FORWARD

The Branch County Fair invites your cooperation in making this fair a worthwhile contribution to the rural life of Branch County. Its principal function is to encourage the work of the young people in Branch County.

There are features of interest to those in every walk of life and it is hoped that you will participate in the Fair and that you will enjoy the efforts of those organizations and individuals who are giving of their time and wealth in making the fair possible.

HISTORY

The present Fair is the result of many years of growth and development of the 4-H Club work in Branch County. Over 90 years ago, the old fair was dissolved and the buildings and grounds at the North Coldwater City limits were sold. Since that time there have been agricultural exhibits of various kinds throughout Branch County. Years ago, there were Corn Schools at various Grange Halls. The 4-H Clubs and other interested farm organizations for several years held a fair at the Unity Grange Hall in Bethel Township. For several years' exhibits were held on the streets of Coldwater and in the Coldwater Armory. In 1929 there was no fair or exhibits of any kind. In 1930, a small 4-H Club Fair was held at the Coldwater Grange Hall, which consisted of; 32 head of livestock and 30 canning club members. In 1931, there was more livestock to be exhibited and the fair was held at the Coldwater State Home and Training School in various barns and garages. In 1932, the 4-H Clubs cooperated with the Coldwater Chamber of Commerce and held their exhibits in a garage on Hudson Street. In 1933 and 1934, the exhibits of livestock were made in tents on the parking lot of West Pearl Street. Canning handicraft and clothing were shown in churches and store windows. In 1935, the tents were located on the new parking lot on North Hanchett Street and the same arrangement prevailed with other exhibits. The Junior Chamber of Commerce in Coldwater took a very active interest in the fair during these years. In 1936, the Fair was held in connection with the Centennial Celebration. Four large tents were necessary to house the livestock, and this was done at the Waterworks Park. Other exhibits were again scattered through the business sections of Coldwater. The Centennial Celebration featured a mammoth pageant and numerous parades.

At the fair in 1936, the idea was brought forth that perhaps it would be possible to purchase a small acreage of land and build a few buildings in which to show the livestock in the future. The board of directors of the Branch County Agricultural and Industrial Society, which was organized in 1936, and the 1937 board followed this suggestion and began negotiations for the establishment of a more permanent home for these exhibits in the future. Land was purchased of Mrs. Ethel Wolf and Mrs. Amanda Zimmerman. There was an area of about nine acres in tract. An additional acre of land was also purchased from Stanley Wedge. This land is located south of the Waterworks Park along the banks of the Coldwater River, and area lying east of Bennett Street extended. Five new buildings were built in 1937, three being 26 x 100, a fourth 30 x 100, and a fifth was 36 x 100 ft. Two new buildings, one 32 x 120 ft. and the other 30 x 100 ft. were constructed, and five additional acres of ground were purchased in 1938. Another five acres was added in 1945. Six acres were added, and a new horse barn was built in 1946. In 1948, another 10 acres of land was purchased from Stanley Wedge and a 30 x 100 ft. building erected to replace one lost by fire in 1947. In 1951, the 4-H Cabin was built on the east end of the Fairgrounds near the Sprague Street entrance. In 1955, a 30 x 100 ft. exhibit building was erected.

In 1960, a 60 x 120 ft. pole livestock building and in 1962, a 40 x 120 ft. pole-type home economics building were erected. Also, in 1962 the parking facilities were increased, and the amphitheater was cleared and enlarged.

In 1964, restrooms were added near the west end of the Merchants Building with showers and hot and cold running water. In 1968, a Horse Barn, 45 x 112 ft. was built to accommodate 112 head of horses. In 1969, a 60 x 60 ft. Show Shelter to be used for judging and showing of all livestock was constructed.

In 1970, a 30 x 100 ft. building was built with 30 x 60 ft. to be used for Barnyard Children exhibits and currently houses the small animals and the remainder for Fair storage. Also, a pole-constructed covered Horse Wash Rack and a Concession Stand for the Amphitheater was constructed.

In 1971, four acres were purchased on the adjoining southwest corner of the Fairgrounds, known as the Jailor property.

In 1972, six acres of land was purchased on the northeast corner of the Fairgrounds, from Carroll Shoop, formerly the Stanley Wedge property, making a total of 59 acres.

A new entrance was established in 1973 at the northeast corner of the grounds next to the river. Also, a 26 x 40 ft. addition to the sheep barn which was converted to house swine. A cover was also built over the square dance platform.

In 1974 considerable improvements were made to the pulling track in the Amphitheater. A scale house was erected, and scales installed, as well as a new fence around the amphitheater and new planks on the bleachers.

In 1975 an unloading dock for tractors, horse pullers, etc. was constructed at the west end of the Amphitheater. Also, a new horse arena fence and more horse stalls were added. Considerable money was put into updating the electrical system. Restrooms and wash racks were built on the east side in 1976.

In 1977 six quartz lights were installed in the Amphitheater as well as a chain link fence between the pulling track and the audience. Hard surface floors were put in the rabbit and poultry building and the square dance shelter. The old tool shed next to the Fair Office was remodeled for a Press Office and is now used as the Manager's Office.

In 1978, 3.5 acres was purchased from Raymond C. Yeager. This is located at the southwest corner of the Fairgrounds, making a total of 62.5 acres. Also constructed were a 40 x 80 ft. sheep barn and a 55 x 100 ft. commercial exhibit building called Schlubatis Hall. The high-tension power line was relocated.

In 1979, a 40 x 60 ft addition to the east end of the Home Ec. Building was completed.

In 1980, shower additions were made to the restrooms on the east side. Also, a cement slab measuring 26 x 70 ft. was put down for a new hog barn to be erected on in the future. Amphitheater bleachers were donated from St. Charles church.

In 1982, 1.9 acres of land on the southeast corner of the fairgrounds, better known as the Quimby property, was purchased, making a total of 64.4 acres.

1984 was a busy year for the fair with two buildings being constructed. The Chapin Swine Barn was built on the concrete slab put down in 1980, which was enlarged to make the building 30 x 112 ft. This building was built from contributions from the Chapin family, in memory of Ward Chapin, who was swine superintendent for many years and from contributions from the generous people of Branch County and the surrounding area.

The new 14 x 38 ft. milking parlor was also built in 1984. A large sum of money came from the milk products sold at auction at the Fair the past four years and from contributions from various people, organizations, and businesses.

The H.E. Pierce Hall measuring 120 x 55 ft. was built in 1986 and was finished just in time to house commercial exhibits at the 1986 Fair. Harold Pierce, a member of the first Fair Board and a long-time supporter of the Fair, was a major contributor to this building along with numerous other individuals and businesses.

In 1987, an addition to the sheep barn and a new entry booth at the horse arena were built.

In 1988, an addition to the show shelter was built on the west side and bleachers were added so people watching the shows in the show shelter could be out of the rain and hot sun. Also added in 1988 was a picture taking area which is located at the north end of the show shelter. The picture taking area was built from grant money from the Michigan Rehabilitation Association, applied for by the Fair Association, and the FFA Chapters from Bronson, Branch Area Careers Center and Quincy. There was also considerable work done on the water lines in 1988.

In 1989 a shelter for spectators was built at the horse area with donated labor and materials. Also, in 1989 the Ball Diamond was moved to the South side of the grounds.

In 1990 the Barnyard Children's Barn was built for the use of Mother animals and their babies, also for the 4-H Branch Buds. The funding for the barn came from the Michigan Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, Phase 1 from the State and the memorial fund of Linda Preston. The building was donated in memory of Linda Preston along with Mike Jepson, of Jepson Electric, Gerald Marsh who was the contractor and the Michigan Rural Rehabilitation Corporation.

In 1990 Horseshoe pitching courts were added. There are 6 courts and lights available for use at night.

In 1991, .8 tenths of an acre were made available to the Fair by the Branch County Commissioners. Fence was put on the Southeast side from Sprague Street to Garfield.

The 4-H Cabin was improved with new paneling and floor tile so that it is much nicer for clubs and others to use year-round.

1992 was a very important year for the Fair board as of 1992 the Fair would no longer be considered a free Fair. It was unanimously decided by the board to go to a paid gate. Board members and volunteers came in many times to help clear out the old fence so a new six-foot fence could be put up.

In 1993, the Association purchased 3 acres on the southwest corner. This was the last available ground connected with the existing land owned by the association. With the help from Jr. Livestock an addition was added on the east side of the Show Shelter to help cover the spectators. A volleyball court was put in at the west end of the grounds.

Sanford Hall became one of the major projects for the Fair Association to do in 1994. The old East Hall was torn down and a new 40' by 120' building was built with the help of many donations from the community. It was named Sanford Hall in honor of Leland Sanford. The amphitheater received a new entrance through donations made to the Gordon Albright Memorial.

In 1995, no new buildings were constructed, but in the old hog barn the pens were torn out and replaced with new steel pens. Gates for the show shelter were also purchased. This was done with donations again; the community came through with help.

Before the 1996 fair started all the buildings had new signs placed on them. This was part of the Signage Program done by the Department of Ag. The Barnyard Children Barn received a new cement floor before the fair. After the fair, a cement floor was put in the sheep barn. The Horse Symposium helped in making it possible for more seating at the horse arena and painted the horse barns.

In 1997, construction of weighing and handling facility was put in for the swine barn, this also is used to display the Supreme Champion market swine. Ridge vents were added to the beef and sheep barn. The poultry barn was given additional room when a new building was constructed for storing the fair equipment.

In 1998 The Dearth Community Center was completed. This building which will seat 500 people at round tables and over 800 with an auditorium seating. With 14,635 square feet, the Dearth Center will be used for many events. The Branch County Community made this available by donations and in-kind services. The original donation came from the Dearth family. Along with this improvement on the grounds the Dairy people added to their wash rack and the building behind the 4-H Cabin was converted to an electrical building.

In the year of 1999 the Horse barns were converted over to all box stalls. The sheep barn added fans for better ventilation and the major project was working the Branch County Conservation District on saving the riverbank from washing away any more soil from the fair property. This project meant taking out fence and replacing it with new fencing and filling in the water way so that it would not wash away. The youth projects continue to grow, and we had to add more tie rail for beef.

The year 2000 was a year of repairs around the grounds. New planks were put on the bleachers in the amphitheater, gates were rebuilt for the east end of the amphitheater, manure bunks were reinforced, beef wash rack was added on and a new 4-H Cabin roof was put on.

Painting roofs on the show arena, scale house, square dance building and one of the dairy barns was one of the major repairs in 2001. Burton Hall and dairy barn sidewalls also got painted. The Merchant building received a new floor for support on the south side and the north side was sided on the outside. The campgrounds added 44 more camp sites with hook up to water, sewer and electric south of the 4-H Cabin. The old sheriff's building was moved to the north and the fair board directors used it for meetings at noon during fair week. Fence along southeast side of the amphitheater was replaced. Between Home Ec. and Sanford Hall an area is being improved for a stage act during fair week. In December there was 14 trees planted along the main drive and up around other parts of the grounds, this was done with the youth from the Branch Area Careers Center Ag Department.

Connecting to the city water lines was the major accomplishment for the Fair in the year of 2002. Along with painting the Home Ec. Building and other buildings in need of upkeep. The amphitheater fence was reconstructed so people could exit after the events safer.

In the fall of 2003, a new year-round fair office was started and finished for the 2004 season. In 2004, the Fair had its first permanent office located on the fairgrounds. This was a big move for the board but a donation from Lucille Dearth made the decision for them to go ahead and build the new office with a full basement for storage. Also, in 2004 more buildings were made handicap accessible.

In 2005, a gift for building an Antique Barn for antique farm displays was received. The barn was completed in 2006.

Honeywell Hall was opened in 2006 for the first year showing many farm antiques from local donors. Mable Honeywell made this possible with her monetary donation and along with the fair association working together. The other improvement for building was that Charlie and Ellen Bates made it possible for the fair to put up a barn for the Sheriff Posse to use. This barn has 16 stalls and will be used for housing the posse horses as well as during horse shows it will be a great improvement. Asphalt was poured on the west side of the commercial building to make for a better walkway.

In 2007 another addition to the fair was made possible thru the memorial presented to the fair in memory of Lloyd and Vera Luce. Their daughter and son-in-law (Joyce and Larry Fraser) made a generous donation to improve the 4-H Cabin and added a Pavilion connecting with the cabin. They also made it possible with a poured section to measure tractors at the tractor pulls, also an additional amount was presented to add more water and electric to the campgrounds.

The Fair association also purchased the property at 244 Sprague St. This will make more available room for parking and additional space if needed for building in the livestock area.

In 2008 the building at 244 Sprague Street was torn down to make more room for the Livestock area. Electric and Water was made available for 16 more campsites on the south side of the Fairground Drive. One of the major announcements from the Fair Board was that they are going forward with plans for a new Grandstand. This project will be a big challenge for the Association.

In 2009, painting was done on the inside of the Home Ec Building and the outside of the West Rest Room. The Dearth Community Center's parking lot was resurfaced along with some of the roads on the grounds. A 16' x 25' addition was built on the South End of the Jr. Livestock Office in the Show Shelter to make it easier for all that are involved with the animal sale. We also added a 15' x 20' cement slab on the South Side of the Home Ec Building for free entertainment to use during Fair. The State of Michigan cut all premium money from Fairs and the Lucille Dearth Trust Fund made it possible for Branch County 4-H Fair to pay full premiums to all Exhibitors.

In 2010, due to circumstances the association had to remove the 4-H from the name of the Branch County 4-H Fair. This does not mean that we are removing 4-H or Youth from the Fair, because youth is the most important part of this organization. The Branch County Fair purchased another piece of property along Sprague Street. Being one of the nicest looking fairgrounds in the State of Michigan we improved the following areas: by resealing roadways on the grounds, painting and repairing seating at the horse arena, painting the Posse barn and the Livestock exercise arena. In helping the Youth and the Fair, the Lucille Dearth Trust Fund provided funding for the youth premiums, along with installing air conditioning in the 4-H Cabin, which is greatly appreciated by the Association.

2011 was an interesting year for the Fairgrounds. It started out with the Bronson FFA Alumni and the Lucille Dearth Trust Fund making an offer to put up a 58' by 152' barn to house Beef during Fair. This was a great addition because it cut the cost of renting tents. The Lucille Dearth Trust Fund also once again provided funding for the Youth Premiums which go to the 4-H participants of the Fair. Many maintenance jobs were done throughout the summer on the grounds from painting the bathroom floors, repairing the Starter Calf barn roof, purchasing, and installing a new sound system and finishing the Memorial Garden that honors those who have done a lot for the Fair. At the Dearth Center 600 new chairs were purchased to replace the old ones that were beginning to deteriorate from use.

In 2012, the biggest improvement on the grounds this year was in the Fair Office. The interior was transformed from an office with all white walls to a place with warm colors, borders and even tile to make it feel more like home. In the main office area, a mural was painted in the front corner by Lois Hoffman of Union City. She generously donated her time and materials to the Fair in Patrick Murphy's memory, a board member that passed away before Lois was finished creating the mural, he enjoyed watching her progress and was very excited to see the result of her efforts. During Fair Week, the Board realized that the JC's were not going to open the bingo stand and in doing so they forfeited their ownership of the stand to the Fair.

In 2013, the Dearth Community Center received a new dance floor and new carpet. On the fairgrounds, the state of Michigan offered a grant to all fairs for improvements and the Branch County Fair received funds from that which were used to improve 13 campsites by adding water & electric in the livestock area.

In 2014, the Dearth Trust made many improvements on the fairgrounds. The largest contribution was a new family restroom facility, but as well as donating the restroom they also painted three barns and the roof of the show shelter and as they did in previous years the trust provided the funds for the youth premiums for their exhibits. The Branch County Fair is very grateful to the Dearth Trust for everything they have done for the fair. On the grounds, there were many water leaks in the spring so in repairing them it was decided to extend water lines out toward Fairgrounds Drive to accommodate the vendors that are parked along that road during fair week, the association acquired the Republican eat stand after they chose not to open for fair week and it was turned into a seating area for guests of the fair, the fair office received a new updated computer, the Dearth Center needed a new air conditioner and hot water heater in the kitchen area, as they no longer work and after Fair Week, some of the roadways within the fairgrounds were resurfaced.

In 2015, the fair improved 48 campsites in campground E by changing them from primitive to water & electric. This made the number of campsites for fair week 284, with 112 of them being full hook up. With the help of Jr. Livestock there was a new roof put on the starter calf barn and gutters were added for water control on the north side of the barn in the event of rain during fair week. The fair purchased a new lawn mower. Eastman & Kathryn McFadden had fans installed in Sanford Hall and Diane Huntley had fans installed in Home Ec building to help with the air flow during entry day and the rest of fair week. The Republican Eat Stand was transformed into a setting area for fair guests. Every year the Branch County Fair strives to make the fair a better place and we hope that next year will again be a good year.

In 2016, The 4H Cabin received a fresh coat of paint, as well as some landscaping in front of the building. The landscaping was donated by Leaders' Council. The restroom on the hill also received paint on the inside and the restroom by the Amphitheater received paint on the inside and the outside of the building. The Branch County Fair also received a matching grant from the Michigan Department of Agriculture & Rural Development to improve the lighting in the pit area and around the fairgrounds. In the Fair Office, our treasurer received a new computer which will be more up to date for her QuickBooks program.

In 2017, the new Grandstands in the Amphitheater were opened and used for the first time all fair week for the Amphitheaters nightly events.

In 2018, Burton and South Hall were resided with barn tin. The Dearth Center roof got renovated, with the help of funds provided by the MARD grant. The roof on the green horse barn got painted. The west end of the Home Ec. Building was repainted, and the lattice was replaced, improvements were made in memory of Carol Marsh. On the east end of Home Ec., a trophy pen was added to display youth exhibitors' trophies. With helps from the city the Dearth Center was completely changed to LED lighting. During 2018 fair week electrical was upgraded in the Campgrounds behind the office. This upgrade allowed for campers to use air conditioning. This improvement, which was necessary, was also beneficial for camper rallies that use the grounds.

In 2019, the office garage and the restrooms on the west end of the fairgrounds by the grandstands got new steel roofs put on. In addition, road repairs were made to the roads around the horse area and dairy barns.

In 2020, the fair was cancelled due to COVID-19. It was a disappointing year for everyone.

In 2021, with much anticipation we were able to return to the Branch County Fairgrounds. We were able to bring in a small ride company for the Midway and the commercial exhibits returned. Entries and exhibit numbers were down but we were thankful to get back in the swing of things. A storm hit the Branch County Area and fairgrounds that caused damage to the grounds and ride company. No one was hurt and everyone worked together to clean up the grounds.

4-H Club work is part of the Extension Service Program of Michigan State University. The funds for the program are provided by Federal, State, and County units of government. County funds for operation of the local office are provided by the Branch County Board of Commissioners. At present there are over 1400 young people enrolled in 4-H Club projects in Branch County.

Extension work was established through several acts of Congress, among them being the Smith-Lever Act, the Capper-Ketchum Act and the Bankhead-Jones Act. The first extension work in Branch County was under the direction of Julius W. Chapin, who started his work in Branch County on March 1, 1914, and continued until August 1, 1916. In 1956, he accepted an appointment in Nigeria. At this time, Paul Thompson was appointed to fill the position. In 1980, Paul Thompson was appointed Regional Extension Supervisor and Ray Fast was appointed to fill the position. Section 99 – Skill – A – Thon

Skills Test and Breed Identification

The Skill-A-Thon is a competition that will take place in the 4H Cabin on August 9, 2017 at 10:00am. This competition is based solely on the knowledge of the exhibitor. This competition will be broken into two parts. Exhibitors must compete in both competitions with placings being based on a combined score of all portions. For each answer exhibitors will be given two points. One point for correct variety, one point for correct breed.

Skills Test

A skills test is a written test using a mixture of multiple choice, fill in the blank, labeling and true or false questions created to evaluate an exhibitor's knowledge in the cavy. Test questions will cover an array of cavy questions about each species exhibited at the Branch County Fair. It is up to the exhibitor to learn the parts of each species and be able to show a basic understanding of cavy knowledge.

Breed Identification

Breed Identification is designed for exhibitors to show their understanding of various breeds of cavy. Included in this contest will be pictures of individual cavies that are considered to be of good representation of their breed standard. Each exhibitor will need to identify the breed that is presented. This contest will be presented in a flip style booklet with an individual answer key for each exhibitor to write their answers.
