Aluminum Structures

Aluminum Helideck

Aluminum helipads can reduce weight by approximately 50-65% compared to steel helipads, providing a better solution for projects with strict weight and space requirements, such as roo ng/engineering ships/drilling platforms. In addition, considering cost saving and environmental requirements, aluminum structure is not prone to corrosion, and there is less maintenance requirement for the follow-up, which avoids the problem that steel structure must be painted and the subsequent long-term maintenance. We use mechanical calculation to model and calculate whether the strength of the helipad meets the Class strength and other requirements

Modular Retail Store Structures

Amongst our manufactured products we supply aluminum platforms, walkways, stairs, louvers, staircases, climbing ladders, handrails and custom internal building structures. We will custom design to meet your requirements. Our products on approval will be disassembled and packed for shipment and re-assembly. We provide the engineering expertise to work with our clients to manufacture products to their design, needs or requests.
