Integration between terrestrial, aerial and satellite networks

Satellite, aerial and ground networks work as one system

Fixed ground networks thin out from urban to remote areas; satellite and aerial layers carry connectivity the rest of the way.

