

I love going to the mountains with Deb. She is the picture of a Yukon woman. Her knowledge with horses, the mountains and living on the land will make anyone feel at ease while travelling through the most remote parts of this wild country. We have been to the mountains twice with the horses. Both times were unforgettable experiences, filled with adventure and plenty of laughs. Deb knows the trails and the land, her horses are safe and secure in any terrain. We have went through swamps, snow, rock and crossed rivers. Deb leads without hesitation and her horses calmly navigate and follow. There is no one I rather go to the mountains with.
