. We will also discuss the differences between the three.

5th - The students will continue reading A Father's Promise this week. We will focus on what the Bible says about pride and how pride leads to the downfall of even the most powerful of nations and people.

Reading Journals: The journals are due on Tuesday. Please make sure your child is turning their journal in on time and that it is written according to the prompt given for the week. These journals are worth more points than regular homework assignments.

English:

4th - The students will continue learning about adjectives and adverbs.

5th - We will use English time for completing writing activities based on the novel from our reading class.

Spelling:

-4th and 5th test on Tuesday.

The 4th and 5th graders have finished the first round of our classroom Monopoly game! They earn spaces for turning in HW and showing responsibility during the class. We will have our reward day this Wednesday. The students may bring a small pillow or blanket, and I will provide the treats. Congratulations on a job well done!
