TWO ATHLETES WORKING IN CONCERT

Equestrian sport is unique. Two athletes – human and horse – come together to achieve incredible feats. As a rider, you want to bring the very best to the equation by maintaining optimum fitness and health.

In just eight minutes twice a day, BEMER human products temporarily increase blood circulation in healthy muscles to support muscular health and optimize performance. Athletes who use BEMER say it boosts their energy, keeps their bodies loose and supple and helps them bring their best to every ride.

WHY VETERINARIANS LOVE THE BEMER HORSE-SET

With benefits like these, it's no wonder veterinarians are adding the BEMER Horse-Set to their practices!

~ Increased microcirculation – This is the foundation that all other BEMER benefits are built upon. The Horse-Set's specially adapted PEMF signal targets muscle cells to boost local blood flow and facilitate nutrient and oxygen delivery and waste removal.

~ Improved parasympathetic processes – On a daily basis, horses are subjected to many things they don't understand, like prolonged transportation, indoor showing and dental treatments. This lack of understanding puts them in a fight or flight state fairly often. With the BEMER Horse-Set, improved local circulation helps regulate your horse's parasympathetic nervous system, keeping it in a relaxed, comfortable state.

~ Improved relaxation and regeneration after exertion – Thanks to improved parasympathetic processes, your horse's body can reach a deeper regenerative state, leading to faster recovery times.

~ Better performance – Pre-training sessions with the BEMER Horse-Set are an excellent way to prime your horse's muscles. Enhanced nutrient and oxygen delivery gives your horse's muscles the fuel to operate at their best, setting new standards for performance.

~ Optimized exercise through increased suppleness – When your horse can perform better and more often, it makes each training session as effective as possible. Optimized exercise means optimized performance.

~ Improved defense against infection – Healthy local circulation will better equip your horse's immune system to handle and fend-off illnesses, so you can focus on riding instead of recovering.

~ Faster recovery after injuries – With improved local blood flow, your horse can experience a boost in the post-injury healing process. Oxygen and nutrients are able to reach the muscles faster and more abundantly, helping your horse get back in action quicker and healthier.

~ Improved anesthetic experience and regeneration after surgery – Similar to the previous benefit, your horse's body can handle anesthesia better and recover faster when it has greater access to the vital materials that keep it healthy. That means less time healing and more time riding – whether for competition, training or pleasure.

These powerful benefits work from the inside out to improve your horse's health and quality of life.
