STEP 1: IDENTIFY THE TYPE OF EXPERT YOU NEED

Not all medical experts are the same. To ensure the best fit, consider the following:

- Medical Specialty – Does your case require a cardiologist, neurologist, emergency room physician, or another specialty?
- Experience & Credentials – Look for board certifications, clinical experience, and previous testimony history.
- Objectivity – Ensure the expert has a history of impartiality and a balanced caseload (not exclusively plaintiff- or defense-oriented).

Pro Tip: Use experts actively practicing in their field to ensure credibility and up-to-date knowledge.

STEP 2: VET YOUR EXPERT WITNESS

Before hiring an expert, thoroughly vet their background:

- ✓ Review CVs and professional credentials
- ✓ Check for past testimony in similar cases
- ✓ Look for disciplinary actions or conflicts of interest
- ✓ Request references from past attorneys they've worked with

Checklist: Questions to Ask Potential Expert Witnesses

- How many times have you testified in a deposition or trial?
- Have you ever been excluded as an expert in court?
- Are you comfortable explaining complex medical terms to a jury?
- How do you prepare for testimony, and what is your availability for depositions?

STEP 3: SECURE AND PREPARE YOUR EXPERT FOR DEPOSITION & TRIAL

Once you've selected your expert, preparation is key:

- 1 Clarify Case Details: Provide the expert with medical records, case summaries, and deposition transcripts.
- 2 Conduct a Mock Deposition: Help your expert anticipate opposing counsel's questions and refine their testimony delivery.
- 3 Ensure Courtroom Readiness: Review potential cross-examination strategies and ensure your expert can explain medical concepts in layman's terms.

Pro Tip: Work with a consulting service like The Medical Case Consultants, LLC, to ensure your expert is prepared to present confidently and withstand cross-examination.
