WOODS

A MUSICAL UNFAIRYTALE

Once upon a (pick a time in history) a woman escapes from her abusive lover and finds herself in a dingy motel in the middle of nowhere.

Mysteriously drawn into the woods, she wanders off the beaten path and discovers an ancient bog. There she encounters three mythical hags at their annual Boghag reunion (they're not scary, they're just misunderstood).

Among the flatulating mushrooms, flirty flightless birds, a random game show dream sequence, punk rocking crones, an egocentric King from a Shakespearean tragedy, and a visiting hag from 'down south', the woman navigates the bewildering darkness, trying to find her way home and into the light.

Think Alice in Wonderland or The Wizard of Oz – just add eviscerating social satire ... and a lot more mud.

Are you interested in supporting these witchy women?
