Meet The CEO

In June of 2003, Willie established Emerging Technology Integrators Ltd., interrupting the IT world and how it supplies technology

Willie Jordan was born and raised in Chicago, Illinois. After graduating Chicago's Vocational High School, he served in the military for 7 years in the US army with a keen understanding of how different organizations work. His time spent working tirelessly for other IT companies served as a catalyst into entrepreneurship, ultimately breathing life into ETI.

In June of 2003, Willie established Emerging Technology Integrators, Ltd., interrupting the IT world and how it supplies security and technology to companies of all sizes. In the same month that ETI launched, Willie triumphantly secured his first contract worth $1 million, a true testament to his perseverance, vision, and leadership. Under Willie's guidance, ETI has secured top contracts from government sectors to national hardware retailers.

"It's all about the network."
