

Claudine Coco Clayman-Cook Real Estate Bio

If you are ready to buy or sell a condo on the Westside, you should talk to Coco Clayman-Cook. A tenacious and devoted representative of her clients' interests, Coco Clayman-Cook is focused, persistent and intensely loyal. She takes seriously the trust her clients place in her and applies her market savvy and negotiating skill toward the attainment of her clients' goals.

But make no mistake, Coco's no-nonsense service is not for the timid. She is blunt, brutally honest and will always tell you the truth. She won't make excuses. She'll make you laugh and will produce amazing results without wasting your time. That's why Coco's list of satisfied clients includes some of the most respected and high-power business executives, attorneys, sports and entertainment personalities, developers, and business managers in the West.

A native of Los Angeles, a graduate of UCLA in Psychology, and a condo owner, resident, and investor herself, Coco has an unparalleled familiarity with the character and value of the city's unique neighborhoods. "I love condo living," she says, "and I know the Los Angeles condo lifestyle and marketplace inside and out."

As a Realtor, she has represented clients and properties from penthouse estates to classic condominiums, from Los Feliz, West Hollywood, Sunset Strip, Beverly Hills, Century City, Bel Air, the Wilshire Corridor, Westwood, Brentwood, and Santa Monica to the windswept bluffs of Malibu.

"My clients expect a lot and I appreciate that," Coco says. "They expect the right price and the best terms and solid deals that won't fall apart.

They don't have time to waste, so I listen carefully and do what I say I will do – and more. I work hard for them and I always get results."

Coco Clayman-Cook is an innovator with great ideas that work. She works well under pressure and is a tough and skilled negotiator, always looking out for her clients' interests. Coco is an industry leader when it comes to using creative marketing and the latest technology to support her transactions.

In fact, LA Condo Lifestyles is one of the most thorough and up-to-date websites in the real estate business. "We live in a graphically and technologically sophisticated world. To deliver my clients' message to today's audience, I need to do more than keep up – I need to stay ahead of the curve." Coco's dynamic approach is especially effective in the exceedingly complex Los Angeles condominium marketplace.

When every transaction involves a complicated series of tasks and documents, a score of "experts" and many layers of bureaucracy, Coco Clayman-Cook's focus, intelligence, technological skill, and years of experience make her a "secret weapon" to her clients and a respected leader among her peers.

If you're ready to make a move to the Los Angeles condominium lifestyle, Coco Clayman-Cook is ready to deliver results. Call Coco today and find out what she can do for you.