CELEBRATING 50 YEARS: A (BREF) HISTORY OF PFAC

1976

Arlinda McLaughlin approached Spike Jorgensen about bringing in performing artists for the schools. In May of that year the Utah Symphony, conducted by Maestro Maurice Abravanel, performed a one hour concert in the high school for the students and community members.

At that time, there was no auditorium in Pinedale, so the symphony performed in the Pinedale High School gymnasium, where the audience was seated in bleachers and every folding chair that could be found in town. Businesses closed their doors for the morning performance and volunteers prepared a buffet meal for the performers. From this first performance, programs and residencies were scheduled into the schools and plans to build an auditorium began.

1982

School District #1 was recognized by the Kennedy Center through their National Alliance for Art Education as one of outstanding schools in the nation.

1983

Pinedale Fine Arts Council received The Governor's Arts Award for the Outstanding Arts Organization in the state.

1983

Applied for Federal 501(c)(3) Non-Profit status.

1987

Bond issue passed for Fine Arts Center and the Pinedale Auditorium was built. It would later be named the Sheppard Auditorium.

1988

First Season in the new auditorium. No more dragging, hoisting and scooting Army surplus foot lockers full of lights from the basement and back again.

1989

PFAC and the community raised money for a grand piano for the auditorium. Subsequent fund-raising to purchase a spotlight.

1989/1990

The Pinedale Elementary was designated a Blue Ribbon School by the U.S. Department of Education. A strong component of the school receiving the award was its arts education programs developed in conjunction with the arts council.

1998

Hired our first full time Executive Director.

2000

PFAC received the Millennium Arts Award from the National Endowment for the Arts for an artist in residence for the state of Wyoming. The award funded artist Don Kennell, who worked with the community to create 3 sculptures: Hatful of History, the Quilt Mural in South Tyler Park, and the High School A-Z display where students' work was mounted.

2002

PFAC Co-Founder Jo Crandall receives Governor's Arts Award from the State of Wyoming.

2004

Completed Kresge and Tegeler Challenges and fulfilled commitment to establish an endowment for PFAC with The Wyoming Community Foundation.

2005/2006

PFAC presented its first Broadway touring company. They performed Gentleman Prefer Blondes.

2006

PFAC presents its first free outdoor concert at American Legion Park with support from the Town of Pinedale. 56 people were in attendance. The following year, PFAC purchased a modest sound system to continue the outdoor concerts. They dubbed their first outdoor show with the new gear "Soundcheck" (as they were testing out the new equipment). The name stuck and PFAC began presenting the Soundcheck Mini-Music Festival every June. After a few years, the fest evolved into the Soundcheck Summer Music Series.

2014

PFAC launches its first week-long Summer Arts Camp for kids.

2018

PFAC launches a new suite of Dementia Care art classes, including fine art classes called "Here and Now" and a storytelling program called "Timeslips."

2026

PFAC celebrates its 50th anniversary with a season lineup that includes Vienna Boys Choir.

In 1824, a small band of mountain men had their horses stolen on what has since been known as Horse Creek. In the 1830s the same location was host to 6 of the last 8 rendezvous.
