

GothandGhoul's

MOST-LOVED HORROR MOVIES

These are the films we return to when the nights grow long—hand-picked by our coven for the way they linger long after the credits fade.

Each one earned its place in our shadowed hearts.

Dim the lights, settle in, and pick your poison.

Slasher Classics

Iconic slashers that defined the genre with relentless terror and unforgettable villains.

Friday the 13th (1980) — IMDb: 6.4
A camp counselor's night of terror sparks a legendary franchise.

Scream (1996) — IMDb: 7.4
A masterful blend of slasher horror and razor-sharp satire.

Halloween (1978) — IMDb: 7.7
Michael Myers stalks his quiet hometown in a chilling masterpiece.

A Nightmare on Elm Street (1984) — IMDb: 7.4
A burned killer haunts teenage dreams, where sleep becomes the deadliest threat.

Summer Favorites

Warmth, waves, and the lurking dread that hides beneath the sun.

Jaws (1975) — IMDb: 8.1
The ultimate summer terror about a killer shark haunting a coastal town.

I Know What You Did Last Summer (1997) — IMDb: 5.7
A group of friends is stalked by the weight of a buried secret.

Midsommar (2019) — IMDb: 7.1
A visually stunning nightmare unfolding in unrelenting Swedish daylight.

The Lost Boys (1987) — IMDb: 7.3
Two brothers discover their seaside town belongs to a pack of vampires.

Supernatural Scares

From restless ghosts to ancient curses, these films drift into the otherworldly.

The Conjuring (2013) — IMDb: 7.5
Paranormal investigators confront a sinister force rooted in a haunted farmhouse.

Hereditary (2018) — IMDb: 7.3
A devastating portrait of grief that curdles into something far darker.

The Witch (2015) — IMDb: 6.9
A Puritan family slowly unravels beneath the shadow of witchcraft.

The Autopsy of Jane Doe (2016) — IMDb: 6.8
A mysterious corpse reveals dark secrets across one unsettling night.

The Others (2001) — IMDb: 7.6
A mother guards her light-sensitive children in a house thick with secrets.

Noroi: The Curse (2005) — IMDb: 6.8
A haunting Japanese found-footage descent into an old demonic curse.

Campfire Chills

Haunting tales made for sharing beneath a restless night sky.

The Blair Witch Project (1999) — IMDb: 6.5
Found-footage horror that defined a genre and left audiences shaken.

Sleepaway Camp (1983) — IMDb: 6.3
Quintessential summer camp horror with a shocking, unforgettable conclusion.

The Ritual (2017) — IMDb: 6.3
Friends wander into a Scandinavian forest and awaken an ancient evil.

It Follows (2014) — IMDb: 6.8
A relentless, slow-walking dread stalks its victims with nowhere to hide.

The Fog (1980) — IMDb: 6.8
A creeping mist rolls in, carrying vengeful spirits from the sea.

If you only watch one tonight, begin with The Others—elegant, restrained, and quietly devastating, it's the perfect doorway into the dark.

Atmospheric Finds

Films that conjure dread through haunting visuals and singular storytelling.

The Invitation (2015) — IMDb: 6.6
A gripping slow-burn about a dinner party drifting somewhere sinister.

Session 9 (2001) — IMDb: 6.4
Eerily quiet yet menacing, set deep within an abandoned asylum.

Mandy (2018) — IMDb: 6.5
A psychedelic revenge tale soaked in blood-red, dreamlike imagery.

The Reflecting Skin (1990) — IMDb: 6.8
A surreal, haunting story of lost innocence in rural America.

As Above, So Below (2014) — IMDb: 6.2
A claustrophobic descent into terror beneath the catacombs of Paris.

The Babadook (2014) — IMDb: 6.8
A mother and son are stalked by grief and a sinister storybook.

Crimson Peak (2015) — IMDb: 6.5
A lush gothic romance where a crumbling mansion hides bloody truths.

There's no wrong way to scream.

#GothandGhoulHaunt