South Fulton, one of Georgia's newest metro suburbs, is at a pivotal stage in its growth—expanding infrastructure, addressing public safety, and meeting urgent health needs, including the call for its own hospital. GHPAC believes that Araba Dowell's leadership, lived experience, and vision uniquely position her to guide South Fulton through this critical moment.

"I am truly honored to receive the endorsement of the Ghana Diaspora Political Action Committee," said Dowell. Their commitment to civic engagement and history of uplifting candidates now serving in office speaks to the power of community when we come together. With thousands of Ghanaian Americans calling Georgia home, their contributions continue to enrich the fabric of our city, our state and our nation. With GHPAC's support, I look forward to working with all of the City of South Fulton stakeholders to Elevate South Fulton."

A proud alum of Emerge Georgia, Araba joins a powerful legacy of women who have successfully run for office after training with the program—23 alumni currently serve in elected and appointed offices across Georgia, including Congresswoman Lucy McBath, Gwinnett County Chairwoman Nicole Hendrickson, and State Representative Ruwa Romman. Araba is also a New American Leaders alum, reflecting her commitment to ensuring the immigrant experience is recognized as an asset in civic leadership.

"Araba Dowell represents the type of transformative leadership South Fulton needs at this time of rapid growth," said Adjoa Kyerematen, President & CEO of GHPAC. "Her dedication to building equitable infrastructure, coupled with her immigrant heritage and community advocacy, makes her the bridge to a stronger, healthier, and more inclusive South Fulton."

A wife, mom and entrepreneur, Araba has more than 20 years of experience, leading Seven Sages Global, and working with Fortune 500 companies, small businesses and government agencies. Her commitment to community runs deep — serving on the boards of Safe Kids Georgia, Best Buddies Georgia and the Midtown Atlanta Rotary Club. She is also a member of Junior League of Atlanta, Leadership DeKalb and United Way VIP. She's rolled up her sleeves with Habitat for Humanity, metro Atlanta Firefighters, the Atlanta Community Food Bank and Atlanta Mission.
