

Triune Lutheran Church

Sing a new song to the Lord!
Let the whole earth sing to the Lord!

Twenty-Third Sunday after Pentecost

Evangelical Lutheran Church in America

God's work. Our hands.

We thank you for joining us here at Triune Lutheran Church, a family united with you through our Risen Lord, Jesus Christ!

In order to make you feel more at home, here are a few notes about our worship here. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask. We hope to make your time here as meaningful as possible!

- You are invited to speak the bold print, as well as sing along with the psalm and hymns, which you will find in the red Evangelical Lutheran Worship (ELW) hymnal in front of you in the pews.
- The portions marked with * are times when we invite you to stand, as you are able.
- There will not be a separate time for an offering to be collected during worship. If you wish to do so today, you may place your offering in the offering plate at the back.
- The Communion elements are placed in the hallway/narthex just outside the entrance doors to the sanctuary. We ask you bring them to your seat and leave them until we reach the celebration of holy Communion during worship, when you will be asked to remove the lids and consume the bread (wafer), then the wine. If you need a gluten-free wafer, please let the pastor know before worship. We believe the body and blood of Christ is meant for everyone, regardless of your church affiliation, and so feel free to participate, if you feel so moved.
- For visitors, if you so choose, we encourage you to fill out a card available in the pew to learn more about us.
- Bathrooms are available in the hallway.

WELCOME

*CONFESSION AND FORGIVENESS

The sign of the cross serves as a reminder that nothing, not even sin, can separate you from God's love in Jesus Christ.

Blessed be the holy Trinity, † one God,
who redeems us in Christ Jesus,
whose steadfast love endures forever.

Amen!

Let us confess our sin in the presence of God and of one another. Silence is kept for reflection.

Most merciful God,
we confess that we have sinned against you and our neighbors.
We have ignored voices that call for your justice.
We have neglected actions that witness to your grace.
We have spoken and acted in ways that disrupt your beloved community.
For the sake of Jesus Christ, have mercy on us.
Restore our troubled spirits,
so that we may live in newness,
follow the way of the Holy Spirit,
and build up the body of Christ.
Amen.

Rejoice and be glad!
God hears the prayers of all,
and restores us to life through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.
Therefore, your sins are forgiven
in the name of the Father, and of the † Son,
and of the Holy Spirit.
Amen!

*PRAYER OF THE DAY

O God, the source of new life for all: without you nothing is strong, nothing is holy. Embrace us with your mercy, that with you as our gracious Lord and steadfast guide, we may live to your glory, through Jesus Christ, our Savior and Lord.
Amen!

FIRST READING

Malachi 4:1-2a

<sup>1</sup>See, the day is coming, burning like an oven, when all the arrogant and all evildoers will be stubble; the day that comes shall burn them up, says the LORD of hosts, so that it will leave them neither root nor branch. <sup>2a</sup>But for you who revere my name the sun of righteousness shall rise, with healing in its wings.

Word of God, word of life!

Thanks be to God!

PSALM

<sup>1</sup>Sing a new song to the LORD, who has done | marvelous things,

whose right hand and holy arm have | won the victory.

<sup>2</sup>O LORD, you have made | known your victory, you have revealed your righteousness in the sight | of the nations.

<sup>3</sup>You remember your steadfast love and faithfulness to the | house of Israel;

all the ends of the earth have seen the victory | of our God.

<sup>4</sup>Shout with joy to the LORD, | all you lands;
lift up your voice, re- | joice, and sing.

<sup>5</sup>Sing to the LORD | with the harp,
with the harp and the | voice of song.

<sup>6</sup>With trumpets and the sound | of the horn
shout with joy before the | king, the LORD.

<sup>7</sup>Let the sea roar, and | all that fills it,
the world and those who | dwell therein.

<sup>8</sup>Let the rivers | clap their hands, and let the hills ring out with joy before the LORD, who comes to | judge the earth.

<sup>9</sup>The LORD will judge the | world with righteousness and the peo- | ples with equity.

SECOND READING

2 Thessalonians 3:6-13

<sup>6</sup>Now we command you, beloved, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, to keep away from believers who are living in idleness and not according to the tradition that they received from us. <sup>7</sup>For you yourselves know how you ought to imitate us; we were not idle when we were with you, <sup>8</sup>and we did not eat anyone's bread without paying for it; but with toil and labor we worked night and day, so that we might not burden any of you. <sup>9</sup>This was not because we do not have that right, but in order to give you an example to imitate. <sup>10</sup>For even when we were with you, we gave you this command: Anyone unwilling to work should not eat. <sup>11</sup>For we hear that some of you are living in idleness, mere busybodies, not doing any work. <sup>12</sup>Now such persons we command and exhort in the Lord Jesus Christ to do their work quietly and to earn their own living. <sup>13</sup>Brothers and sisters, do not be weary in doing what is right.

Word of God, word of life!

Thanks be to God!

*GOSPEL

Luke 21:5-19

The Gospel according to Luke.

Glory to you, O Lord!

<sup>5</sup>When some were speaking about the temple, how it was adorned with beautiful stones and gifts dedicated to God, [Jesus] said, <sup>6</sup>“As for these things that you see, the days will come when not one stone will be left upon another; all will be thrown down.”

<sup>7</sup>They asked him, “Teacher, when will this be, and what will be the sign that this is about to take place?”

<sup>8</sup>And he said, “Beware that you are not led astray; for many will come in my name and say, ‘I am he!’ and, ‘The time is near!’ Do not go after them.

<sup>9</sup>“When you hear of wars and insurrections, do not be terrified; for these things must take place first, but the end will not follow immediately.” <sup>10</sup>Then he said to them, “Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; <sup>11</sup>there will be great earthquakes, and in various places famines and plagues; and there will be dreadful portents and great signs from heaven.

<sup>12</sup>“But before all this occurs, they will arrest you and persecute you; they will hand you over to synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors because of my name. <sup>13</sup>This will give you an opportunity to testify. <sup>14</sup>So make up your minds not to prepare your defense in advance; <sup>15</sup>for I will give you words and a wisdom that none of your opponents will be able to withstand or contradict. <sup>16</sup>You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, by relatives and friends; and they will put some of you to death. <sup>17</sup>You will be hated by all because of my name. <sup>18</sup>But not a hair of your head will perish. <sup>19</sup>By your endurance you will gain your souls.”

This is the holy Gospel of our Lord!
Praise to you, O Christ!

*APOSTLES' CREED

I believe in God, the Father almighty, creator of heaven and earth.

I believe in Jesus Christ, God's only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried;
he descended to the dead.
On the third day he rose again;
he ascended into heaven,
he is seated at the right hand of the Father, and he will come to judge the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the holy catholic church,
the communion of saints,
the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and the life everlasting. Amen.

*PRAYERS OF INTERCESSION

In gratitude and humility, let us join together in prayer on behalf of all of God's creation.

A brief silence.

Reviving God, keep your whole church active in its mission and ministry. Encourage all its leaders to risk boldly in their proclamation and fill them with wisdom and endurance for challenging times. Lord, in your mercy, receive our prayer.

Renewing God, as the northern hemisphere prepares for winter, make us mindful of the ordered beauty of your creation. Teach us to treasure cycles of rest and new life. Help us care for what you have made. Lord, in your mercy, receive our prayer.

Loving God, accompany all who make sacrifices for the sake of others. Safeguard first responders and active duty military personnel. Grant peace to veterans and heal any wounds in body, mind, or spirit. Lord, in your mercy, receive our prayer.

Healing God, your people cry out to you. Sustain doctors, nurses, and hospital personnel in their tireless work. Uphold mental health professionals and those in their care. May the sun of righteousness rise on all who are sick, including Niki Grigsby, Charlotte Jackson, Richard Jakubcin, John Kurtz, Dan & Jill Maldovan, Gloria Roderick, Annie Slaughter, Mardell Weiss, Clara Wilcox, and all those we name in our hearts now...Lord, in your mercy, receive our prayer.

Nourishing God, unite our Triune family in our shared mission and ministry for the sake of the gospel. Empower ways we can better work together and give us patience to work through disagreement. Lord, in your mercy, receive our prayer.

Consoling God, abide with all who grieve for loved ones who have died. Comfort us with the promise of resurrection and new life with you. Lord, in your mercy, receive our prayer.

Accept these prayers, gracious God, and those known only to you; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen!

*PEACE

The peace of the Risen Christ be with you always!
And also with you.

GREAT THANKSGIVING

The Lord be with you.

And also with you.

Lift up your hearts!

We lift them to the Lord!

Let us give thanks to the Lord our God!

It is right to give our thanks and praise!

It is indeed right, our duty and our joy, that we should at all times and in all places give thanks and praise to you, almighty and merciful God, through our Savior Jesus Christ;
who on this day overcame death and the grave, and by his glorious resurrection opened to us the way of everlasting life.

And so, with all the choirs of angels,
with the church on earth and the hosts of heaven,
we praise your name and join their unending hymn:

HOLY, HOLY, HOLY

Ho - ly, ho - ly, ho - ly Lord, God of pow'r and might, heav-en and earth are full of your glo - ry, full of your glo-ry. Ho - san - na, ho - san - na, ho - san - na in the high - est. Bless-ed is he who comes in the name of the Lord. Ho - san - na, ho - san - na, ho - san - na in the high - est.

THANKSGIVING AT THE TABLE

Holy God,
our Bread of life, our Table, and our Food, you created a world in which all might be satisfied by your abundance.

You dined with Abraham and Sarah, promising them life,
and fed your people Israel with manna from heaven.
You sent your Son to eat with sinners and to become food for the world.

In the night in which he was betrayed,
our Lord Jesus took bread, and gave thanks;
broke it, and gave it to his disciples, saying:
Take and eat; this is my body, given for you.
Do this for the remembrance of me.

Again, after supper, he took the cup, gave thanks, and gave it for all to drink, saying:
This cup is the new covenant in my blood, shed for you and for all people for the forgiveness of sin.
Do this for the remembrance of me.

Remembering, therefore,
his life given for us
and his rising from the grave, we await his coming again to share with us the everlasting feast.

Holy Spirit, nurture and sustain us with this meal:
strengthen us to serve all in hunger and want,
and by this bread and cup make of us the body of Jesus Christ, our Lord.

Through him all glory and honor is yours,
Almighty Father, with the Holy Spirit, both now and forever.

Amen!

LORD'S PRAYER

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name,
thy kingdom come,
thy will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us;
and lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom,
and the power, and the glory,
forever and ever. Amen.

COMMUNION

MUSIC INTERLUDE

*PRAYER AFTER COMMUNION

We give you thanks, most gracious God, that you have fed us with the bread of heaven and given us a foretaste of Paradise.

Enliven us to be your body in the world and to serve those who are in need;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Amen!

*BLESSING

The God of peace,
who creates all things and calls them good,
who makes us alive in Jesus,
and who breathes on us the Spirit of hope, ✠ bless you now and forever.

Amen!

*SENDING HYMN

Lectionary Blog: After Things Fall Apart

One of my favorite parts of studying the Bible is holding in my hands an entire library that reflects the inspiration and experience of several human lifetimes. Early Israelite monarchy, the era of the prophets, the patriarchal narratives, post-exilic works, the Gospels and the Epistles all reflect different sensibilities and unfolding understandings about who God is and how God wants to interact with humans. The richness of Scripture, inspired over hundreds and hundreds of years, is comparable to that of a long friendship or romantic relationship. A brief engagement, no matter how passionate, will never have the shared history, deep engagement, and wisdom gained from ups and downs that a longer relationship contains.

The Bible tells of times of triumph: the exodus, the enthronement of (relatively) good kings, Jesus' incarnation and resurrection. It also tells of times of woe: the destruction and exile of the Northern and Southern kingdoms, and the persecution and executions of Jesus and many of his early followers. This week's lectionary invites us to focus on what happens during and after the times when things fall apart, and how God is always there and remains with God's people.

Malachi is one of my favorites of the prophetic books because of the didactic relationship between God and the people. The book's context is that God has restored Jewish exiles to the promised land after the Babylonian exile. God, working through the messenger ("Malachi" is probably best understood as a role i.e., "my messenger" as in 3:1, rather than a proper name), announced frustration with the ingratitude and laxness of the recently restored community. The people, especially the leaders, cut corners and failed to live up to religious, educational, communal and economic commitments—basically practicing injustice toward God and neighbors. The call of Malachi was to get serious, to understand that God had punished the people before and would do so again if they continued their slide toward indifference to loving God and neighbor.

But instead of exiling the whole people, God promised to differentiate among the righteous and unrighteous. The evildoers would be like burnt chaff, without a root or branches, without a past or a future (Malachi 4:1). But for those who fear God's name, the sun of righteousness would rise upon them with healing in its wings (2). After a terrible calamity, God brought the people back together. As the memory of past suffering, and, crucially, the reason for the past suffering, began to fade, God reminded the people that what they did—and did not do—mattered. Even after things fell apart, God still saw the people, cared about them and wanted them to live in right relationship with God and with each other.

Jesus made much the same argument in warning of the tragedy to come. Jesus' early followers would face two kinds of persecution. As the gulf grew between his Jewish followers and those who didn't see Jesus as the promised messiah, his followers would be mistreated and pushed out of their communities (Luke 21:12). Much more cataclysmic than this, however, the brutal Romans engaged in several wars against Jews in different parts of the empire, destroyed the temple, renamed Jerusalem and Judea, and slaughtered and enslaved tens of thousands of Jews (6-11). Just as the righteous prophets had fallen victim to violent co-religionists and foreigners alike hundreds of years before, Jesus promised that his followers would be victims of attempts at religious purification and the ruthlessness of the empire.

But in this persecution, just as things were falling apart, Jesus told his followers not to worry. He would provide them opportunities to give their testimonies (13-14). More than that, Jesus would provide eloquence and wisdom during interrogations that would confound the examiners (15). As the civilization of his followers was crumbling from within and without because of baseless hatred, Jesus told them that God still cared what they did and what they said, and that Jesus would be with them. Even if they were killed—and most of Jesus' earliest followers were murdered, it seems—not a hair on their head would perish because of the hope of the resurrection. God doesn't abandon God's people—not during war, persecution, death or anything else.

In this week's lectionary, things have fallen apart. Countries have been invaded or are just about to be. Ideas about who God is and what God wants are debated, with violent disagreements springing up and religious communities fracturing. This may sound familiar to many readers. The good news is that God was, is and will be present. God sees what is happening and never wavers from standing beside those who fear God's name.

- The Rev. Dr. Cory Driver

From our worship resource, Sundays & Seasons:

From Life to Death and Death to Life

In our baptisms we move spiritually from death to life. We are reminded of this in the words from the service of Holy Baptism: “In baptism our gracious heavenly Father frees us from sin and death by joining us to the death and resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Evangelical Lutheran Worship, 227). We begin in death, and grace raises us to life. Still, we tend to focus on the spiritual nature of this change or transformation.

It is easy to forget that by the very nature of that baptism, we can in an instant move physically from life to death for the sake of the life we are gifted with in baptism. We hear the words of promise and trust in the gifts and blessings of baptism, but overlook the accompanying responsibility. Like a teenager with a brand new driver’s license we relish our newfound freedom and may forget all those other drivers on the road whose safety depends upon the new driver.

Luke 21:5-19

Writing mainly to Gentile Christian communities in the late 80s, Luke includes much of the description of the coming apocalyptic events as found in Mark 13 and Matthew 24. The beauty of the temple “dedicated to God” was due to the largesse of Herod, a hated puppet monarch. The temple was destroyed in 70 CE: thus the early Christian communities are reminded that what is valued in religion and society may not last. Messianic claims were common. Verses 9-19 follow stereotypical biblical and intertestamental descriptions of the apocalyptic end of time, with calamities in nature and society, and include comfort for the coming persecutions of Christians, for heresy by Jewish religious authorities and for sedition or political disloyalty by the Roman Empire. This passage is one among many in the gospels that indicate that many people became Christian as individuals, and were alienated from their family because of it. Luke casts this passage as a public discourse made by Jesus, and this section stresses that the end is still far distant.

Malachi 4:1-2a

A person named Malachi, which means “my messenger,” is otherwise unknown. The post-exilic author addresses the people’s expectation that their return to Jerusalem was supposed to ensure their prosperity. Yet because of the injustices in society, God is not accepting the worship of the priestly activity in the temple, which was restored by 515 BCE. The day of the Lord is a time of judgment, and the tree that is the nation will be destroyed. The Babylonian god of justice Shamash was depicted as a winged solar disk whose presence in the sky, like the sun, brought light to the earth and law to society.

2 Thessalonians 3:6-13

Written either by Paul in the 50s or in the late first century by a disciple of Paul, this passage addresses the problems caused by those in the local church who, either in celebrating Christian freedom or in assuming that the eschaton has already begun, have quit working. That Paul earned his own living is held up as a model of Christian life. In the first century churches had no clergy, paid or unpaid.

Images in the Readings

Apocalyptic imagery arises periodically when a people are so downtrodden that they cannot foresee any relief from their suffering unless a cataclysm destroys everything and the earth begins anew. Thus, for example, the Jews living under the oppression of the Roman Empire popularized this literary genre. Natural disasters, political injustices, religious persecution, and family disruptions could however be seen positively, since they were signs that God would soon intervene to end evil for once and for all. Thus “law” and “gospel” meet. Such apocalyptic tendencies are thriving also in our time.

The temple in Jerusalem had once again been rebuilt and refurbished. Yet it was yet again and finally to be destroyed, and currently its ruined wall is all that remains. For Christians, Christ is our temple, and the members of the church are its building stones. May God keep us from being thrown down!

The passage from Malachi refers to “neither root nor branch” left after God’s fire destroys evil. What stands behind this passage is the ancient Near Eastern image of the nation-state as a tree of life, its height and strength likened to the power of the government. In an ancient example of the cultural adaptation of religious symbolism, the Hebrew prophet appropriates an image of Shamash, the enemy’s sun god, when speaking of the coming promise of the God of Israel.
