

Bio – Rev. Arnold Win Davis

Rev. Arnold ‘Win’ Davis is the Executive Director of Missions for the Dover Baptist Association, and the former Senior Pastor at Cambridge Baptist Church.

Win graduated Summa Cum Laude and Valedictorian with a Master of Divinity degree from the Samuel DeWitt Proctor School of Theology at Virginia Union University. Win also earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Communication with a minor in Business Administration from James Madison University.

Win is the co-author of the book Cross Training: A Sports Devotional and writes a monthly blog.

Prior to accepting the call to full time ministry, Win was a communications consultant for The Beacon, a national Christian radio program, and served as the Executive Director and contributing editor for a national media, magazine, and conference group.

The Dover Baptist Association - A Christian 501(c)(3) is a family of over 60 diverse churches located in 7 counties in Central Virginia. Since 1783, Dover Baptists have served together, and served to proclaim the Good News of Jesus Christ locally, regionally, nationally and around the world. In 1821 a DBA church sent the first Baptist missionary from the United States to Africa. Dover is “a resource and ally for churches and their leaders,” providing mission opportunities, coaching/support groups (for both pastors and lay leaders), technology support, pulpit supply, continuing education, and other resources.
