

Seniors' Climate Witness Update #6 (September 21, 2026)

We've arrived in Ottawa!

After ten days on the road traveling from Victoria, British Columbia, Digby Nova Scotia, Montreal and Toronto, the Seniors' Climate Caravan arrived in Ottawa on Friday for our week of action.

We were welcomed by youth-led Fridays for Future Ottawa at their 2000+ strong climate march. We held a nonviolent action training, and, joined by David Suzuki, gathered for a moving intergenerational solidarity dinner with Indigenous youth. These were powerful reminders of what this journey is about: standing together across generations for a livable future for all.

The Caravan has already made an impact. We've received national media coverage, reached hundreds of thousands of Canadians through social media, and raised more than $25,000 to support the campaign. Thank you to everyone who has helped make this possible.

Our week ahead

Tuesday morning: We will attempt to deliver the 200+ climate-impact photos we have collected from Canadians across the country to the House of Commons — nonviolently and persistently. We are messengers for the majority reminding decision makers that the country is united in wanting them to protect what we love and knowing that later is too late. As you watch the media we hope you feel your own voices lifted up.

Wednesday morning: We will continue with nonviolent action to draw attention to the climate crisis, alongside a colourful, family-friendly rally with music, theatre, costumes and fun. Join us at 8:00 a.m. on the Supreme Court lawn, 301 Wellington Street, Ottawa.

Thursday, 8:30 a.m.: We'll gather at the Confederation Park fountain (at Laurier and Elgin) for a closing circle — a chance to celebrate what we have accomplished, reflect on our journey, and bring this remarkable action to a close.

Then comes the long journey home — carrying with us the connections we've made, the stories we've heard, and a renewed determination to keep working for a safe and livable future.
