

PHARMSCI 2023 CONFERENCE

"Pharmaceutical Science - Translating innovation for Delivery to Patients"

5th-7th September 2023

EXHIBITORS AND SPONSORSHIP

About

The Academy of Pharmaceutical Sciences (APS) is the UK-based professional membership body for Pharmaceutical Scientists. We represent individuals and organisations from around the globe, throughout their development, in the delivery of excellence in the Pharmaceutical Science sector.

The conference will showcase the best of pharmaceutical science providing insight into state-of-the-art technologies and a platform for the development of new pharmaceutical talent.

The aim of the 2023 APS conference is to provide a forum for the presentation and exchange of ideas relating to the latest high quality developments in the design and manufacture of new medicines, from discovery to commercialisation. The conference will provide a dynamic forum for industry, both large and small, to come together with academic colleagues to explore new technologies, processes and collaboration and cooperation is the key to modern pharmaceutical development and the University of Reading will provide an ideal setting to bring together groups from across Ireland, the UK and beyond to showcase internationally leading work and to set the stage for a new era of pharmaceutically driven healthcare.
