

THE OLD CATHOLIC CHURCH OPENS A NEW WORSHIP CENTRE IN LEICESTERSHIRE

This stunning Tudor chapel at Withcote has a beautiful set of windows which are fit for a king. This delightful early sixteenth-century chapel stands in wooded countryside near a Georgian manor. The structure is a towerless, pinnacled box made from pale gold ironstone, and looks like a miniature of College Chapels, similar to those which can be seen in Oxford or Cambridge.

The impressive interior was refurbished around 1744 and has changed little since. The walls are wood-paneled and the pews elegantly carved. But its most spectacular treasure is its stained glass, thought to be by Gaylon Hone, Henry VIII's glazier.

The chapel is recorded in the National Heritage List for England as a designated Grade I listed building, and is presently under the care of the Churches Conservation Trust.

Every day, more people leave the Catholic faith as they feel marginalized, discriminated against, judged and insignificant, from a church that excludes them for being imperfect or because they have made mistakes.

We provide a legitimate and valid Catholic alternative, our motto is, "The perfect Church, for imperfect people", following the teachings of our Lord Jesus Christ and imitating the primitive Church from Apostolic times, where the very same disciples of Jesus, were called to serve God, as He created them, fathers to their children, husbands to their wives and heads of families worth of emulating by their communities, celebrating the Eucharist around the table in the intimacy of their homes and congregations.

Our Church is a perfect fit for the Catholic who wish to regain or maintain their faith, without having to leave the catholic religion, or resorting to other religions where they have to change their spiritual essence. In our Church, we adhere more to the word of God and the Gospel of Christ, which calls us to His love and mercy, and where He waits to be reconciled with all; not based in institutional laws that judged and marginalize people for being human and imperfect, diminishing any sign of hope for a new beginning, denying an opportunity for learning, reconciliation and salvation.
