

STATE FAIR NOMINATION & ENTRY

PARKING

If you want to park in the exhibitor's lot, you must purchase a parking pass. You may do this online when you enter or when you check in at the livestock office when you arrive. If you decide not to purchase a pass, you will need to pay for parking each day in the public lots.

SHAVINGS

Shavings are available to pre-order when you enter. If you do not pre-order shavings, you will need to bring your own. There are no shavings available for purchase at check-in. If you forget yours, there is a Tractor Supply on the north side of town and a Big R in Pueblo West.

HEALTH CERTS

Health Certificates are required for your animal(s) at arrival. Check the Exhibitors Book for the requirements of your animal's species for the health certificate. Try to schedule those early to avoid stress of trying to find a veterinarian that has room in their schedule in August.

RULES & REGS

Exhibitor's Book will be published online in the Spring on the State Fair website. You are responsible for reading the general information section and your species/show section(s). You are also responsible for having a full understanding of all rules that may apply to you or your animal. The dress code applies to both the 4H member and their families.

STATE FAIR

HOT, HOT!

While the barns are kept as cool as possible, it is Pueblo at the end of August. Make sure you have a plan and the necessary supplies (fans, extension cords, misters, etc.) to help keep your animal comfortable while you are there. Avoid the blacktop during the day with your animal if possible.

CAMPING

Camping is available to those exhibitors who have a RV or camper that is under 40' long. The sites have both water and electricity. These reservations are limited in number and highly sought after. Reservations are taken starting in March and a wait list quickly forms. Contact Tracey at (719) 404-2023 for more information.

HAVE FUN!

While State Fair is a big show and there can be a lot of pressure, don't forget to take a moment to have fun. It goes by all together too fast. We are proud of you and going after your big goals!

OVERWHELMED?
