Sunday of the Paralytic

By St. John of Kronstadt

Listen, my brethren, to the sermon for today’s reading from the Acts of the Apostles. This reading speaks of the healing by the Apostle Peter in the name of Jesus Christ of the paralytic Aeneas, a certain man in the city of Lydda, and of the resurrection from the dead by the same Apostle Peter in the city of Joppa (Jaffa) of one virtuous Christian woman named Tabitha, through prayer and the command to stand up (Acts 9:32–42). What is noteworthy about this reading? – The strong faith of the Apostle Peter in Christ the Savior and the divine, life-giving power of Christ are worthy of note.

Peter sees before him a paralytic man who has not moved for eight years and immediately heals him in the name of Jesus Christ. “Aeneas!” he says to the sick man, “Jesus Christ heals you; get up from your bed.” And he immediately stood up. The word was followed by deed. What a power of faith in Christ God! What power is in the name of Christ! It instantly revived dead limbs and gave them the strength of youth! But what a close union of Peter with Christ! What Peter wants, the Lord also wants! What Peter commands, the Lord also designs and the Lord immediately fulfills it. This is how closely Peter, who denied Christ, was united with Christ through repentance and faith! This is what unshakable faith he had in Him! What fiery love! Glory to the mercy of Christ, which accepts repentant sinners! Glory to the divine power of Christ, working miraculously in those who believe in Him!

But look further at how Peter works miracles by the power of Christ. Two people come to Peter to ask him to come to the same house where the deceased was. Peter got up and went with them; he is led into the upper room where the deceased Tabitha lay, asking him with tears to perform power in the name of God. Peter sends everyone out and, bending his knees, prays to the Life-Giver Christ God for the granting of life to the deceased and, turning to the body, says: “Tabitha! get up.” And she opened her eyes and, seeing Peter, sat up. He gave her his hand and raised her; and calling the saints and widows, he brought her before them alive.

See what miracles Peter’s strong faith works! See what miracles the Life-Giver Christ God, risen from the dead and living forever and ever, performs through His faithful disciple! What will some of today’s people, called Christians, who are ashamed of the name of Christ and His saving sign and dare to equate Him only with an extraordinary person, not believing in Him as God, say to this? Didn’t all His words and deeds manifest and still manifest in Him the living and omnipotent God, as they will not cease to manifest until the end of the age?

For just as it is impossible for the sun not to shine and not to give life to nature, so it is impossible for Christ the Savior not to work miracles in His Church - not to give life to those who believe in Him. And, until now He performs an innumerable number of miracles with those who believe in Him, both in their souls and in their bodies, cleansing all sins of those who repent, driving away fierce sorrows from their hearts, giving peace, joy and boldness to hearts, help in all kinds of needs, healing various diseases. All who live by faith know this from experience; and for this reason, their faith is firm, and no one and nothing can shake it.

Stand before us, you of little faith and unfaithful, and say that you are an unfaithful person in Christ, that you renounce Him and His Church in words and deeds and speak your absurd words into the wind? But you believers, be established in your faith from day to day; study it every day; try to follow the rules of faith, so that your faith does not grow cold, but burns and warms, cleanses, sanctifies and enlightens your hearts constantly; for the spirit of unbelief strives to shake faith in all hearts. Temptations against faith appear everywhere from people who are foolish and corrupt in mind and heart. Live by faith, fulfill church statutes; pray unceasingly with your mind and heart; call often on the sweetest name of Christ our Savior; attend divine services at the appointed times: and you will be with God, and God will be with you, and He will help you in everything, and especially in the most important thing - to live piously, in the fear of God, and save your soul. Amen.

Acts 9:32-42 (Epistle)

Now it came to pass, as Peter went through all parts of the country, that he also came down to the saints who dwelt in Lydda. There he found a certain man named Aeneas, who had been bedridden eight years and was paralyzed. And Peter said to him, “Aeneas, Jesus the Christ heals you. Arise and make your bed.” Then he arose immediately. So all who dwelt at Lydda and Sharon saw him and turned to the Lord. At Joppa there was a certain disciple named Tabitha, which is translated Dorcas. This woman was full of good works and charitable deeds which she did. But it happened in those days that she became sick and died. When they had washed her, they laid her in an upper room. And since Lydda was near Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent two men to him, imploring him not to delay in coming to them. Then Peter arose and went with them. When he had come, they brought him to the upper room. And all the widows stood by him weeping, showing the tunics and garments which Dorcas had made while she was with them. But Peter put them all out, and knelt down and prayed. And turning to the body he said, “Tabitha, arise.” And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up. Then he gave her his hand and lifted her up; and when he had called the saints and widows, he presented her alive. And it became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed on the Lord.

Tone 5

Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia!

V. I will sing of Thy mercies, O Lord, forever; with my mouth I will proclaim Thy truth from generation to generation. (Ps. 88:1-2)
V. For Thou hast said: Mercy will be established forever; Thy truth will be prepared in the heavens. (Ps. 88:3)

John 5:1-15 (Gospel)

After this there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. Now there is in Jerusalem by the Sheep Gate a pool, which is called in Hebrew, Bethesda, having five porches. In these lay a great multitude of sick people, blind, lame, paralyzed, waiting for the moving of the water. For an angel went down at a certain time into the pool and stirred up the water; then whoever stepped in first, after the stirring of the water, was made well of whatever disease he had. Now a certain man was there who had an infirmity thirty-eight years. When Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he already had been in that condition a long time, He said to him, “Do you want to be made well?” The sick man answered Him, “Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up; but while I am coming, another steps down before me.” Jesus said to him, “Rise, take up your bed and walk.” And immediately the man was made well, took up his bed, and walked. And that day was the Sabbath. The Jews therefore said to him who was cured, “It is the Sabbath; it is not lawful for you to carry your bed.” He answered them, “He who made me well said to me, ‘Take up your bed and walk.’” Then they asked him, “Who is the Man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk?’” But the one who was healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, a multitude being in that place. Afterward Jesus found him in the temple, and said to him, “See, you have been made well. Sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you.” The man departed and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.

Explanation of Today's Gospel Reading

By Blessed Theophylact
Archbishop of Ochrid and Bulgaria

1-4. After this there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. Now there is in Jerusalem by the Sheep Gate a pool, which is called in Hebrew, Bethesda, having five porches. In these lay a great multitude of sick people, blind, lame, paralyzed, waiting for the moving of the water. For an angel went down at a certain time into the pool and stirred up the water; then whoever stepped in first, after the stirring of the water, was made well of whatever disease he had. *There was a feast of the Jews - Pentecost, I believe. The Lord went up on this feast for two reasons. First, to celebrate with the others lest His absence be interpreted as opposition to the law. Second, to use the occasion of the feast to draw more people to Himself by His signs and teaching, especially from among the guileless multitude, such as farmers and city craftsmen, who on other days were occupied with their work. The pool was called Sheep's Pool, because the sheep intended for the temple sacrifices were brought there and their entrails were washed in its water. It was the common belief that the washing of the sacrificial entrails imparted divine power to the water, and that after the washing an angel would descend to the water to work a miracle. Here divine providence is plainly evident, guiding the Jews of ancient times towards faith in Christ by preordaining this miracle of the pool. God intended in due time to bestow Baptism, the greatest of gifts, making it full of power to wash away sins and bring souls to life. Therefore, He prefigured Baptism in the Judaic practices of the Old Covenant by directing the Jews to use water for cleansing from defilement. This water did not cleanse the fundamental stain of sin. It merely granted them purification from the pollutions they believe occurred on various occasions in the course of everyday life, such as contact with a leper or corpse. Similarly, God worked this miracle at the pool to prepare the Jews to receive the grace of Baptism. An angel would come down at certain times and trouble the waters and infuse it with healing power. Water itself had no power to heal - if it did it would heal everywhere on every occasion. This miracle was accomplished entirely by the activity and divine energy of the angel. Likewise, with us. In Baptism ordinary water by the divine invocations receives the grace of the Holy Spirit and cleanses us from spiritual disease. The water of Baptism heals all: the blind, whose spiritual eyes are darkened and cannot distinguish good from evil; the lame, who are paralyzed and neither practice virtue nor make any spiritual progress; and the withered, who are in complete despair, because of their inability to accomplish anything good. In former times infirmity prevented many from being healed* in the waters of the pool, and only one was made whole. But now, what hinders any man from being baptized? If the whole world approached at once for Baptism, its grace would not be diminished.

5-7. Now a certain man was there who had an infirmity thirty-eight years. When Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he already had been in that condition a long time, He said to him, "Do you want to be made well?" The sick man answered Him, "Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up; but while I am coming, another steps down before me." The perseverance of the paralytic is astounding. For thirty-eight years he lay there waiting, each year hoping to be healed. But every time, those who were stronger and quicker got to the water before him. Yet he never despaired. The only purpose of the Lord's question - "Do you want to be made well?" - was to reveal the paralytic's patient and steadfast endurance. What sick man would not want to be healed? And indeed, the paralytic answers gently and humbly: "Yea, Lord, I wish to be healed, but I have no man who is able to carry me into the water." He does not blaspheme; he does not rebuke Christ for asking a stupid question; he does not curse the day of his birth as we often do, fainthearted as we are, when subject to a much slighter affliction than his. He answers meekly, having no idea to Whom he was speaking, but hoping Jesus would help him into the water. Note well that the Lord asked, "Do you want to be made well?" and not "Do you want Me to make you well?" He posed the question as He did to avoid any appearance of boastfulness.

8-10. Jesus said to him, "Rise, take up your bed and walk." And immediately the man was made well, took up his bed, and walked. And that day was the Sabbath. The Jews therefore said to him who was cured, "It is the Sabbath; it is not lawful for you to carry your bed." He answered them, "He who made me well said to me, 'Take up your bed and walk.'" Jesus commands the paralytic to pick up his bed in order to confirm that the miracle was no illusion. Unless his limbs were truly firm and strong, the man would not have been able to carry his bed. The Lord did not require, as He did many others, that the paralytic show faith before he was healed, for the man had never seen Christ work a sign. Whenever the Lord did require faith of those He was about to heal, He had already performed other miracles in their presence. See how the paralytic believed as soon as he heard Jesus' word. He did not hesitate and think, "He is mad! I have been here thirty-eight years without being made whole, and now all at once He commands me to stand." Instead, he believed - and rose to his feet. The Lord heals on the Sabbath to teach men to see the observances of the law in a new light: that they honor the Sabbath by refraining from evil, not by resting. How could the law forbid one from doing good on the Sabbath, when the law comes from God, Who is ceaseless in doing good?

11-13. He answered them, "He who made me well said to me, 'Take up your bed and walk.'" Then they asked him, "Who is the Man who said to you, 'Take up your bed and walk'?" But the one who was healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, a multitude being in that place. One must marvel at the man's boldness. The Jew's badgered him, saying, "It is not lawful for you to carry your bed on the Sabbath." But he boldly proclaimed his Benefactor: "He that made me whole, the same said unto me,... as if saying, "You have lost your mind and talk nonsense if you forbid me to obey the man who saved me from such a long-drawn-out and grievous ailment." The Jews did not ask him, "Who is it that made you whole?" but "Who is it that said unto you, Take up your bed, and walk?" They blinded themselves to the miracle and were obsessed binterry what they considered a transgression of the Sabbath. Jesus conveyed Himself away for two reasons. First with the healer absent, the Jews would be more likely to believe the man's testimony, because it would seem that he was simply telling what happened, and not attributing the miracle to Jesus. Second, the Lord withdrew so as not to provoke the Jews any further. He knew the mere sight of the object of envy is enough to ignite the flame of spite. He wanted the deed to be assessed calmly, on its own merit alone. And truly, the more the Jews accuse, interrogate, and examine, the more swiftly travels the word of the miracle.

14-15. Afterward Jesus found him in the temple, and said to him, "See, you have been made well. Sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you." The man departed and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well. The Lord's words to the paralytic, "Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more," confirm the truth of these two doctrines - illness in man stems from sin and the punishment in hell is eternal. No one can now say, "I fornicated only for one hour; my punishment cannot last forever." Behold this man, his years of sin were far fewer than the many years of his punishment, which lasted almost a lifetime. Sin is not judged by how long it took to commit, but by the gravity of the transgression. We also learn from the Lord's words that even though we have already paid a harsh penalty for sins, if we defile ourselves again with the same transgressions, we will be punished more severely than before – and rightly so. If a man does not correct his ways after his first punishment, is shows he is insensible and contemptuous and must be dealt with more harshly. But why are not all punished in this manner? Many of the wicked are healthy and energetic, and seem to pass their days merrily.

But this absence of suffering in the present becomes grounds for even greater punishment in the next life. Paul confirms this: "But when we are judged by the Lord, we are chastened, meaning, in this life, so that we should not be condemned with the world" [I Cor. 11:32] that is, in the next life. The chastisements we receive in this life are mere admonitions; in the next life they are true punishments.

So then, are all illnesses the result of sin? Not all, but most. The ailments of the paralytic, and of the man who suffered pain in his legs (as recorded in the Book of Kings [see III Kings 15:22]); were caused by sin. Other illnesses are given as a test or sign of God's approval, as with Job; whose virtue was revealed in his afflictions. Still others result in excess of various kinds, such as gluttony and drunkenness. Some have supposed that His words, Sin no more, indicate the Lord's foreknowledge that the paralytic would reveal Him to the Jews after meeting Him in the temple. But this interpretation is incorrect. For the piety of the man was obvious from the very fact that the Evangelist says, "Jesus found him in the temple." Had he had not been pious, he would have run home to escape the intense interrogation of the Jews and given himself over to eating, drinking and relaxation. But none of these temptations kept him from the temple. When he recognizes Jesus, he gratefully proclaims Him to the Jews. Instead of trying to mollify them by saying, "It was Jesus Who told me to take up my bed," he confesses boldly, "It was Jesus Who made me whole." Such gratitude infuriated them, for they regarded healing on the Sabbath to be a violation of the law. Although the Jews subsequently persecuted the Lord, the man did not sin by revealing Him to them. If the Jews choose to persecute his Benefactor, that was their sin.

Now we should understand the Sheep's pool to represent the grace filled waters of Baptism, in which the Lord Jesus – the Sheep sacrificed for us - was washed on our behalf by John. This pool has five porches, symbolizing the four cardinal virtues, plus the divine contemplation of dogma, which are revealed in Baptism. Human nature was paralyzed in all its spiritual powers and lay sick for thirty and eight years. It was not sound in its faith in the Holy Trinity [three], nor did it believe firmly in the coming of the eighth age [eight], that is, the general Resurrection and the judgement of all who have ever lived. It could not be healed, for it had no man to put it in the pool: the Son of God, Who alone could heal our human nature by Baptism, was not yet made man. But when He became man, He healed our nature and commanded us to take up our bed. This means we must lift up from the earth our body - weighted down by flesh and earthly cares – and make it light and free. We must rouse it from slothfulness so that it can walk, that is to say, be active in doing good. The troubling of the water in the pool denotes the evil spirits stirred up in the waters of Baptism and then crushed and drowned by the grace of the Holy Spirit. Like the paralytic, we too are in need of healing, for we are paralyzed and inert in the doing good. We also have no man, that is, no rational thought proper to man, that would distinguish us from the irrational beasts and bring us to the pool of tears of repentance. In this pool, the first to enter is healed: if he procrastinates and does not swiftly repent, he obtains no healing. Be quick to enter, lest death overtake you. Again, there is an angel which troubles this pool of repentance - the Angel of Great Counsel of the Father, [See Isaiah 9:5] Christ the Savior. Unless the divine Word touches our heart and troubles it with thought of the torments of the age to come, this pool will not be made active by divine power and there will be no healing for the paralyzed soul. The pool of repentance may rightly be called the Sheep's Pool: the pool in which the inward parts and thoughts of the saints, like the sheep's entrails, are washed. Cleansed in it, that is, rendered innocent and guileless, the saints are made ready to become a living sacrifice pleasing to God. May we also obtain healing, and afterwards may the Lord ever find us in the temple, unstained by evil thoughts, lest a worse thing, the eternal punishment, come unto us.

With Himself He has raised all the dead.”

Rejoice, O ye people!

Shine, shine, O new Jerusalem!

The glory of the Lord has shone on you.

Exult now, and be glad, O Zion!

Be radiant, O pure Theotokos,
in the Resurrection of your Son!
