SKUD FRULA | Photography and Video Recording Policy

1. Purpose

SKUD Frula photographs and video records its activities and performances to document, preserve and promote Serbian cultural traditions and the work of the organization.

2. Photography and Recording

Photography and video recording may take place during rehearsals, concerts, performances and other Frula activities.

Members, parents and spectators may take photographs and videos for personal use, provided they do not interfere with activities or performances and respect reasonable privacy requests.

3. Concert Recordings and Publication

Frula routinely records group performances and concerts. These recordings may be published on Frula's official YouTube channel, website and social media platforms for cultural, archival and community purposes, subject to applicable laws.

Members and parents will be informed of these practices through this policy and event communications. Any concerns regarding public recordings should be raised with the Board before the event whenever possible.

4. Individual Promotional Use

Frula will seek separate consent before using an identifiable dancer as the primary subject of promotional photographs, interviews, advertisements or similar featured materials.

5. Privacy Concerns

Members and parents or guardians may contact the Board regarding concerns about photography, recording or publication.

Frula will review concerns individually and consider reasonable accommodations where practical. Due to the nature of public group performances, Frula cannot guarantee that a dancer will not appear in photographs or recordings taken by spectators or other third parties.

6. Implementation

This policy becomes effective upon approval by the Board of Directors. Members and program participants will be notified in writing in accordance with Frula's bylaws.

The Board is responsible for administering and reviewing this policy.
