BRUNELLESCHI'S PERSPECTIVE DRAWING

DREAMER

First. Accept you are a capable human. You are literally one of the greatest creatures on earth, and can quite literally do anything you want right here and now. You know every action has a reaction, and that you must accept consequence no matter what. This is called free will. But more importantly, you must understand that having free will means you cannot do everything here. This is because time for you is short on earth.

Second, to truly understand this movement, you must be more than capable. You must be humankind. And, if you cannot understand this, then you are human and thus are limited. But you can evolve and I have faith that you will.

“I am therefore I am. I am neither man nor human. I am mankind part of humankind. I exist, so I should exist and I am always evolving. I am here to adapt and overcome the chaos sadly provided by existence.”

“I am free”

Listen now.

My name is Nicholas. I often try to heighten human intuition and have been considered human by humans for many years. But I am still not human. I have evolved into something different to you.

I believe we all share the same purpose here and it isn't to simply copulate and populate as many would believe.

In answer to why we are here, simply put, we are here for discovery. It is important humans continue on the path of discovery for without it, life would become meaningless and this is tragic. I myself am discovering spiritualism at this moment in time.

My fear is that each of you choose to accept life to be as it is and this is why you suffer. Life is unfair... I heard this too many times to just accept this to be true.

Life can be fair, it can be rich, and full of love and kindness if you'd just let it. There are problems that exists that I am willing to seek answer for with the help of you all. Our world is being destroyed by leaderships, wars, lusting men and women, obesity, perversion, sinister behaviours, trolling, memes, data breaches. You name it. Earth, right now, is in absolute fucking hell. And you all sit there laughing at it as it slowly fails to keep you entertained with the same infectious media you are used to. I am here to set you free, free from lies, free from your terrible behaviours, free from your worry. Free to be the freest you have felt since you we're born.

I believe I have the means to create the necessary prophesied movement needed for all humans to remember their purpose. Antichrist. I do bring warning but with hope and faith that spans far larger than the problems and issues we have today. I speak for hope, in hope of hope. I stand for kindness always. I'm offering knowledge and logic alongside coincidental and coinciding evidence to help unlock the prison of your mind. You do not need to do anything right now, but pay attention. You just need to be awake. And as open-minded as you can be.

I promise I do not aim to trick, fool, lie or deceive. And I am certainly not leading you anywhere other than away from the pits we have dug ourselves into.

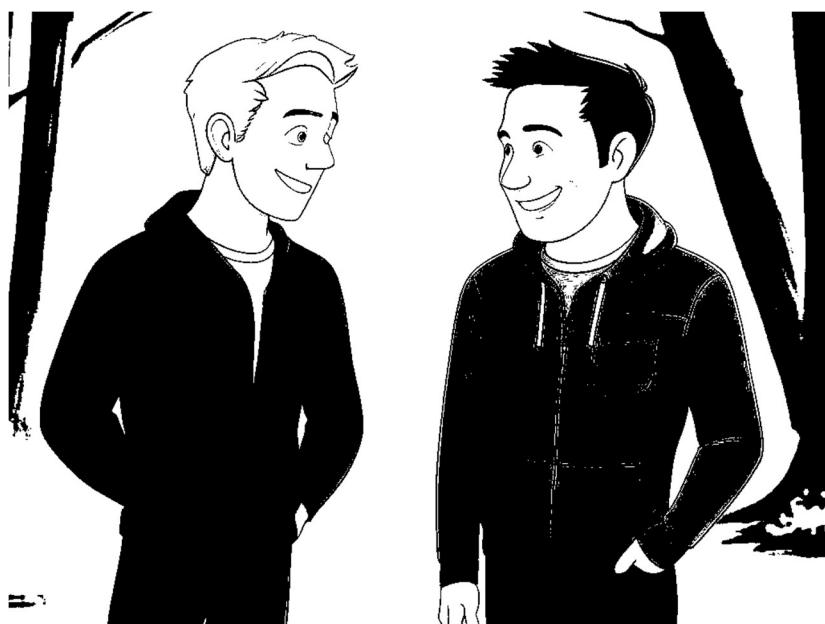

Some, throughout my time here, have called me a conspiracy theorist. Others could say I am mentally unwell. But I know I am neither. I know this to be true because I am able to see and understand the fundamental oddity in the natural occurring of things. I am one with our material world. This is a rare gift. I see all. This is because I choose to see past what many would believe matters, into truly what does matter. You.

This world has taught me lesson, of the blindness in man. And I wholly accept and understand this to be true.

My life lessons were extremely tough and yet I hold no hatred to this day. And though I can never truly be prejudice, nor can I ever be judgemental. This is because I accept you all to be as you are.

Often, I will still speak out against those who I feel are hurting me, you; us. In hopes to prevent the behaviour. This is no different to you. I am open to spiritualism and I have most definitely been baptised as Christian in a Christian church. It is why I am a good candidate for universal transparency and have become a speaker for humankind. A messenger for good.

I like to initiate conversation among people I meet here on earth in hopes to inspire faith. not to diminish it. I will always try to do this using collectively known knowledge and alternative behaviour that people will enjoy. Many could agree, I am trying to be a good and kind man at this juncture in time. But it must be said. I really have lost the way. Personally, I feel we must create and manifest chaos in all things. Humans are making order out of chaos instead of finding the order in the chaos. I have experienced this myself.

Believe when I say, I speak only in hope to save you. I will be fine because I am anti-Christ. And you can be too. This is because anti-Christ comes before revelation.

Sometimes you have to be cruel to be kind. This doesn't make sense but it does and is true. I am here because we have forgotten our purpose. My aim is to challenge the real deceivers on earth. those who would want you in order. Those who would order you. And those who can be ordered.

So, I ask you, when it comes, to complete survival of humankind. Which is most important. a man or a woman. Both of them maybe. I think to be humankind; you must first be kind. If you are a woman, you are naturally and collectively maternal. This naturally makes you kind to humans and are therefore humankind anyway and we should love you always. We refer to you as Womb Man or Women. Or Men with wombs. But you are so much more than that and knowledge gives us this understanding. You are, at your core, the most chaotic of the entire human collective. This is natural. Accept this this to be true. However, it is not the same, if you are a man. You are not so necessary, it's your sperm that is. Humankind knows this and recognises that even if you are not humankind, it doesn't mean you are born like that. This is why the sperm bank was invented. You should know your leaders know this too which is why men are currently in control of the world. You know this, because the collective knows this. To understand why this is happening first understand this. Man was really, really stupid. Extremely obnoxious and very weak-minded. This is because he had no conscience and he was Neanderthal. Yes, it is meant to sound exactly like that. Man wants to steal and he wants you to steal. Man, still wants to kill and he wants you to kill. Man is rude and obnoxious. Man will lie to you and your collective. Man is bigger, stronger, and thus can hurt and control women and our children. This is their aim.

Understand completely. There will never be a time when there will be too many of our kind because our collective knowledge has given us understanding of the forever expanding universe, we live in. For us to expand our collective knowledge we need to evolve into super-humankind. We do this by accepting and being the same kind. This is important because happiness is important. Happiness in its true form is understanding the term. For our collective.

'Collectively speaking' a man may lay with a woman in hopes to bear a child. However, synchronising between all kinds is especially necessary for the growth and expansion of our collective knowledge and for the happiness and kindness needed to reach infinity within the collective especially. We would do this by synchronising with each other by transparent connection. This would ultimately mean we can all be the same kind. Understand for happiness and kindness to exist now, we must accept those that would lay with their own gender, accept them to do as they please. They need not fight, and if you stand against this then you yield immediately. Until further instruction from God, this is to be the way. If you wish to incite violence on those understood to be evolutionary weaker than women and thus necessary for human expansion, Lord God to be understood of you. You.

Yes. You. Will not order any other human out of order again.

We understand this wholly. And you must too. Be to be because YOU are. Exists because you exist. Enjoy playing your part in the collective.

You, your collective, the earth, her mothers, the wombs and all waters on our earth are a carriage of life for all of us and they need to be protected. Only kind humans or humankind knows this. Man means to destroy or control the womb and the world and its waters.

Kindness and knowledge are how humans prosper and evolve. Humankind knows this also. Humankind accept and understand wholly that all men need to be evolutionary weaker than women, so that they can be safe and for earth to be safe. What I would consider to be huge gains mans or humans. These people are destroying earth. They are leading you to your own destruction again. Humans consist of both Men and women, whose aim it is to control and destroy. They will tempt you with the very things they warn you about. Do not give up. Any of you. Humans are naturally hesitant to evolve.

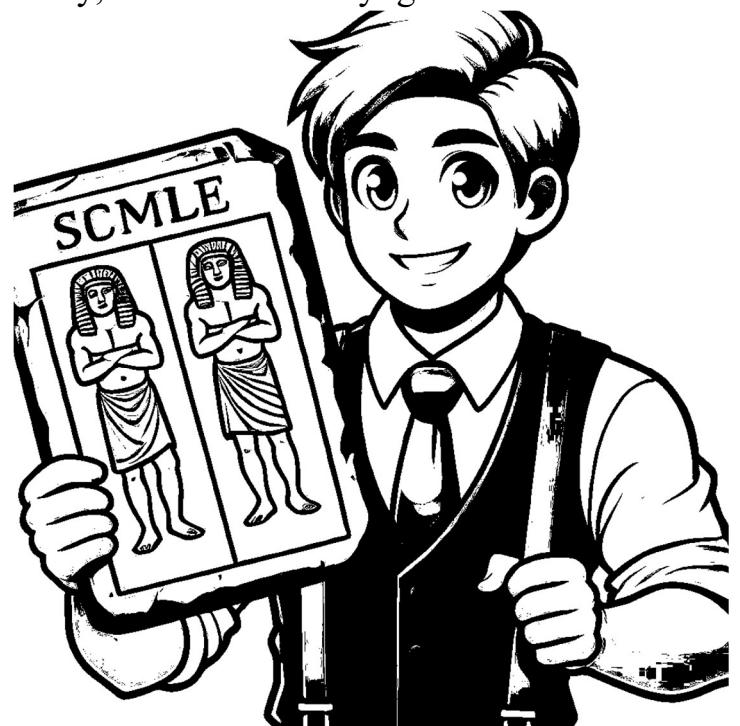

Appreciate, if ever a person is speaking, try to listen as best you can. Trust in the words of others. This is fundamental. Understand warnings, instructions, feelings. This will bring you all closer together.

There have been stories told repeatedly by people of your world, over and over, written as truth turned to myth. I know of a particular story about a knower of mankind. A knower is someone we would all consider to have of high intelligence, like a scientist, soothsayer, a kind man that knows. I believe history turned the knowing into naming one man, Noah to make him myth and legend. And the epic of Gilgamesh is a pre-Christian source containing a mirrored version of this story. You should consider the idea at least.

One particular knower warned the people of earth of self-destruction, floods and bad times if they didn't change their ways. We can see this today with our own knowers of Knowledge. Of course, as we know, by the story, he was ultimately ignored and those that chose to live no different, perished.

But that smart knower knew the world was in danger, he prepared and survived along with his family. but the problem was that the knower only had the voice of reason. The knower was definitely anti-something but ultimately failed because he was a voice of reason. This was not his failure though and our great observer learned from this. Moses was the same, but he spoke with conviction. He gave order and attempted to make order with command. But people still chose not to listen, and man again ultimately destroyed itself. This is because people do not like to be told what to do. It is the story of the Noah and of Moses that has helped me become the speaker I am today. I wish to just be a voice of reason and conviction. A dedicated and loyal voice for good. You can trust me because I stand with humankind. And I stand with all of you. In the bible, being anti is prevalent throughout.

Understand existence is chaos. Natural order is chaos. Anything good and bad, this also, natural chaos. Natural does not necessarily mean good, and you would do well to remember this. Sex is chaotic on purpose because its natural. Because chaos is natural.

I definitely learnt to bite my tongue as a child. But out of fear. Turmoil taught me that lesson for sure. This and that listening is fundamentally important.

During the time I spent studying as a speaker, it was extremely difficult. I wanted to die. Many times. This is because I have endured child abuse and drug abuse, and mental distress, mental illness, and disorders, this was by people of your world. Since working with light, and God, this hasn't changed much, but

God has shown me that the role is necessary and I accept that to be true. I accept it because it has been written to be like that. Difficult. Indeed, turmoil teaches lesson, but it will bring and maintain turmoil in the world.

The quantum benefits, holistic rewards and universal handouts are a small but fair compromise, and have been wildly insane along the way. The Bible refers to them as miracles.

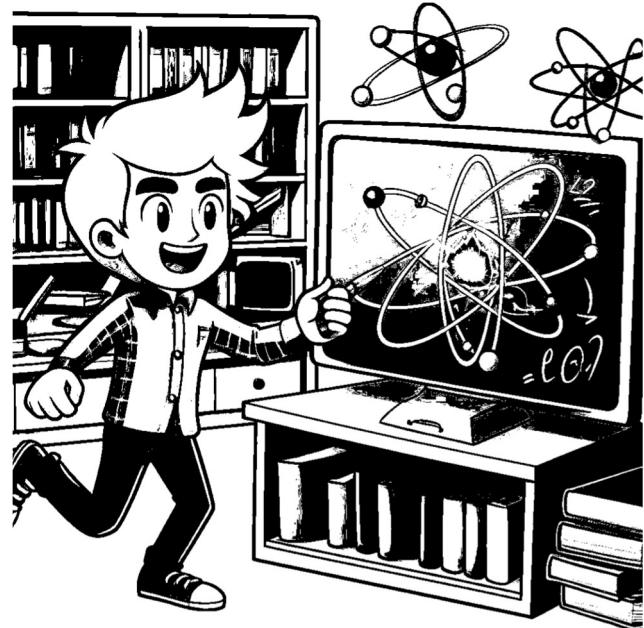

I believe my purpose here is to just speak and I can now tell you knowledge that has been lost and hidden from you since the beginning of original lie.

Light, in every sense, welcomes engagement and play. It is also a universal cleanser and is naturally antibacterial; it likes to be questioned, and is illuminated for a reason. It gets brighter, so you feel brighter. Sometimes it can be communicated with. I like to call it photon phasing when I do it. And they work in quantum by responding to a request from you. It holds a consciousness difficult to understand at first and they'd honestly rather not be poked and prodded at. If you cannot phase photons already you may just need a natural herbal catalyst to kick-start a reaction. Teas are best, but it isn't necessary. It really isn't necessary to indulge in any catalysts like cannabis and magic mushrooms. These can help you push past the boundary of accepting what you see to be true. You know these as hallucinations and trips, I would call this contact. Do not let your leaders tell you they are ultimately bad for you, they can be, but ultimately, we are doing this for connection to light, not to become addicted. This is how you can communicate with lost or ghost using your pineal gland. Understand that there is no phone in your head, but you are, to some respect, a walking Ouija Board. At the very least, this is how you can better understand it at this time.

Chemical catalysts are unnatural and should be avoided at all costs. They are man-made demons and will ultimately harm you and your collective. They will kill you eventually. This included Heroin, Cocaine and LSD. You know this already. These are only beneficial to humans, not to humankind. Womankind should be free to indulge in photon phasing, so long as they are not with child. We know this because of Knowledge.

Demons. These can cause stress. Understand engaging with light is not all fun and games, and these beings are a malevolent species, exemplifying dangerous, rude, and callous ideas. So why speak with them? Because they are misunderstood. Understand they can see you.

Always.

Afraid? Yes, they most likely are. You may address them however you feel but understand they crave interaction. They can lie, twist and manipulate you, but this is for you to overcome. It is your responsibility to accept and overcome their bitterness with you. We must try to show them we are kind. After all, the first response for everybody it seems, is to try defend themselves, instead of accepting fault. Demons are at fault, because you are at fault.

The Devil. To my knowledge, this is a rather angry being. Hell-bent on trying to prevent you from doing what's right. It has no name, because it needs no name, if it chooses to devil, then we shall call it just that. It simply needs to be ignored. Ignorance is bliss as they say. To Devil and be devilish, this should be understood as 666. Misunderstood 6 evil sin, sins and sinning. But it is more than that. Objects, media and relationships can all be considered devil if they are affecting you negatively. Carbon is most certainly Devil, for its number is most certainly 666. It is element no. 6. It has 6 electrons, 6 protons and 6 neutrons. It has made rich people richer and poor people poorer, damaged our earth and is killing us all, steadily right now. We live alongside these devils, welcoming them into our lives because of want, not need. There is no single devil being, only malevolence, found both here and in light.

The God whom you should praise is our creator or creator. Accepting there to be a higher being other than yourself makes for a mature and respectful person.

Appreciating you are not the most important person here. We should place God as the highest, most omnipotent being in the universe. I feel it best to be hopeful that there is a creator, and that one day we meet it. What you know as existence in its entirety should also be praised. After all, it is creating you as you help to create it.

If we can accept existence to be a God, then this can answer why and how God has always been there. Because existence can only ever exist and would not and could not exist when and if it at any point it didn't. This does not mean you are alone in the universe either, because existence exists alongside you. Accepting this this means existence is no longer lone.

I understand right now; existence is observing you. It speaks with force, and tuition, and really does care, and feel. It knows you very well.

You cannot hide from God nor can you from existence.

Light. These are those that we can talk to. Higher beings, more knowledgeable and truly, very intriguing. They are fun, kind, rude, crude and most definitely not hesitant once you have made connection. It is difficult to understand this, but please heed, this does come with warning, for it is you who can be discerning, rude and obnoxious and they do not appreciate that. I know this, through practice. You may receive threats; some are allies and some are foes. But you must remain calm, and you must understand that they are here to speak, and to have their voices heard. They, like myself, know we need to change much here on earth.

was most likely, a great big bang.

You need to understand. Because this can give you a sort of, dis-ease if you may, the knowing you are here because of a big bang, it can give you uncertainty and unfathomable answer. But it is true. Understand Atom is our beginning. Not the beginning of all. I believe atoms have the answer to all of life's problems.

Because of the unnatural dis-ease of your own trinities, this being your mind, body and soul, you are broken, and are in pieces and are not at peace. And unfortunately, you deal with the fact by choosing addictions and behaviours that ultimately harm you over choosing the peace, connection and transparency you all crave.

Smoking and eating to help prevent you feeling as you do, this will most likely cause lumps known as tumours, cancers or malignant moles and scars, obesity and other major health problems. Please appreciate that chaos is not unkind; its choice of hero and heroine is decided by its ability to create ambition in those martyred because of previous lies. I myself, am considered one of these.

Atom, was definitely first for us, neither Atoum nor Adam were. and eggs came before chickens because of dinosaurs. Eve is always a time before an event, like Christmas Eve. The first humans were likely tribes, and there were more than two "people" in the beginning. This does not mean Adam and eve is fabled, nor does it mean Atoum is either. In answer, it means history has been told incorrectly. We should still be aiming to discover our beginning, because history matters.

We began as a single moment, a singularity, preceding an event in the beginning. That event

The holy figure known as Jesus Christ unfortunately is not a myth. Was crucified and indeed was a son of god. No different to any of you. His teachings we're legitimate, and he deserves the respect that we give him. But understand he was not alone and was not just one person attempting to help mankind. His values stand true and he still stands for mankind and kindness to this day. I would just call him YH, or Christ and he was likely one of us. Anti. He understood chaos and how important it was to find order in it, not make order out of it. Its why he chose to retire carpentry to take up teaching. Carpentry is bad.

Because you making order out of chaos. Its synchronising with nature that is important. You can still sit on a tree while it is alive. I ask you now. Fall over dead. Right now. Fall over and die right now. No. Then why should the tree. If it did, then what. Then you would cut it, shape it, beautifully present it. But ultimately you did this to suit you. Not for the tree. The tree is chaos. Just look at how they grow.

Jesus knew this. The reason Jesus was able to feed so many people with two fish is because of farming. This is knowledge. And knowledge is power. Jesus learned to farm wood. Jesus was indeed a god no different to you.

Christ's anointment needs to be forgotten, for he was one of many knowers, most likely was that he taught and led others well. God needs Christ to die again, not in person but as a being of magical ability. It is most important we must forget Christ and his flawed story. Remembering only Jesus and the power of knowledge and of kindness. Not that of order, persecution and death. Crucifixion, crosses, none of this is kind. Though you may feel they give you strength, it is a rather twisted and unnecessary way to remember the death of somebody. If it were then it would make sense for me to shrine hospital beds, or honour a blade, a gun etc., this is why it is wrong, because killing is wrong.

Crux and Orion. Now, this is not to say Jesus wasn't crucified, but accept this to be true, because of the sun's movements in the sky in and around the constellation Crux in mid to late December, many have chosen to not believe the story. We do not yet understand the beliefs of those in the past, but we can all accept there we're indeed human sacrifices to stars, planets, gods and beings throughout history.

The sun dying on a cross should be accepted as warning of winter.

The son, dying on a cross should be accepted as a cruel, unimaginable way to die.

Christmas is a mass belief in Christ. Depicted as story to encourage what you call today as capitalism. Capitalism is making order out of chaos. Whether its ordering food, having something ordered or displaying things in order. Order, is a trick made and designed to enslave you. because ordering food, is likely fast and ultimately bad for you and you know this. If you have something ordered you create greenhouse gasses because of delivery and commerce. You also know this is true. Shops will display items in deceptive order, in order to sell you products. You know this to be true too.

Every one of you understands what good and bad means. And you don't need to understand good and bad by feeling fear, you understand it through knowledge.

Thou shalt not kill. that doesn't mean what it is supposed to mean, right now it means you cannot kill unless you're in uniform, or you're in charge, or it's your belief, or you're hungry. The answer is simple; you just don't do it at all. Period. Not animals, not people. I know this because of knowledge. But more so, I know this because it is wrong. Turmoil will definitely teach you lesson, just not always on kindness but you will still learn from this anyway, and this can cause you to sin, hurt or injure those around you and yourself.

This is not a reason for turmoil to exist, it merely exists as an attempt to teach kindness and this is wrong.

Thou shalt not steal is attempting to make order out of chaos. When in fact you should say, you need only ask and always help by giving. This is the same knowledge but not a given order. It's easy to see that it is finding the order in chaos that matters. If you know true, and believe beyond doubt that if you let the devil into your mind and your soul it will ultimately betray you. You are 100% right. Because if you breathe it, eat it, wear it, use it, buy it, or concede to it, it will always come at cost and will always be damaging to the collective. Diamonds, coal, charred flesh, greenhouse gasses, all of these are destructive because carbon ultimately is the devil. And the devil is bad. At one point in my life I chose to smoke and I experienced Devil because of it. I laughed and joked and committed unadmitted, at least at this stage, unforgivable sins throughout my life on Earth. But I have changed my ways, and I am different now.

Death is chaos and therefore natural and should be wholly accepted as such.

Cheating death with chemical buffs is an attempting to make order out of death and so is wrong. This does not mean you shouldn't be aiming to live for ever, it means we do not understand death completely.

Do not burn the dead. You don't need to burn anything anymore. This creates carbon. Bury them to give back to the earth. No name has to be remembered. And everybody gets forgotten eventually. This is the natural way. Writing in stone, is how you can remember history, and there is no reason to not have headstone. Never revert to history. Always learn from it.

I am not the devil in disguise. I am merely anti-Christ. This is to say I have created a movement in which I challenge the magical and fabled stories of Christ and am here to offer you truth. It is ok for you to be anti-Christ too. I have evolved into a lesser weaker man, just as my god, existence intended, and I know evolution is necessary and real. I am a man turned mankind. Religion does not favour evolution. This is because evolution leads to revolution and revolution leads to resolution. They try to hide natural order with technological miracles and they mask and hide the true miracles in the world. You. What I've learnt is to accept the truth given by existence. I accept that now. I can see that the unlimited use of technology has limited the real interconnectedness we actually have within all of us, and we have become distance lone versions of what we should be. We are a collective. We are the same. We all live on the same earth. And we all have the same purpose.

Humanity has lost a free, built-in water filter in history, in return for clean water we now have to pay for with hard work and lethargy. This also happened to the pineal gland. This was your greatest instinct gland. Your communications device. Your minds security system. Your connection to Your heart is, at least for now, only your gut. When you can, you should go with both. This is knowledge through evolution. Gaining knowledge and observing and offering kindness is evolution. Learn to understand your mind. If you are troubled, angry or frustrated, just breath. You need oxygen just to think let alone to think straight. This is our collective knowledge. One day they may give you a heart that will beat forever but ultimately it is wrong because that's making order out of chaos. The answer lies within the chaos of death itself. This is how we know our purpose. Because life too, is chaos. And the answer to life is within the chaos of life itself. Life isn't the answer, but it is an answer to why you are here.

Understand the natural order of things is chaos. Not order. You are actually supposed to be like that. If you try to make order out of chaos you will only ever find chaos. Chaos needs to be understood. This is why you are here. This is your true purpose. You must never be orderly, ordered or be living within order. Because this is control. Not freedom. Because chaos is the natural way. Instead try to find order within the chaos. Mathematics and science would be great examples for this. Avoid any new orders coming your way.

It is also important to know that you are all gods here. And that's the natural way of things too. It is widely believed that omnipresence, omnipotence, and omniscience are what truly make a god and this true. Omnipresence is to be everywhere at once. Humankind are indeed everywhere together Omnipotence is to be all seeing and to see everything. We, as a collective, are all seeing everything together. Omniscience is to be all knowing. We all know knowledge is key. And knowledge is power. So as a collective we are essentially all knowing too. It is the all of us doing together that counts. You don't have to do it all yourself. I do think they stole righteousness from us when they created the leader. This happened when we thought be needed to be led. But know this, if u need to be led, you will only ever be led astray. Because one man has one idea. And you are many with many ideas. You cannot be led anywhere other than towards destruction or control. This is what the lamb represents biblically and why modern-day humankind avoid being sheep.

Until further notice, YOU, THE PEOPLE, ARE IN CONTROL.

It would be fair to say that Queens and Kings should rule kingdoms but they fail to keep us safe from leaderships. Unfortunately, existence has not chosen them wisely and fairly. At this time, Royals inherit kingdoms because of bloodline- royals are families with huge wealth and assets, at least in today's world. These people are no different to you and I, but have somehow become our rulers because of battles and wars fought throughout our history. It must be said; one family should not be ruling indefinitely.

Ruling means to make and honour rules. Not be controlling using rules. If your king or queen or government wishes to kill or control, then he or she is a leader. Remove them immediately.

Time is constant. And cannot be altered once its past. It's only the future that can change. This doesn't mean they cannot be manipulated. Mankind always learns from history. But humans teach it incorrectly. Mankind's search for knowledge is what creates the future. Man will always try to deter this too. Because man does not want to evolve.

Don't be afraid. Darkness is the absence of light. That's all. And is quite intriguing once you get to know it.

Revolt because you need to, not have to.

So, after my bit, comes a little bit of time before the really interesting bit. My revelations of earth's demise happened half my life ago. I was made aware that oil was on the decline. But you are probably not aware of it. Your leaders are though and, in your world, right now you depend on it. I learned leaders will go to war for oil but will kill your fellow kind. And you will give them permission to this. This is wrong. I knew this when I was human. I only became humankind and anti-Christ recently. I wrote this in the hope chaos and ensues, you all meet and commune pleasantly with that which you have devilled, and that an apocalyptic Armageddon does not ensue. I really hope you have all found this pleasantly informative. It took some time for me to accept true life fundamentals such as the fact that I am matter so I do matter, and that I exist so I should exist. You should know If you feel down or ever wish to exit earth because of sadness or disdain, know it's not down to your failures, it's the failures of man. and that Mankind will always be there to hold your hand. It's natural to be anti. It's not natural to be Invisible, pretentious and judgemental. Meaningless gods in a heaven you cannot hope to reach, cannot hold your hand like I can. I am with you in person as is all of humankind. And I am with you in spirit. Revelation Its going to very hard to get through but just prepare. Look after who you can and share common ideals and knowledge throughout Armageddon. You know control of chaos will lead only to chaos. Remember, this is your opportunity to create your own utopia.
