

WHAT TO EXPECT

We understand the importance of clarity, collaboration, and communication when embarking on any project.

Here are some insights + tips for a successful home renovation project!

Communication

There will be lots to discuss + coordinate throughout your project! We aim to keep you in the loop, while minimizing the stress + demands on your time. Plenty will happen behind-the-scenes to ensure steady progress.

Email during normal work hours will be our foundational form of communication. Once construction begins, you'll receive a Friday Weekly Progress Update email outlining what's done and what's coming next.

Progress

Remodeling has its own unique cadence. Some stretches feel exciting and productive, while others seem to drag on without obvious, outward signs of progress. This is a normal part of the process as plenty is still happening with logistics + sequencing between trades.

Prepare for Disruption

A remodel is disruptive, especially if it involves essential areas like a kitchen or bathroom. If you've chosen to stay in your home during construction, plan for temporary alternatives - like setting up a makeshift kitchen in the home. This may feel somewhat adventurous at first - but, will predictably get old. This is one of the reasons we only begin site-work once all of your design plans are finalized. We will work diligently to minimize this downtime.

Flexibility

Understand that some delays or changes may be inevitable. Being flexible + maintaining a positive attitude (because you were smart and hired SWOON!) will keep the project moving smoothly.
