

Invitation to join THE UNFIXING Project

Our mission is to inspire a perspective shift from despair to healing, achieved through storytelling and creativity.

If our dominant culture and rituals defined our bodies as interconnected with the earth, would we still see the planet as a resource to be ravaged?

THE UNFIXING Project addresses the crises of climate anxiety and chronic illnesses. Our goals include facilitating collaborations of environmental and chronic illness communities, creating spaces for grieving biodiversity loss, and moving people from resignation to hope.

"Healing our bodies requires healing our relationship with ourselves and the earth. THE UNFIXING is a story told in widening circles, of daughters, mothers, and Mother Earth."

- Nicole Betancourt, Director

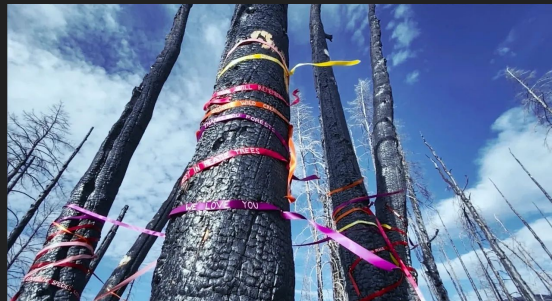

The Feature Documentary

As the climate crisis escalates, a debilitating illness threatens Nicole's life, then her daughter's life. Adrift yet lucid, her encounters reveal a path not only to personal healing, but healing for the planet as she begins to cast a new narrative from which to see the world.

Status: In final stages of post production with support from Karen Toffler Charitable Trust and NYSCA.

The Installation

An immersive and interactive installation that positions our bodies as part of the Earth, creating a beautiful and meditative space to surrender and grieve as an act of connection to nature.

Status: conducted two pilot events in NYC with support from NYFA, Five Ohm, Charcoal Blue and Allied Productions.

Community Engagement Campaign

A series of discussions and workshops created with partner organizations working with climate anxiety, medical trauma, and spiritual ecology. These events will use the film and installation as a launching point to bring people together to inspire healing, connection, and creativity.

Status: In development, building strategic partner network

Join us

Social/political change starts with how we change our point of view. We can co-create change in alignment with nature. What emerges from that might surprise us. I hope that this project offers another way to face the sickness in our bodies and the earth, a path of allowing, listening, receiving - all things I thought were passive. Now I know they are active, require courage, and are acts of rebellion.

Many thanks to everyone who has joined us in the process of making this film over 6 years including my family, Russell Glassman, Cynthia Kane, Fernanda Rossi, Debra Zimmerman, Karen Toffler Charitable Trust, NYSCA, NYFA, Antaviana, Electric Ladybug Garden, Green Oasis, Allied Productions, Sustainability Leadership Fellows, Peter Lubell, Jade Netanya Ullmann, Alan Berliner, Edie Farwell, Andrea Ferrando, Lisa Gossels, Susan Kaplan, Julia Novy, Tricia Regan, Monica Rivera Mindt, Nonette Royo, Peter Saraf, Any Sulistyowati, Juan Carlos Zaldívar, Victoria Cummings, Tatiana Erdman, Rosa Fusté, Cyndi Goretski Walker, Melora Hardin, Roanne Kolvenbach, Joanna Macy, Elizabeth Sawin, Denise Schaeffer, Toby Shimin, Analise Roland, Julie Anderson, Thom Powers, Climate Mental Health Network, Good Grief Network.
