What is Endolift?

EndoLift is a minimally invasive procedure designed to lift and tighten sagging skin.

Utilising advanced laser technology, the treatment stimulates collagen production, which is vital for maintaining skin elasticity and firmness.

The procedure involves inserting a small laser fibre beneath the skin, which emits heat to induce controlled tissue tightening. This process not only tightens the skin but also promotes the natural regeneration of collagen fibres, leading to improved skin texture and tone over time. Unlike traditional surgical facelifts, EndoLift offers a less invasive approach, reducing risks and recovery time.

NAD+ Injections

NAD + Injection	£100
-----------------	------

What is NAD+?

NAD+ (nicotinamide adenine dinucleotide) is a vital coenzyme found in every cell of the body. It plays a crucial role in various biological processes, including energy production, DNA repair, and cellular communication.

As we age, NAD+ levels naturally decline, which can lead to fatigue, cognitive decline, and other age-related health issues.

How Do NAD+ Injections Work?

NAD+ injections provide a direct delivery system for this essential molecule, bypassing the digestive system where oral supplements may lose potency. The injections can be administered subcutaneously (under the skin) or intramuscularly (into the muscle), allowing for faster absorption and immediate effects on cellular function.

Bio-Stimulator Treatments

Face	£200
Neck	£225
Face & Neck	£325

Bio-stimulation is the term used to describe a method to stimulate your immune system to produce collagen.

Injectables are employed to awaken your collagen producing cells known as fibroblasts, in turn preventing further collagen loss. Think of biostimulators as agents to mitigate facial aging.

Biostimulator injections are different from dermal fillers which correct volume loss.

Why have biostimulators?

Think of these injectables as prevention. They form the second form of defence after skin care such as antioxidants & sunscreen.

Dermal fillers, anti-wrinkle injections, lasers & energy devices, used appropriately can reverse aging, whilst biostimulators slow down the aging process. Prevent before treating.
