

Congress, Protect the U.S. Postal Service Now!

With the Administration's ongoing threats to the United States Postal Service, a bipartisan group of lawmakers have introduced Resolutions in the House and Senate expressing the sense that Congress should take all appropriate measures to ensure that the United States Postal Service remains an independent establishment of the Federal Government and is not subject to privatization.

Privatizing the Postal Service threatens the very lifeline that millions of Americans, especially those in rural and hard-to-reach areas, depend on every day to receive critical deliveries including prescription drugs, checks, online purchases, and mail-in election ballots.

We are committed to advocating for a Postal Service that prioritizes public service over politics and private profit, and we stand ready to work with lawmakers to ensure that USPS remains a pillar of rural communities and a lifeline for all Americans.
