GBK books are published with the intention of adding moral fiber into the diet of children. They are based on healthy principles of living. Our books are similar to putting peanut butter on celery in that they sneak nutrients while making it fun to consume. Most of the art comes from paintings by artists who specialize in these subjects. We have books appropriate for home school and doctor's offices.

2009

nce upon a time Soaker the frog and two ducks, Artie and Spiff, lived in a pond. They were good friends.

It was a hot summer and the water felt great to play in.

Soaker was a happy frog

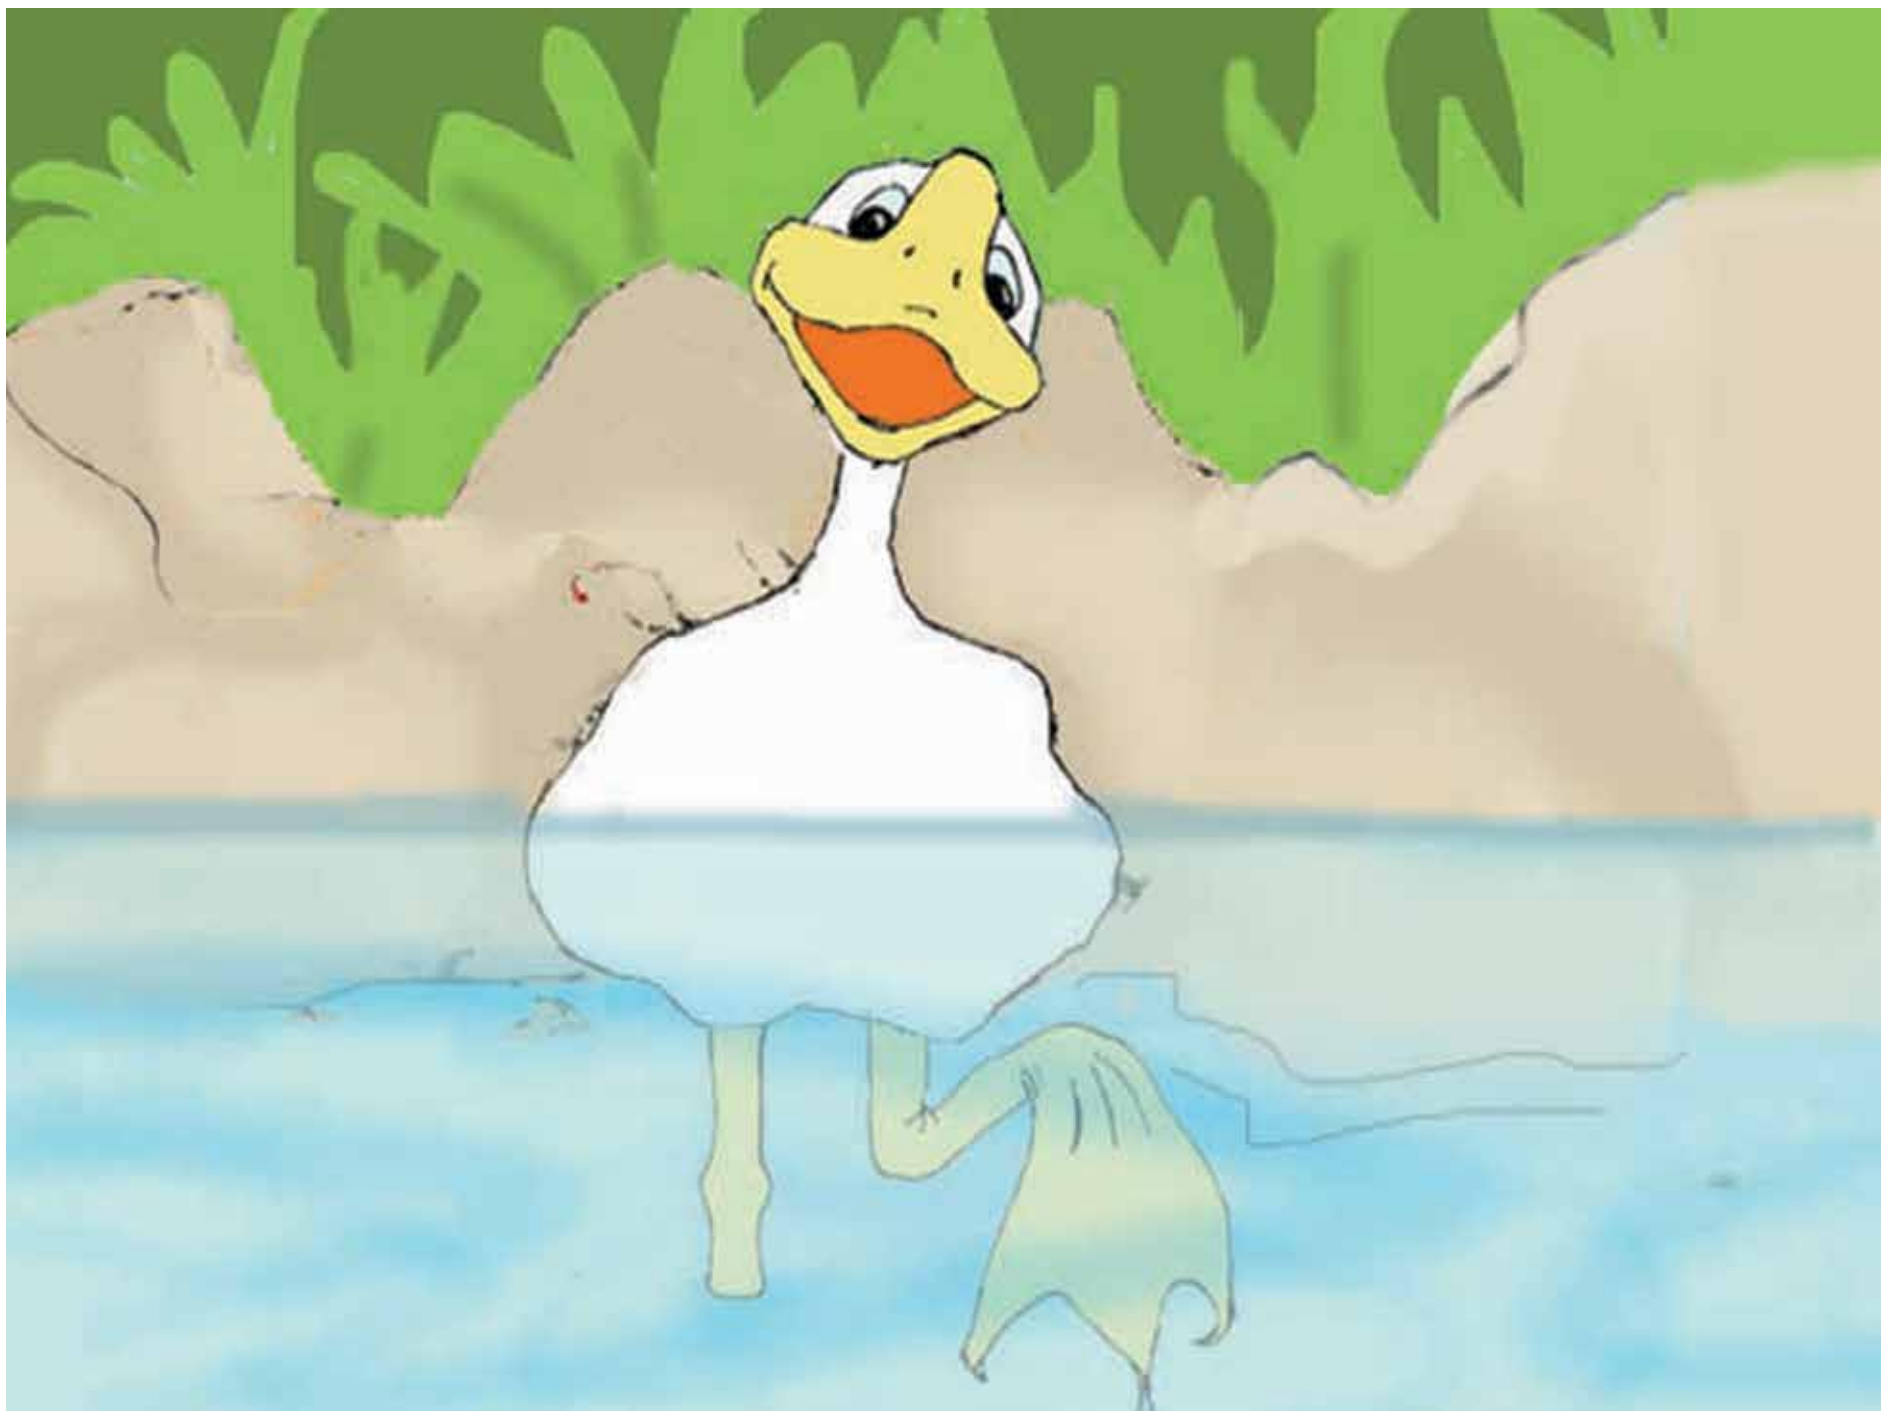

Artie and Spiff were happy, too.

But, then he saw something which made him sad.

As Summer days passed Soaker noticed that the water was getting lower and lower in the pond.

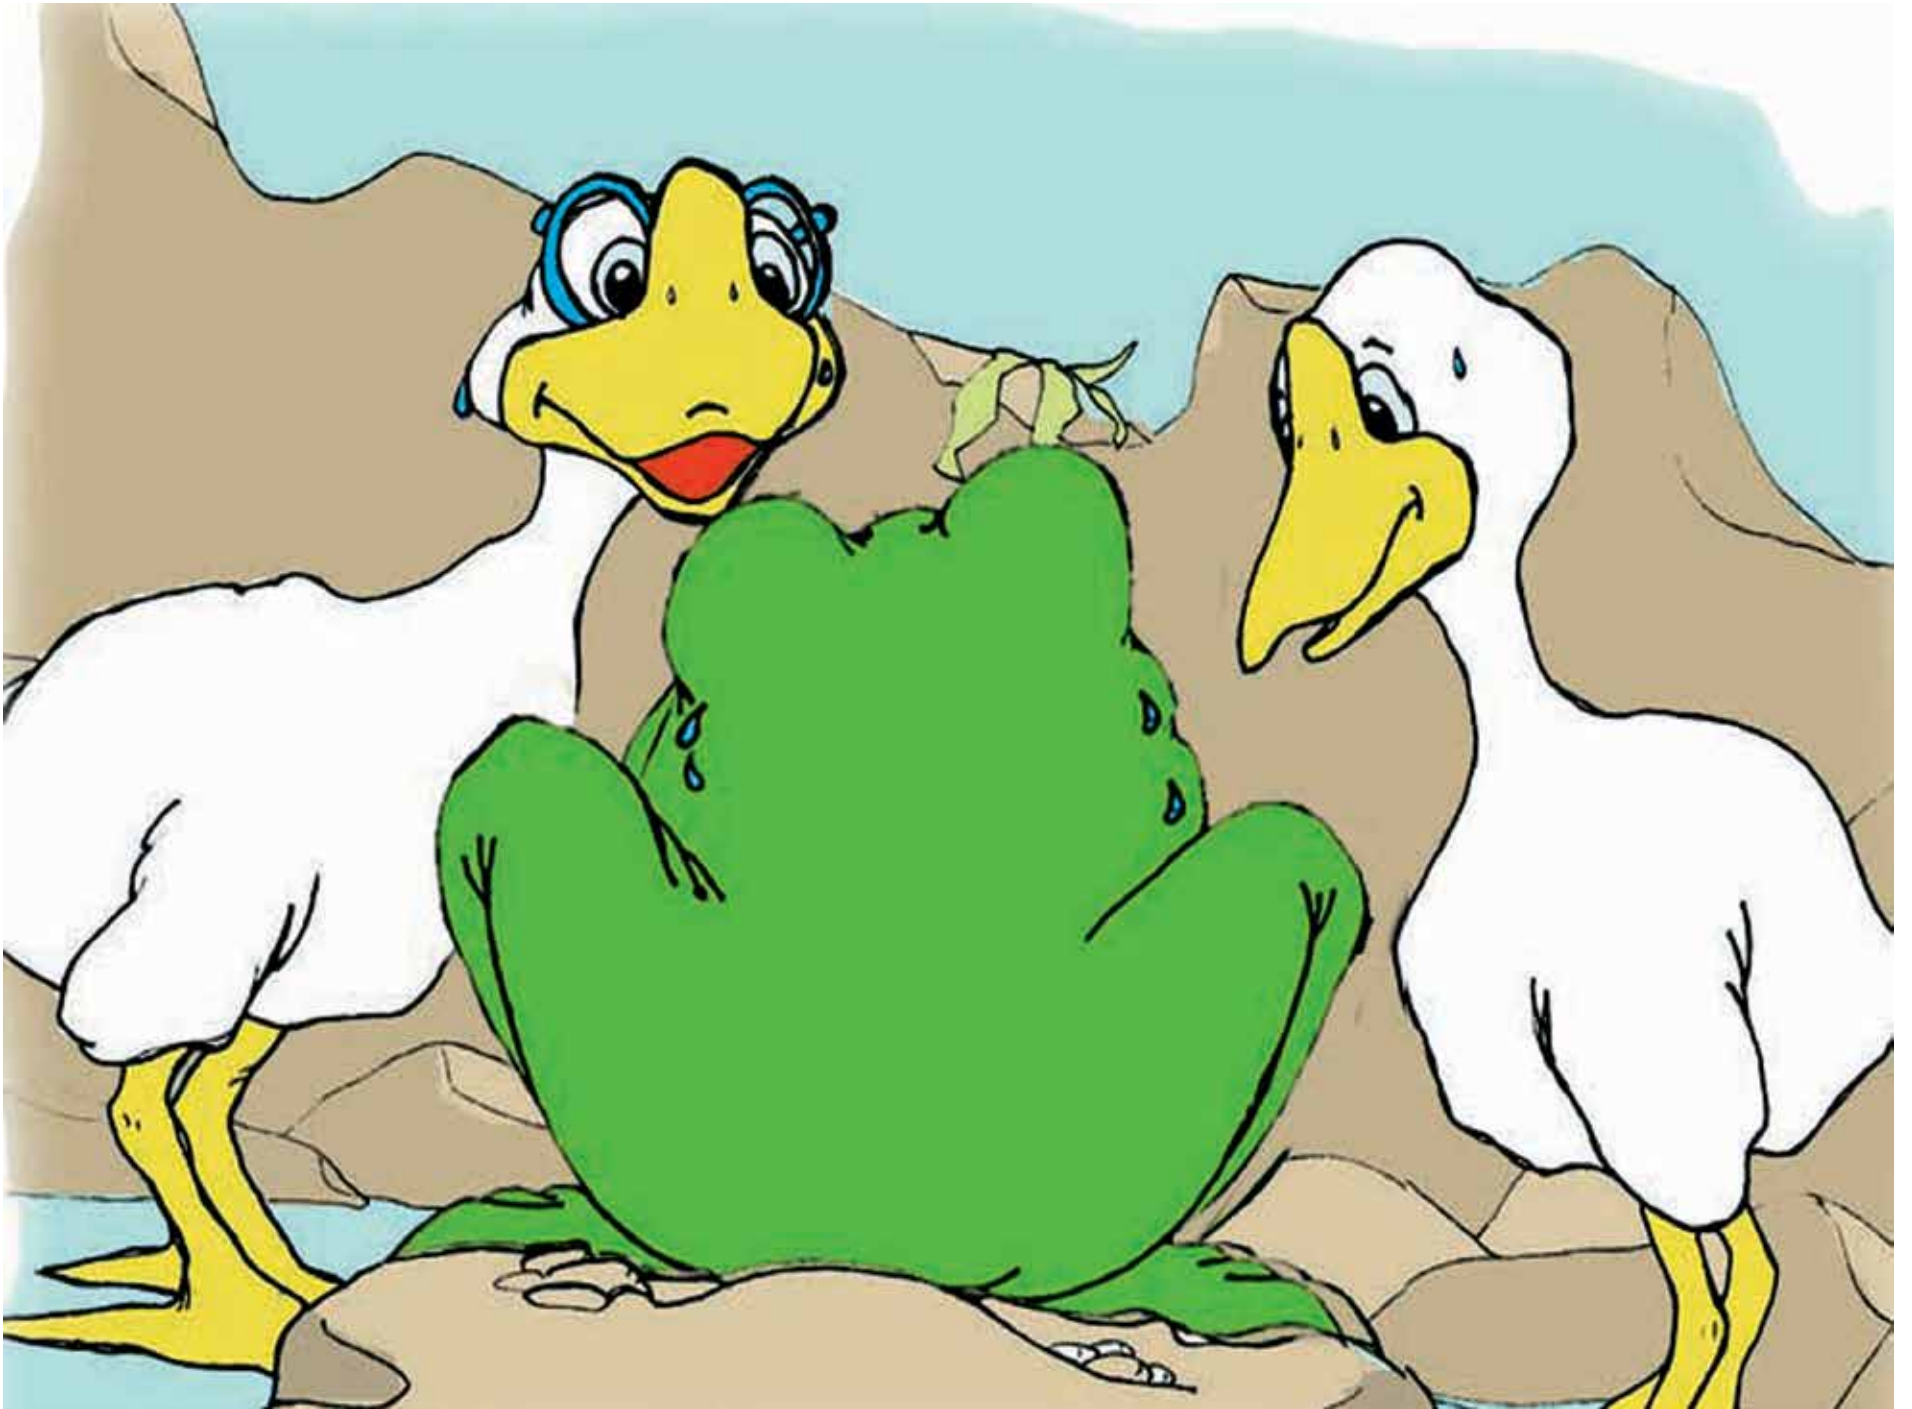

He told Artie and Spiff, “I am afraid the water is going to disappear and then I will shrink to nothing.”

“We love you,” Said Artie
“Yes,” Said Spiff.
“Soaker, we won’t want you to shrink because we would miss you dearly.”

They thought of a plan to save him. After talking it over between themselves, they approached Soaker carrying a stick.

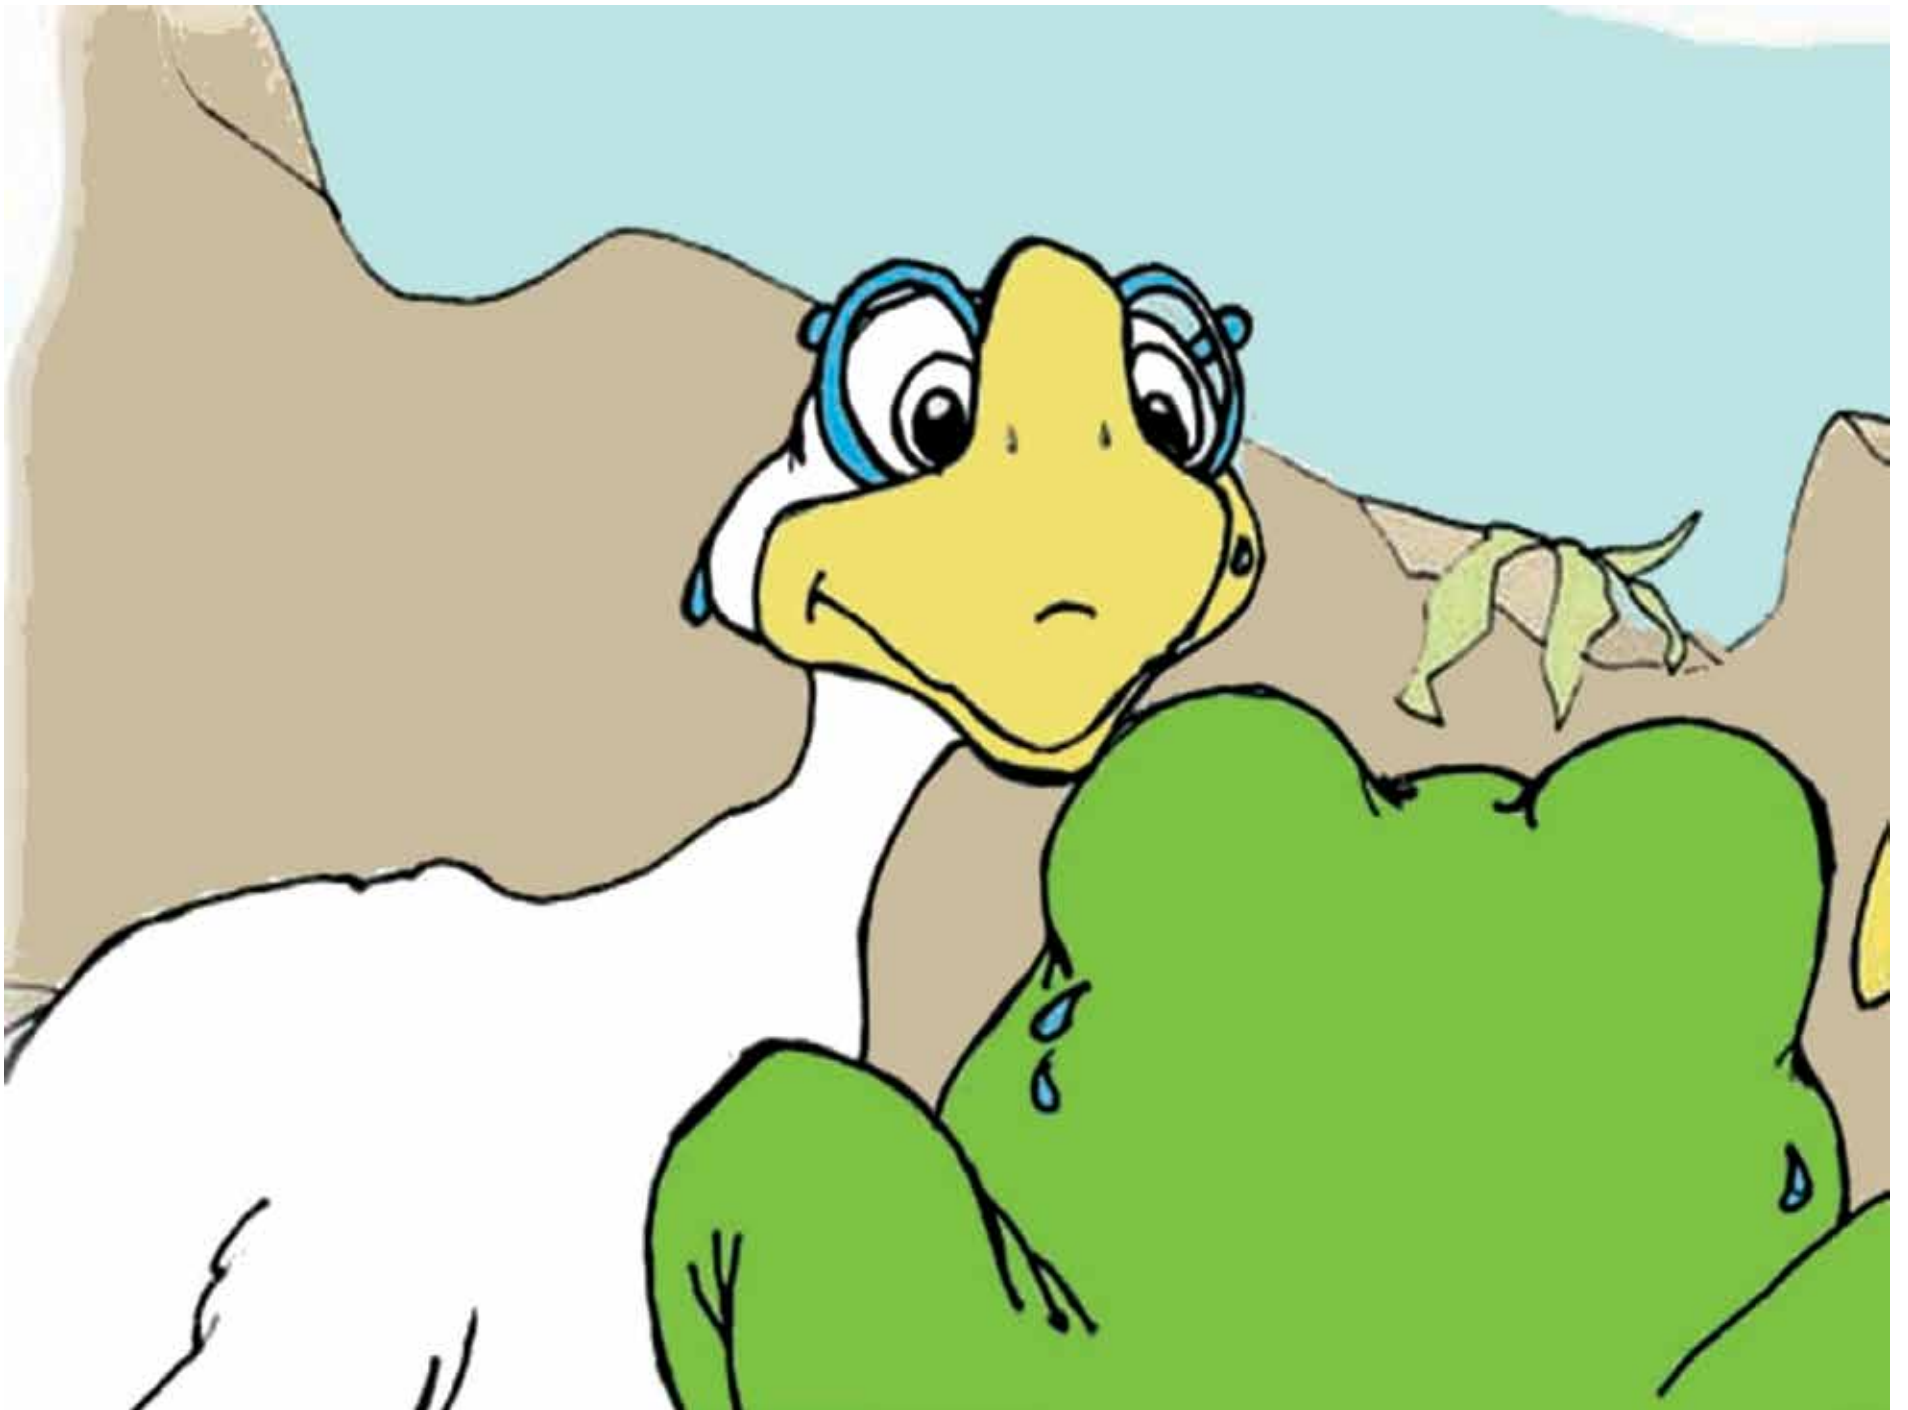

Artie said, “We know of a pond that is not drying up a short ways away. If you can hold onto this stick with your mouth we will fly you to the new place.”

“However,” Said Spiff, “You must keep your mouth shut tight around the stick until we get there.

Soaker thought it was an ingenious idea and agreed that he could keep his mouth shut for the whole flight that it would take to reach the new pond.

Artie and Spiff carefully selected just the right stick for the flight and instructed Soaker on how to hold on properly so that they could all fly as a team.

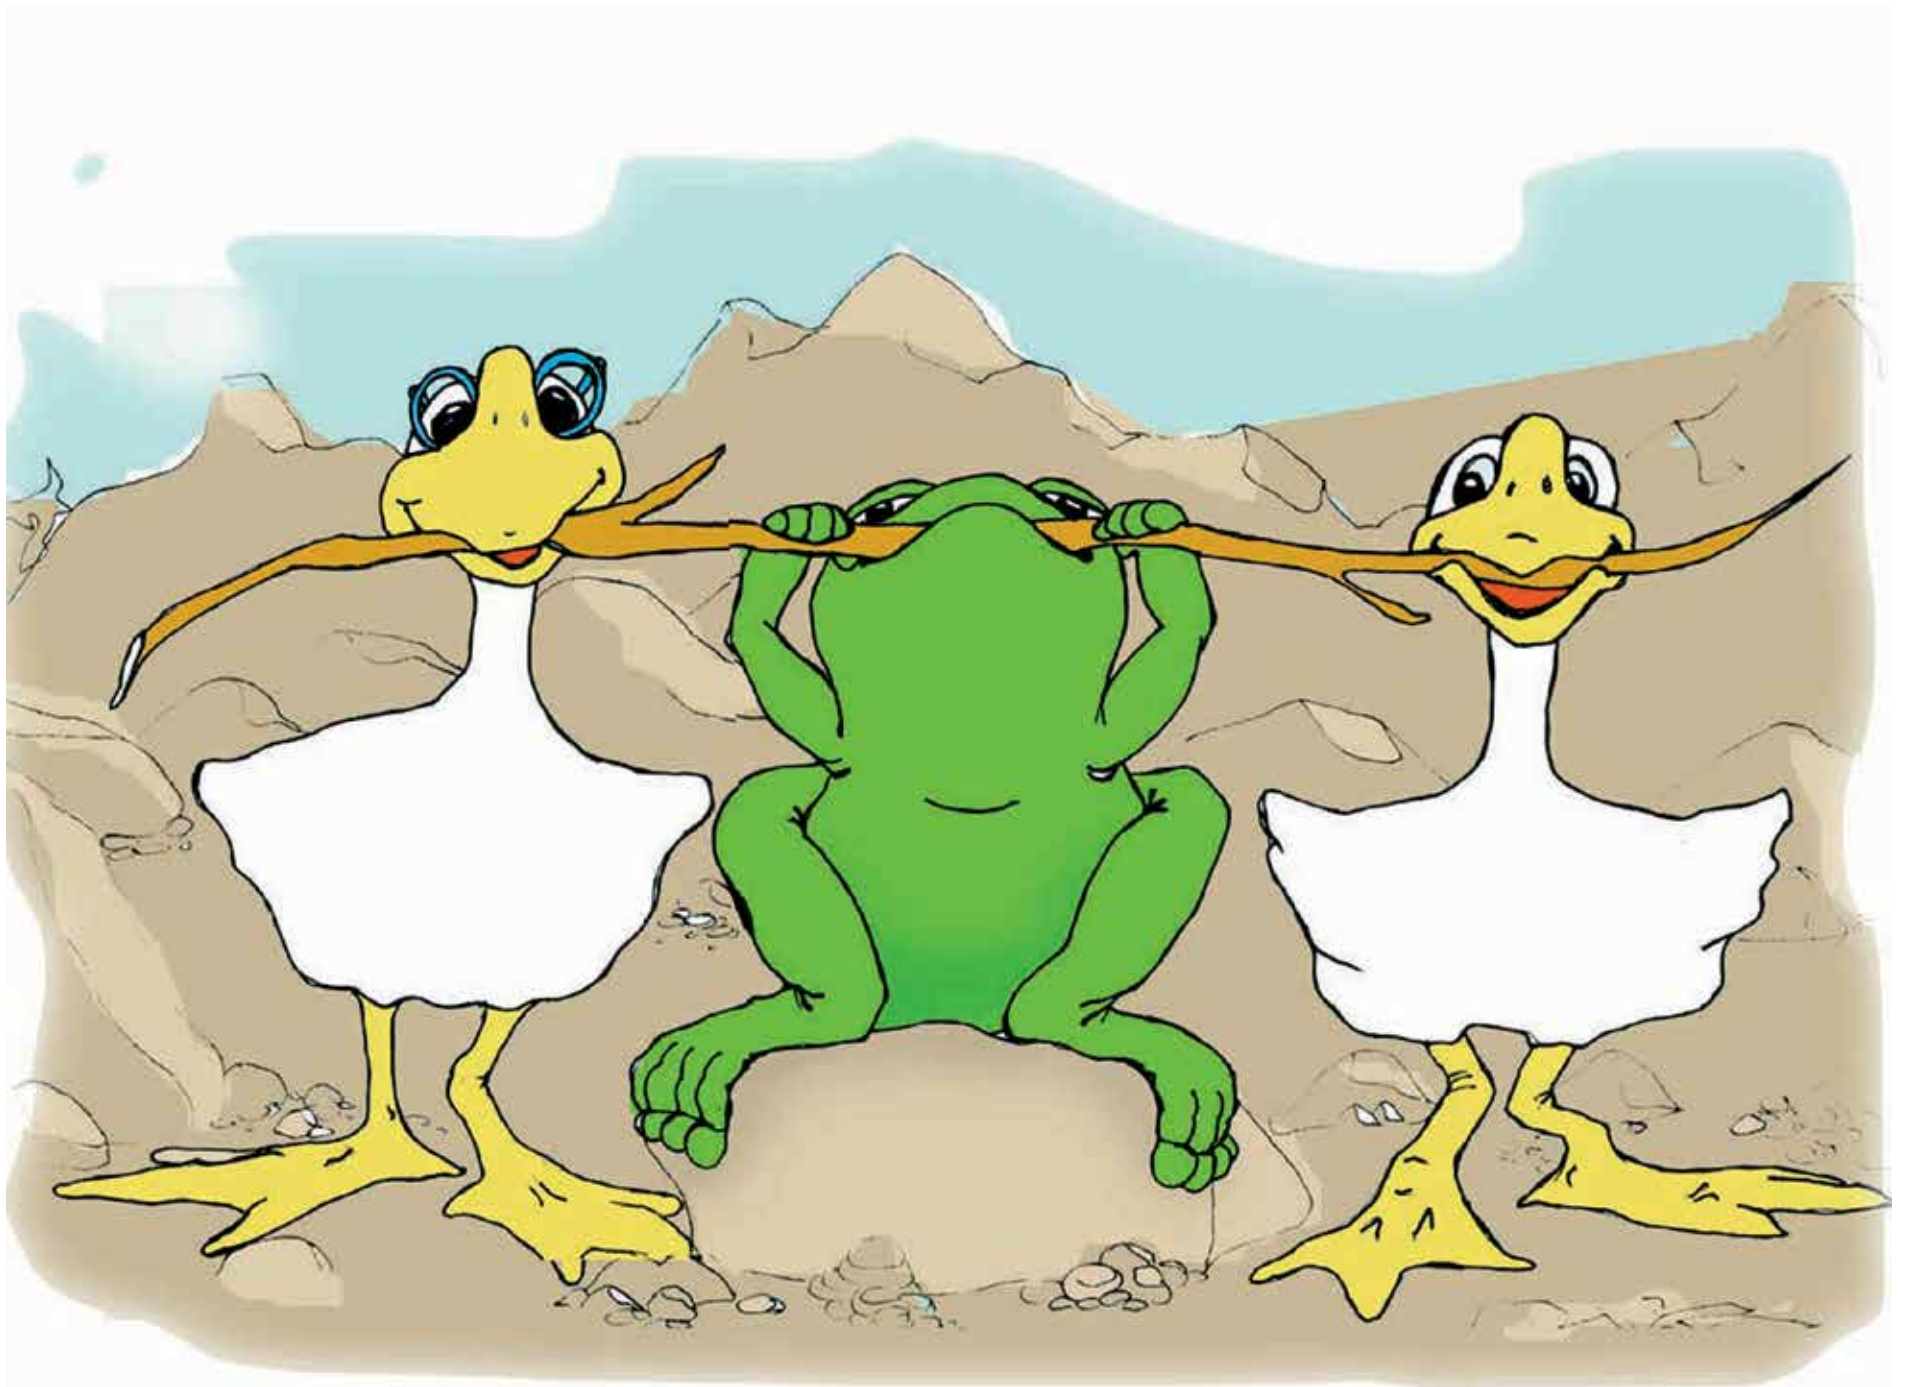

“Hold on tight!” Spiff let out a quack.

On Artie’s count, “ 1, 2, 3,” the two ducks took a running leap spreading their giant white wings into the air.

It was an amazing lift-off just in time as the final water left the pond. They flew with Soaker holding firm by his little frog mouth to the stick.

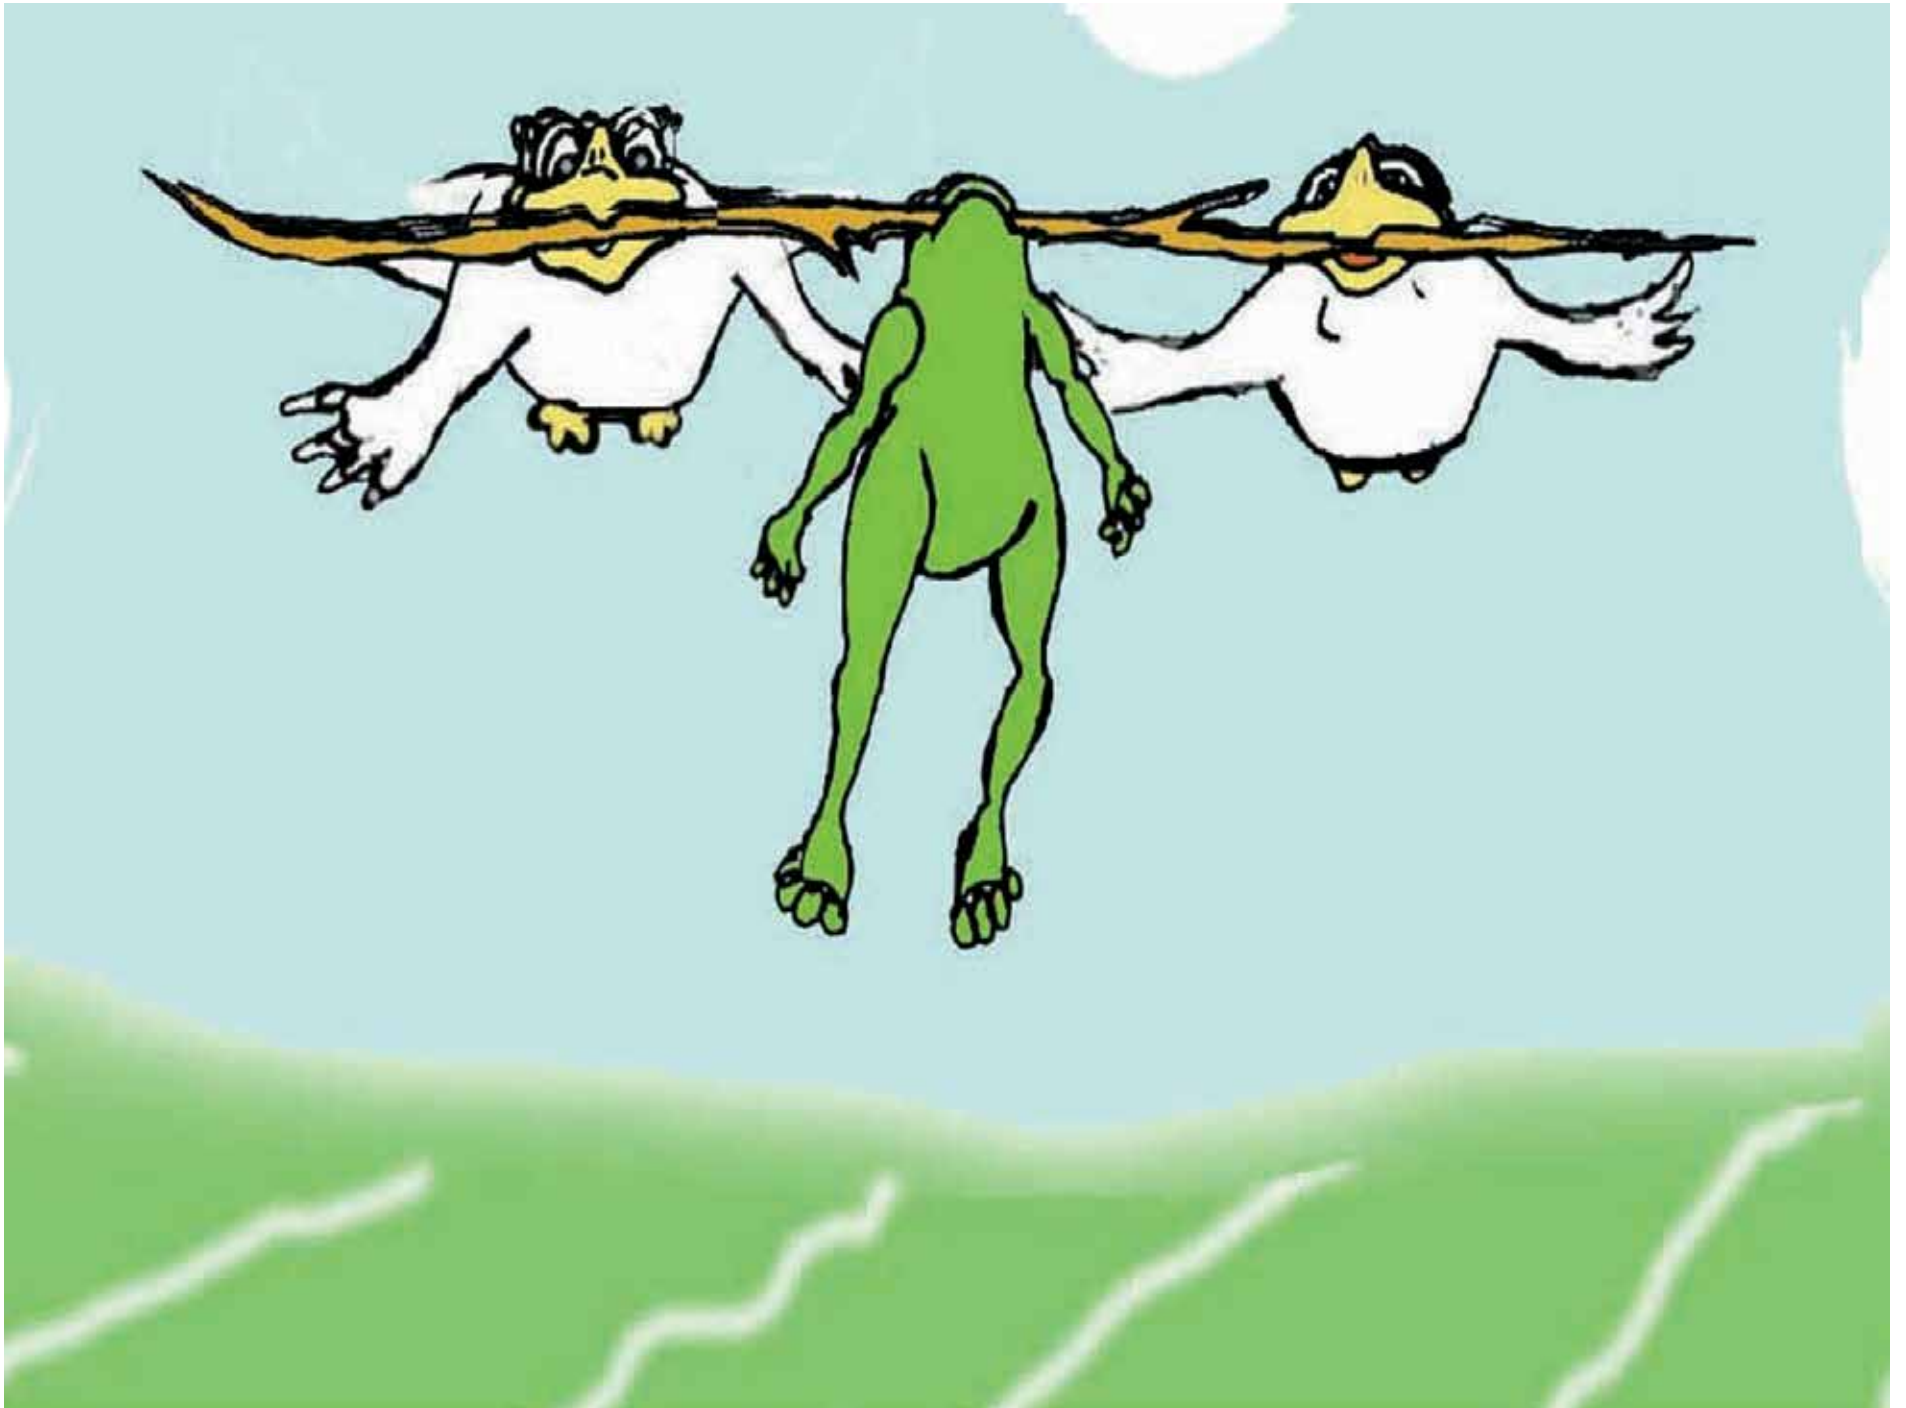

Soaker was heavy for his friends because they held his entire weight by their beaks, but they loved him and wanted to help him, so they held tight keeping their beaks shut.

With the new pond in sight, they all flew in unison over the fields and grasslands. They flew over Farmer Loyd's Ranch because it was in between the two ponds.

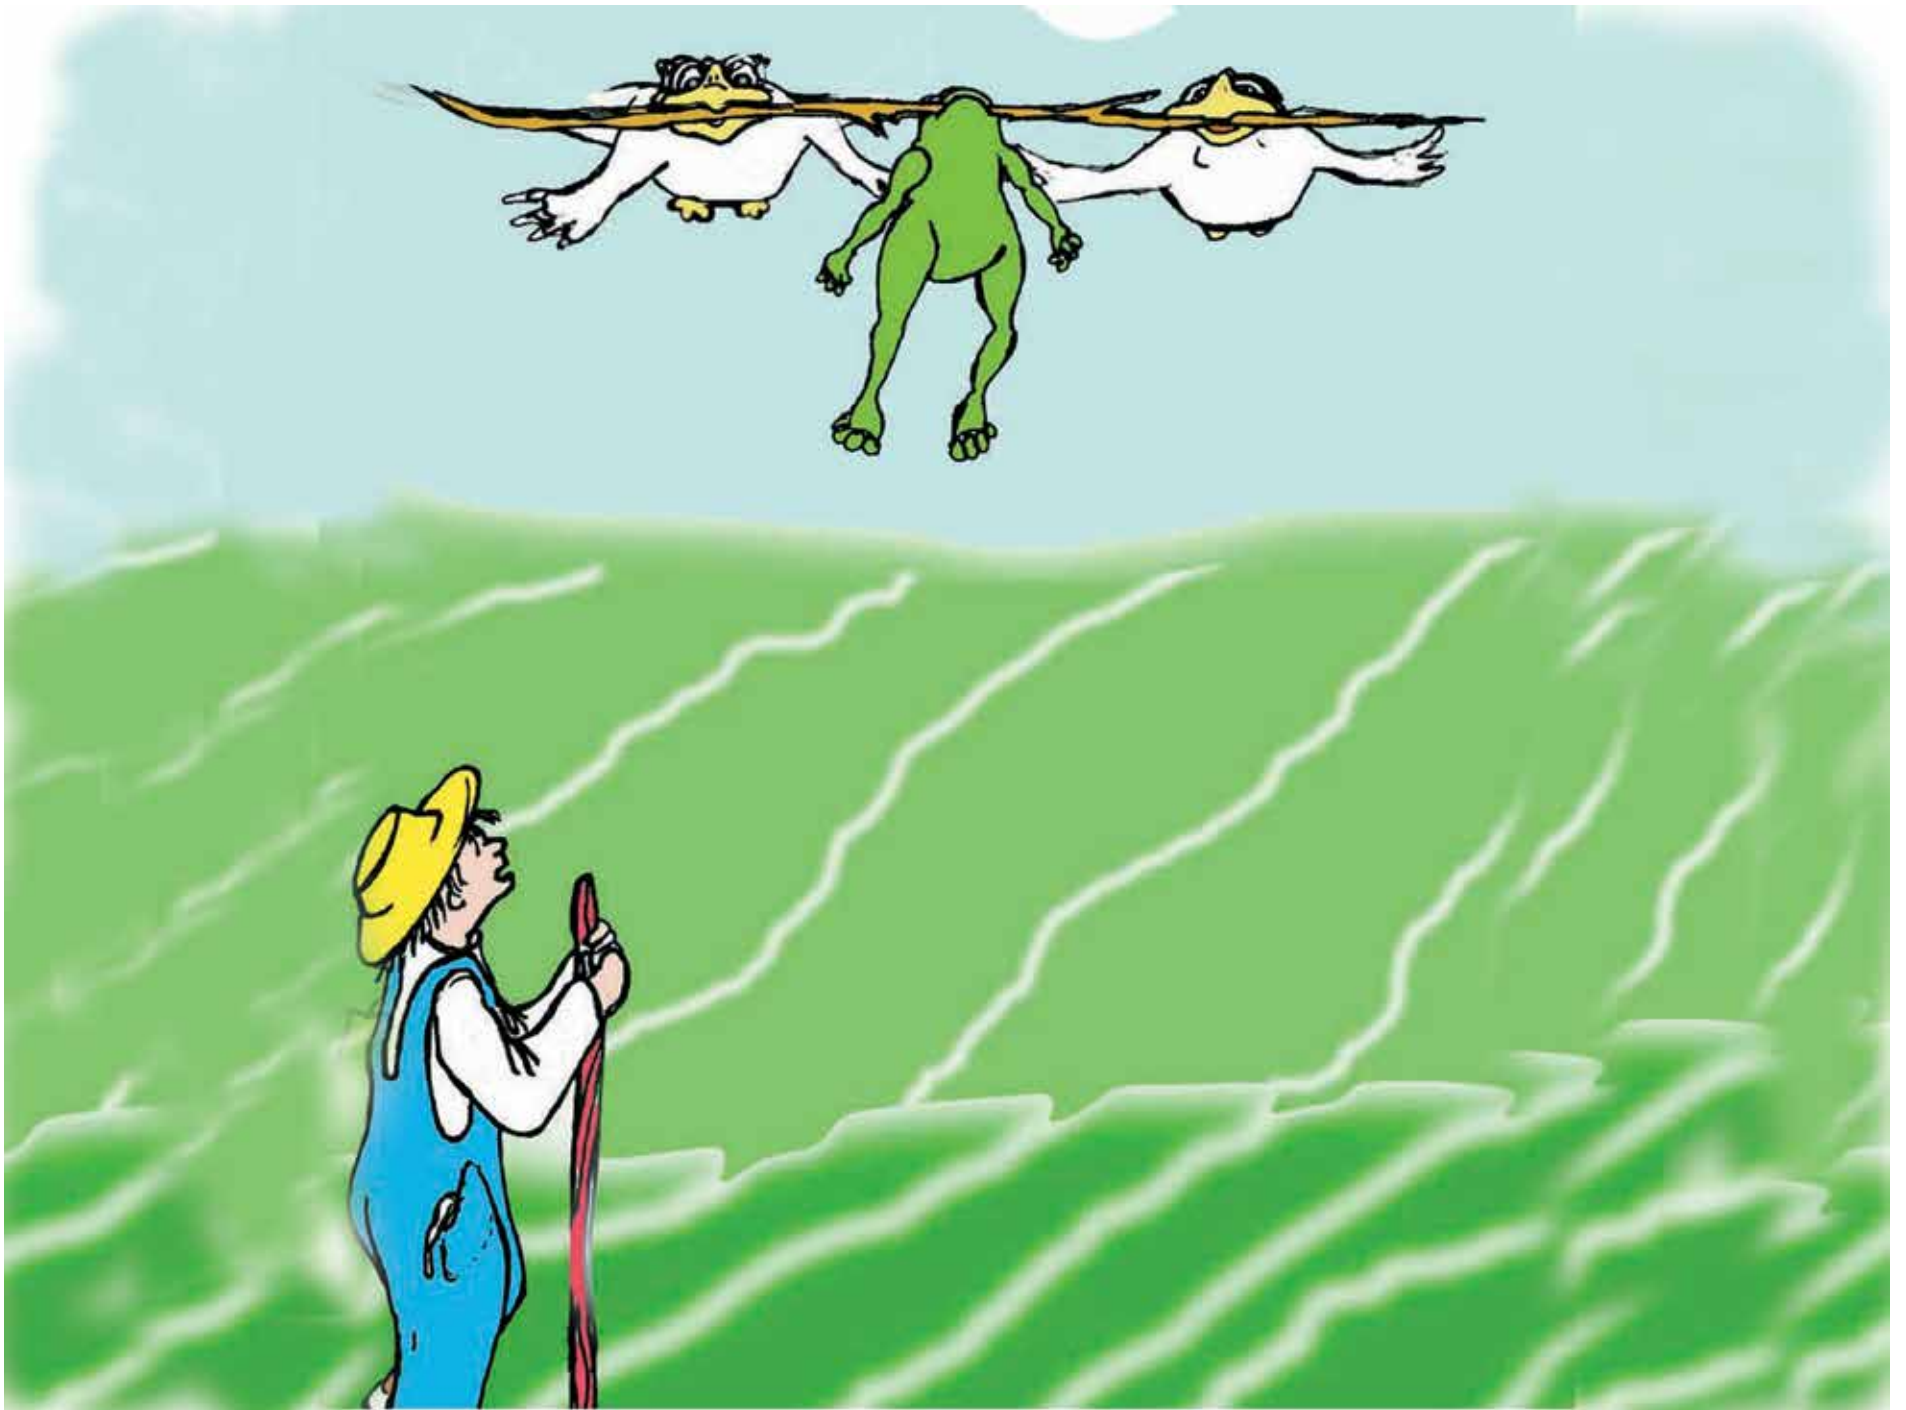

Just as they topped the string beans, Farmer Loyd looked up into the sky.

“Wow,” he said.

“I wonder who thought of that ingenious idea of this fantastic flying frog?”

“This is the most amazing thing I have ever seen. Surely those two ducks love their friend.”

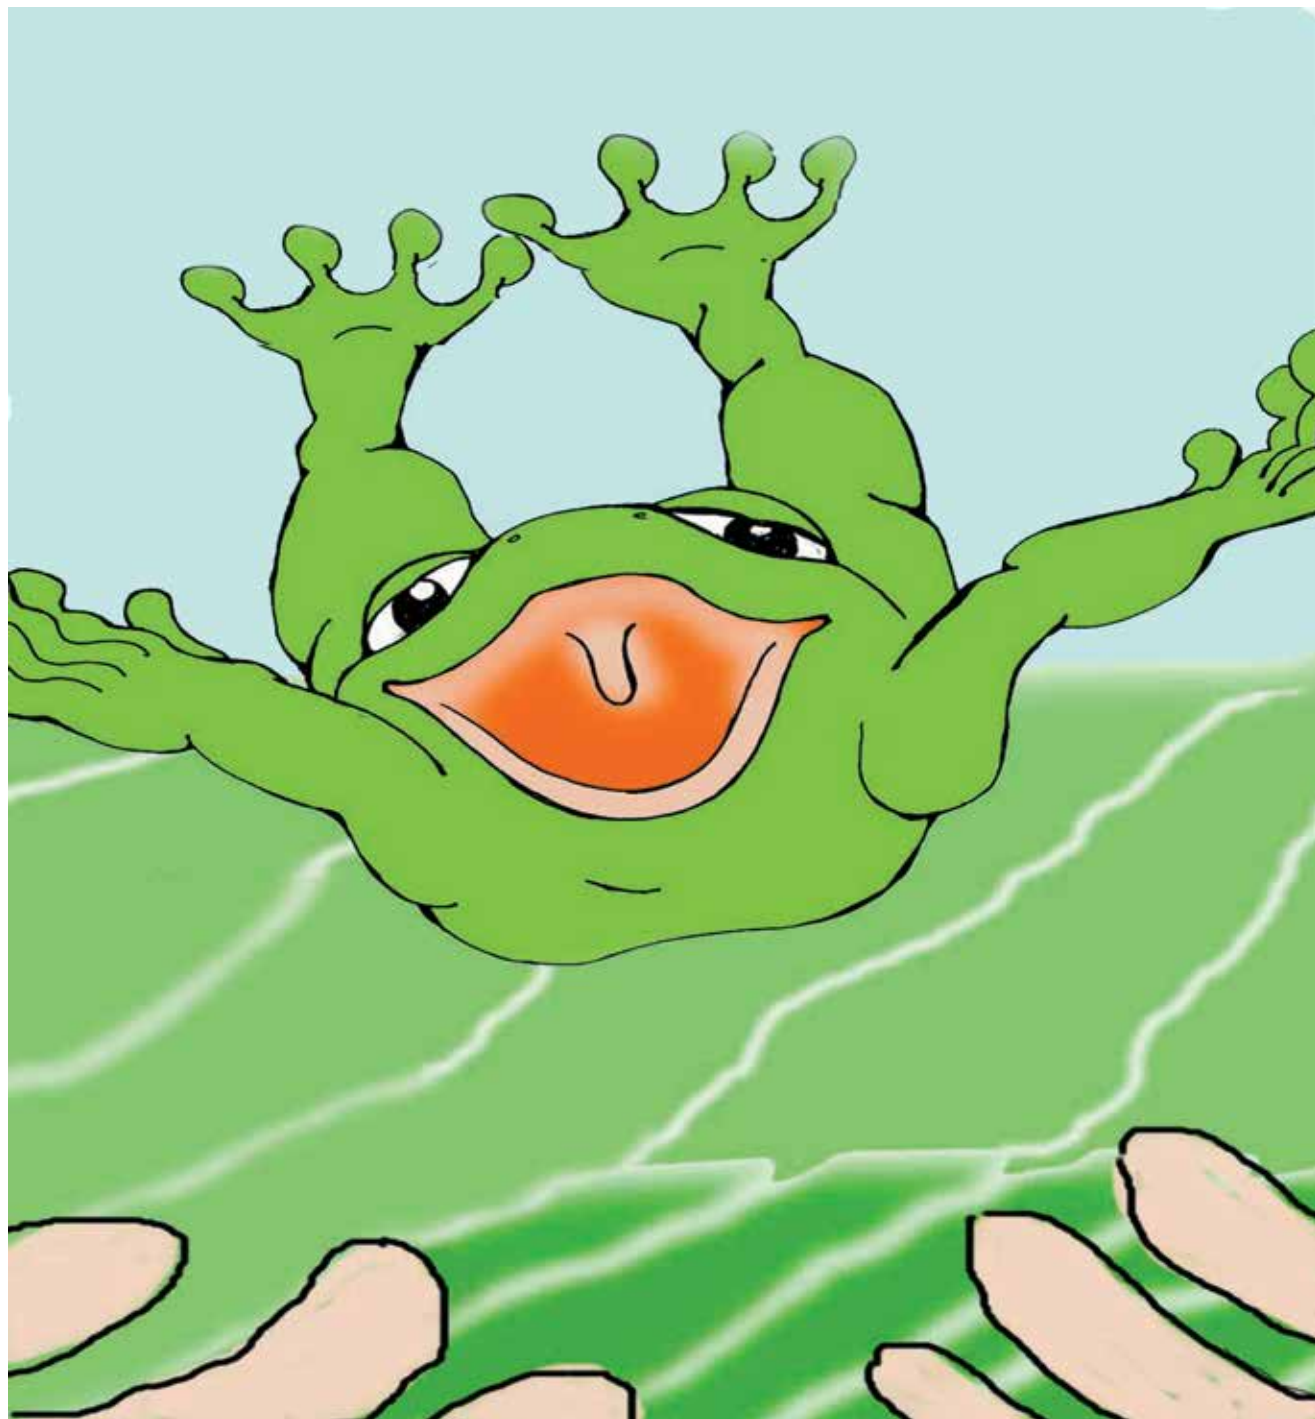

Soaker could not resist taking credit for the idea, so as his warty feet skipped over the bean field, he cried out to Farmer Loyd, “I did!”

“It was my idea.”

Down he went and straight into Farmer Loyd’s open hands.

“I just caught me a fantastic flying talking frog.” He declared with joy.

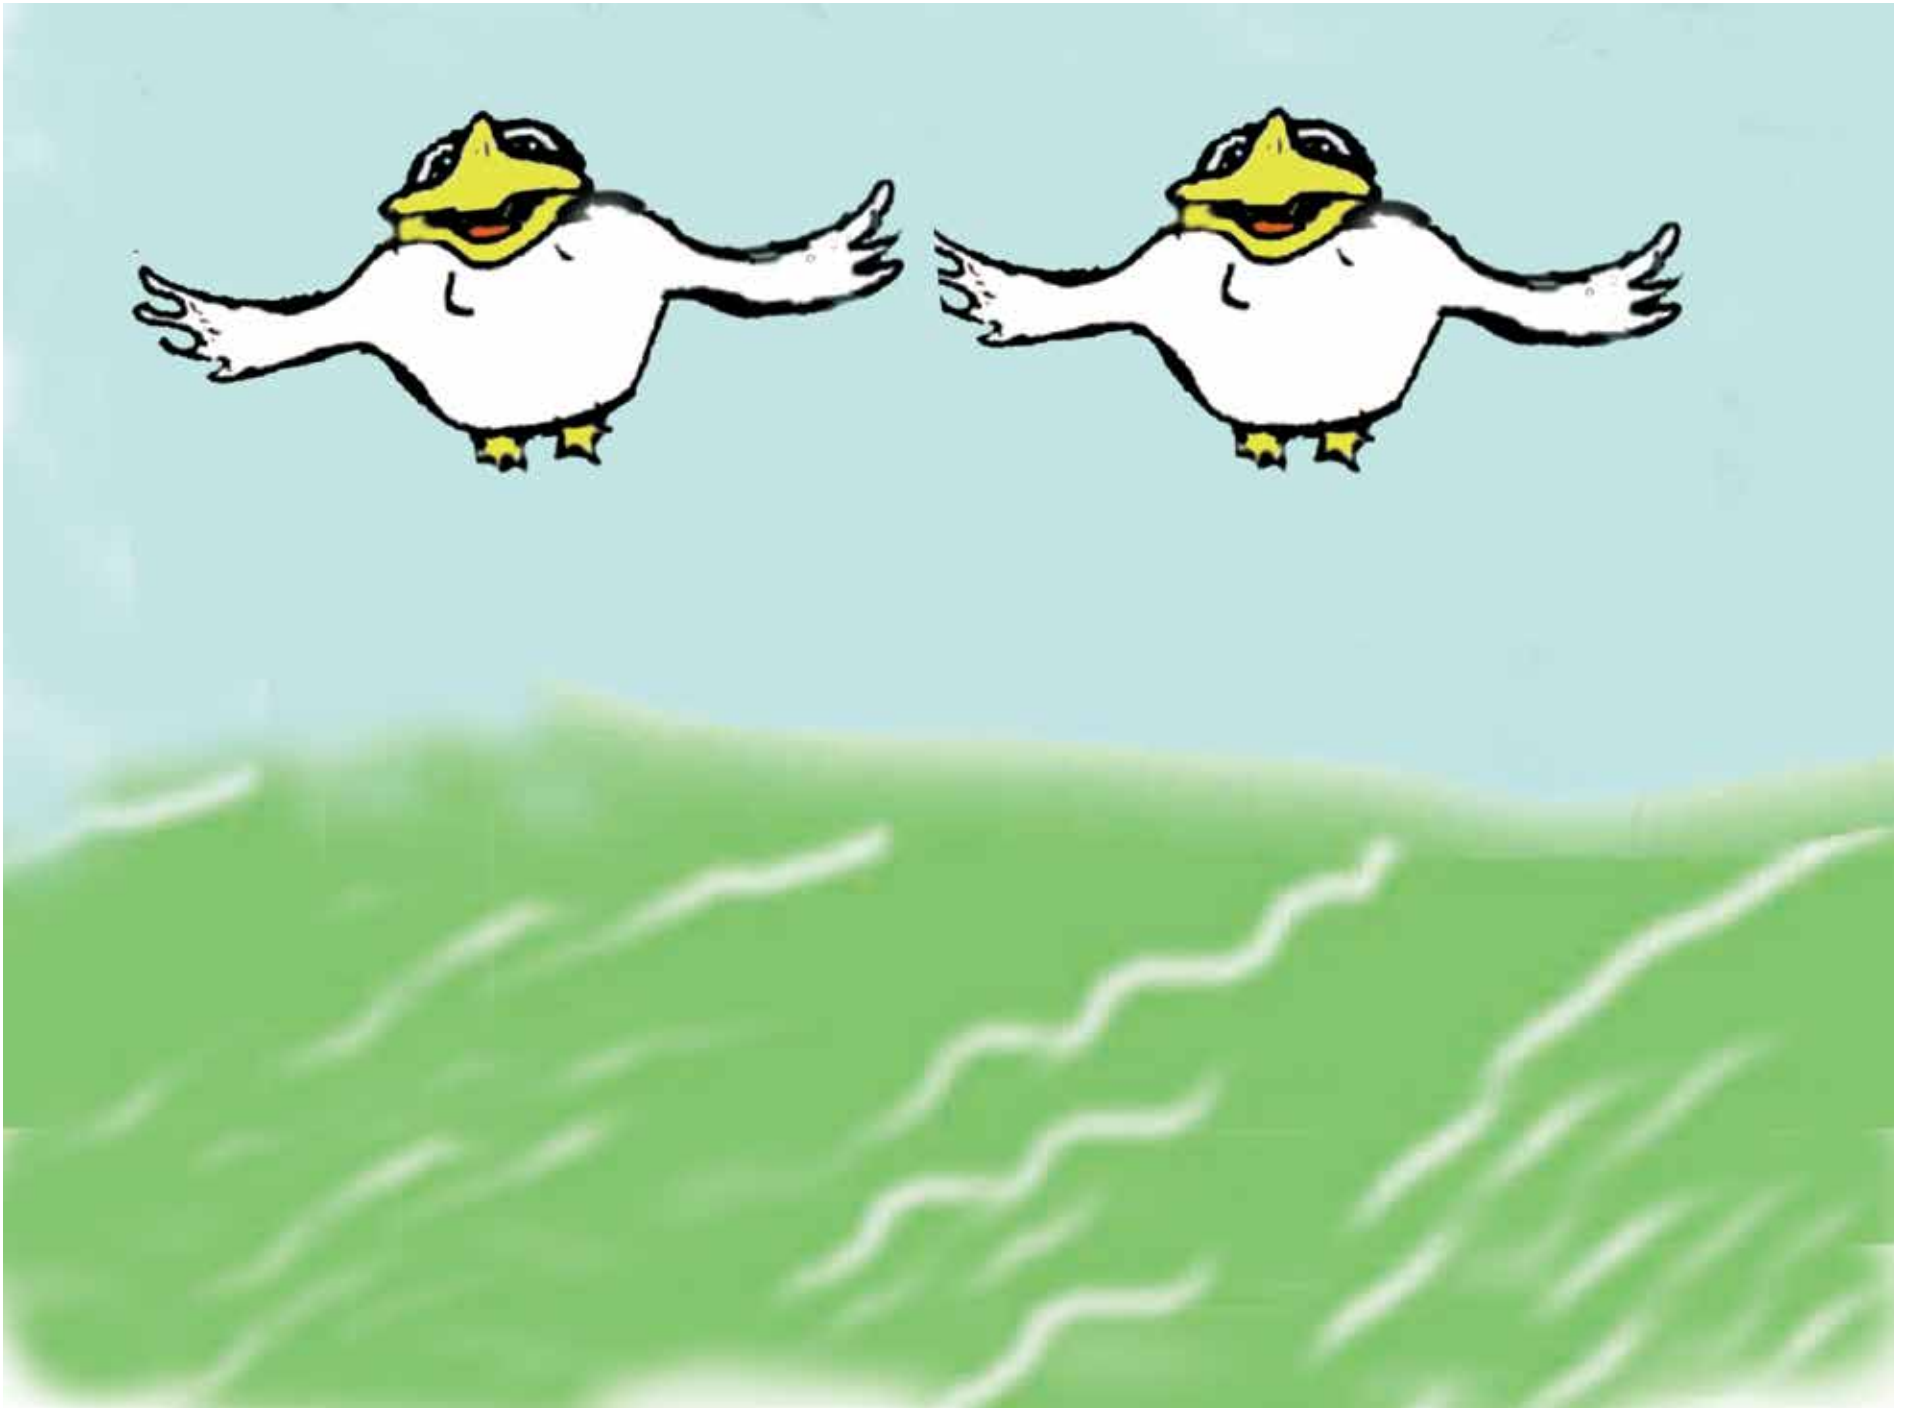

Artie and Spiff dropped the stick and let out a quack in unison. They told him to keep his mouth shut. It was for his own good. Now, he would become a house pet.

They each dipped a wing in a wave to Soaker and flew to the new pond without him.

The moral of the story is:
There are times to keep your warty mouth shut. Don't say you will be tight lipped if you can't do it.

Purpose of Glorybound Books

Glorybound Kids is attached to Glorybound Publishing out of Las Vegas, Nevada. We are a business which was started by two sisters who put their talents together. Sheri Hauser is a writer and Karna Peck is an artist. Together they began publishing wonderful books with delightful messages and pictures.

The books are classical and seek to promote good moral behavior. Many of the books are translated into foreign languages and are released with music, CD's, and plays which can be performed by the kids.

Karna and Sheri are trying to put themselves out of a job by encouraging the kids to do art, stories and poetry on their own. They actively promote learning and share many of the books on-line free of charge through the web site www.fordreamers.com.

We have other artists and authors who have joined the 'family' bringing their art and stories which we are putting into song and music making DVDs as fast as we can. John Jones has been a wonderful help adding music and color to the stories.

Our distribution is to individuals through the web site, schools and book stores. Our books are like peanut butter in celery because they sneak healthy principles into the reading diet of children

Karna and Sheri at Karna's home in the Northwest USA.

Artie and Spiff, two ducks befriend a frog who needs their help to move to a new pond. They come up with a fresh idea on how to transport him, but he needs to keep his mouth shut in order to make it for the trip. The story has a lesson for children which stresses the importance of keeping your mouth shut at certain times. The art and story are by painter and artist Karna Peck.
