

Nine Loves of Anthropos-11

(The following is a transcription of a voice recording, content by JLL.)

It is natural and innate to humanity, and essential to the preservation of humanity, to maintain the love of nine things:

- 1. Freedom
- 2. Truth
- 3. Beauty ...

The love of freedom, truth & beauty is the Divine Trinity of being human. You don't need theology and you don't need Religion. Love freedom, truth & beauty and [doing so] will give you everything that any religion could ever claim or offer.

- 4. Innocence
- 5. Pleasure ...

Love innocence and love pleasure because they go together; we are a playful species.

- 6. Learning
- 7. Sharing ...

Love to learn & love to share; they go together.

- 8. Power ...

Power through others and power with others – never power over others. Know your power and love your power.

- 9. Mystery

Love the mystery of life and you will always find your way.

Love the mystery of your own self. How mysterious it is that you even have a self! The fact that you have a self is a deep, deep mystery.

When you love the mystery, you are drawn into the mystery. The mystery invites you, and it guides you – so, love the mystery.
