Math (Nash)

We will start a new chapter on measurement. We will be learning how to convert between customary and metric units. ILEARN Checkpoint #3 will be next week. It will cover ratios, proportions, and measurement.

Science (Nash)

We will continue working on our chapter over genetics and heredity. This is a new subject for many of the students and they seem to really be enjoying it! The last chapter test and the planetgram grades have been entered into FACTS, so check that out if these items didn't make it home.

ELA (Baker)

Reading: This week, as we read our novel, we'll explore the truth that we shouldn't set our sights on earthly heroes, but rather measure every hero against Jesus Christ.

Vocab Quiz: Monday- The students have their study guides in their binders. They can also access study games on Quizlet and Blooket.

Jar of Books: Thank you for supporting our Read-a-Thon this year! We far surpassed our monetary and minutes goals! This month, the students may have a break from reading for the Jar of Books. They do have the option to read chapter books for Warrior Bucks if they choose.

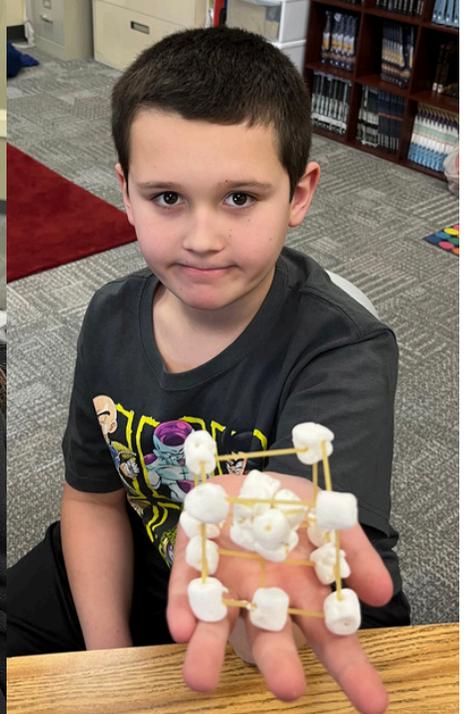

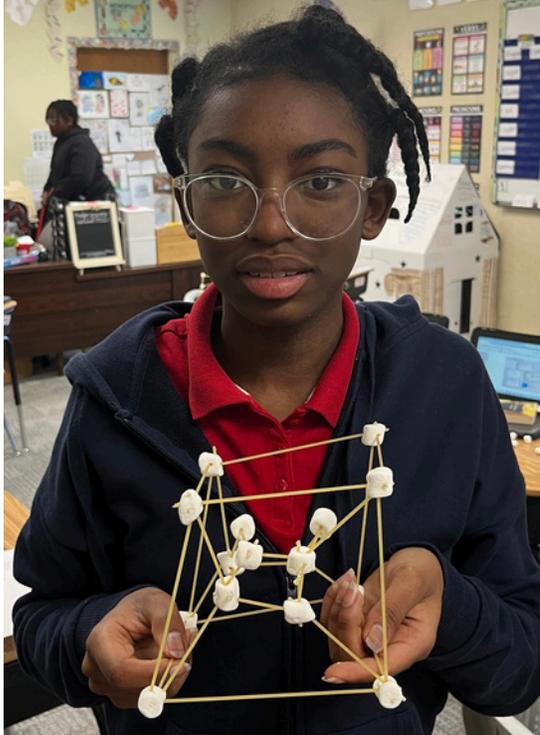

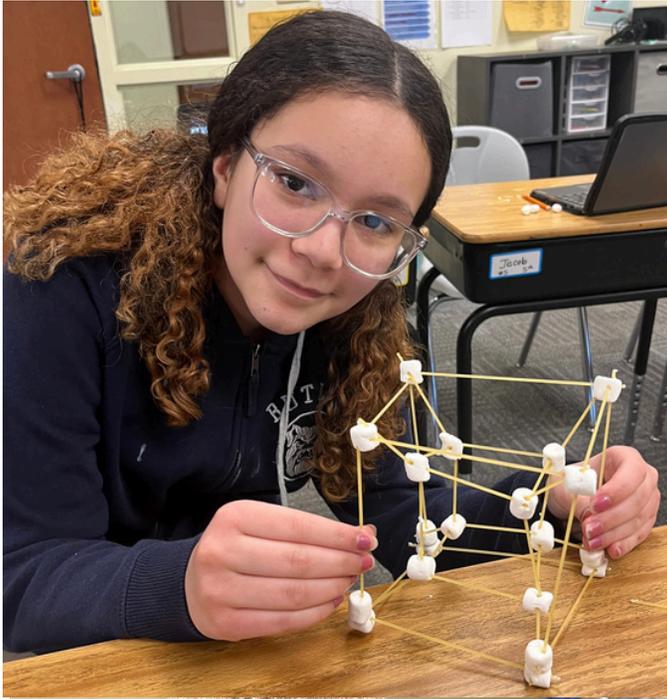

English: We will continue our unit on verbs. This week, we will review irregular verbs.
Word Study: Test on Tuesday over #11-20

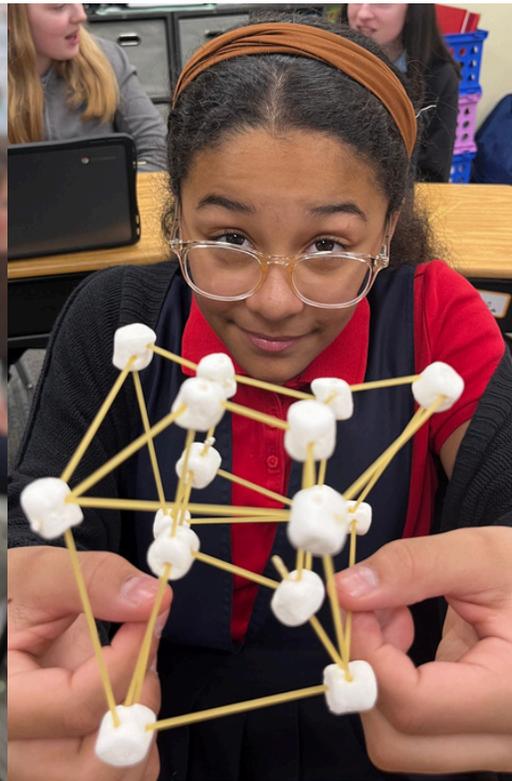

History (Newton)

For the remainder of the year (about two months), the students will study some events and people through the administration of George Washington through Andrew Jackson. They will also touch on key Civil War events followed by the Civil Rights movement 100 years later. That is a very busy agenda!

Bible (Baker)

This week, we will learn about Jesus as "The Light of the World." I pray that through their personal devotions, they will gain a better understanding of Jesus as the Light in their own lives.
