Description of Advisory Firm

Leverage Financial Advisory, LLC ("Leverage Financial Advisory") was formed as a limited liability company in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on October 27, 2018. The principal owner of the firm is Brian M. Bond. The firm is registering as an investment advisor with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts securities regulators. The firm provides investment supervisory and management services, financial planning, general investment consulting and educational seminars and workshops.

The following paragraphs describe our services and fees. As used in this Disclosure Brochure, the words "LFA", "advisor," "firm," "we," "our," and "us" refer to Leverage Financial Advisory and the words "you," "your," and "client" refer to you as either a client or prospective client of our firm.

Description of Advisory Services Offered

Leverage Financial Advisory provides personalized financial planning and investment management services to individuals, married couples, and business entities, with a particular focus on hospitality industry professionals and small business owners. Advice is provided through consultation with the client and may include: assessing existing financial assets, net worth, cash flow and liabilities, budgeting, determination of financial goals and objectives, investment management, education planning, insurance reviews, retirement planning, tax planning, estate planning, and working in collaboration with a client's other professional advisors such as CPA's and attorneys.

Leverage Financial Advisory acts in a fiduciary capacity with its clients. As a fiduciary we are bound ethically to act in our client's best interests. Any conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client in the unlikely event they should occur. We do not receive any commissions for any advice or recommendations we provide. We work with each client to organize and evaluate their financial profile and help them to accomplish individual goals and objectives.

Leverage Financial Advisory takes the time to get to know each client in an effort to provide the highest level of personalized service. Importantly, within this context, we monitor the changing needs of each client and aim to proactively address all relevant financial and investment matters. The initial meeting, which may be done virtually or by telephone, is free of charge and is generally an informal discussion to determine the extent to which our financial planning and/or investment management services may be beneficial to the client.

Advisory services are provided under the terms and conditions of a written advisory agreement executed by Leverage Financial Advisory, LLC and the client. We offer the following services:

Investment Management

Leverage Financial Advisory offers ongoing investment supervisory and management services based on the individual goals, objectives, time horizons, and risk tolerance of each client. LFA evaluates the current investments of each client, and then constructs an investment plan and recommended portfolio well suited for each client's needs and objectives. LFA will request discretionary authority from each client in order to select securities and execute transactions without permission from the client prior to each transaction.

Clients may engage Leverage Financial Advisory to manage and/or offer investment advice on certain investments that are not maintained at their primary custodian, such as assets held in employer sponsored retirement plans, and/or assets held in qualified tuition plans (i.e., 401k's, 529 plans). In these situations LFA directs or recommends the allocation of client assets in each plan using a Limited Power of Attorney, or a Held Away Order Management System called FeeX.

Leverage Financial Advisory's recommended portfolios generally consist of stocks, bonds, short-term treasuries, mutual funds and exchange traded funds (ETFs). Mutual funds and exchange traded funds are diversified securities made up of a blend of equities (stocks) and/or fixed income (bonds). A typical portfolio made up of mutual funds and/or ETFs may include domestic (U.S.) stocks, bonds and short-term treasuries, and foreign (non-U.S.) stocks. Investing in these types of equities and fixed income holdings helps to broadly diversify and manage the risk of an investment portfolio.

Leverage Financial Advisory's Collaborative 5-Step Investment Management Process

Taxable Brokerage Accounts (Savings, Emergency Funds, Inheritance)

1. The client completes an Investor Risk Profile Questionnaire which provides the client with a score
2. Based on their score, a corresponding asset allocation portfolio is recommended
3. The advisor and client then discuss the risks and historical returns of the recommended portfolio
4. Other factors are discussed such as the client's investing experience, time horizon, goals, and objectives
5. Based on the conversations, the client then selects their preferred asset allocation portfolio

Tax Deferred Retirement Accounts (IRA's, Rollover IRA's, Roth IRA's, Inherited IRA's, 401K's, 403B's)

1. The client's birthday and desired year of retirement is input into the client's personal finance website
2. Based on the year they would like to retire, a corresponding asset allocation portfolio is recommended
3. The advisor and client then discuss the risks and historical returns of the recommended portfolio
4. Other factors are discussed such as the client's current retirement savings and projected retirement needs
5. Based on the conversations, the client then selects their preferred asset allocation portfolio

Education Savings Plan Accounts (Taxable Brokerage Accounts, 529 Plans)

1. The client's child's birthday and desired first year of college is recorded, typically age 18
2. Based on the year they would start college, a corresponding asset allocation portfolio is recommended
3. The advisor and client then discuss the risks and historical returns of the recommended portfolio
4. Other factors are discussed such as current education savings and the cost of public vs. private college
5. Based on the conversations, the client then selects their preferred asset allocation portfolio

Financial Planning

Leverage Financial Advisory offers its clients a broad range of financial planning services on a one-time or ongoing basis. In general, financial planning will address any or all of the following areas of interest. The client and advisor will work together to select the specific areas to cover. These areas may include, but are not limited to, the following services:

- Personal Budgeting: LFA believes that the foundation of any financial plan begins with a clear understanding of the client's everyday spending. To gain this understanding we will together review the client's current income and monthly expenses, establish a budget and spending plan to track against, and provide recommendations and advice on prioritizing how the client's savings should be invested, or how their expenses should be reduced.

- Emergency Savings: Establishing an emergency fund with at least six months take home pay is one of the most important steps of our financial planning process. Having an emergency fund provides our clients with a sense of security, confidence and a safety net to fall back on during challenging times. We help each client setup and determine the amount needed in their emergency fund, how and when to fund it, and how to invest it in low-risk assets that will earn them high interest yet still be readily available if needed.

- Goal Planning: We will help clients identify specific financial goals and develop defined plans to attain them. Goals could include, but are not limited to, saving for a down payment on a home, paying off student loans, graduate school tuition, buying a new car, funding a child's education, or saving for an upcoming wedding or vacation. We will identify what each client wishes to accomplish, create a savings and investment plan to fund each goal, and then track their progress and adjust accordingly if anything may change the timing, need or desire to achieve each goal.

- Debt / Loan Management: Together we will review each client's outstanding loans, including but not limited to, credit cards, student loans, home mortgages, auto loans, and personal loans, and then create a prioritized debt management plan best suited for their needs. We will provide advice on which loans to pay off first and explore the option of refinancing existing debt based on factors such as your credit score, interest rates, maturity dates, and any income tax ramifications. LFA believes that debt with favorable low interest rates can at times be advantageous, and utilized to a client's advantage. LFA may recommend mortgage/loan brokers at the client's request.

- Investment Planning: This involves a review of a client's current portfolio(s), developing an asset allocation strategy that aligns with their financial goals, time horizon and risk tolerance, providing information and strategies about investing in stocks, bonds and mutual funds, reviewing employee retirement plans and stock options, as well as assisting in establishing an investment account at a selected broker/dealer or custodian. The strategies and types of investments we may recommend are further discussed in Item 8 of this brochure.

- Retirement Planning: Leverage Financial Advisory's retirement planning services typically include projections of the likelihood that a client will have enough money to comfortably retire at a desired age. For situations where projections show less than optimal results we may recommend adjusting certain variables (i.e., working longer, saving more, spending less, taking more risk with investments) that may help improve possible outcomes. If the client is near retirement or already retired, advice may be given on the calculation of RMD's and appropriate investment and distribution strategies to minimize the likelihood of running out of money or having to adversely alter spending during their retirement years. We recommend that clients consult with a qualified retirement planning specialist before initiating any retirement planning strategies.

- Employee Benefits Optimization: We will provide a review and analysis as to whether each client, as an employee of their organization, is taking maximum advantage of the employee benefits offered to them, such as a 401(k) match or Roth 401(k) offering. If the client is a business owner, we will consider and/or recommend the various benefit programs that can be structured to meet both business and personal retirement goals. Please note that if you engage LFA to provide any services for your business, these services will be provided under the terms and conditions of a separate advisory agreement.

- Insurance Planning: This involves a review of existing policies to ensure proper coverage for life, health, disability, liability, home and automobile, as well as a recommendation for any potential savings opportunities. We recommend that all clients consult with a licensed insurance professional before initiating any insurance policy changes. LFA may recommend insurance agents and/or brokers at the client's request.

- Education Planning: Includes projecting the amount of funding that will be needed to fund a child's college education, or a client's own graduate, law or medical school education. Once the funding amount and year the funding will be needed is determined, we will provide recommended tax advantaged strategies, an automated savings plan, account setup, and investment management. We always recommend that clients also consult with a qualified college funding specialist before initiating any college savings strategies.

- Credit Score Improvement: LFA believes that active credit card and credit score management is an integral part of each client's financial health, yet is something that is often overlooked. To help mitigate any risk to our client's financial life outside of their investment portfolio, LFA will review each client's current credit (FICO) score and determine if there are any strategies that we can recommend to increase their score. Improving a client's credit score can have a significant impact on building their long-term wealth as it allows them to obtain lower interest rates on auto, home, student, and credit card loans. LFA seeks to achieve a credit (FICO) score of 740 or above for its clients.

- Credit Card Management: Credit cards tend to have a bad reputation, however we believe that credit cards can be powerful wealth building tools if used wisely. Paying credit card bills in full and on time can help improve our clients' credit scores as well as make them eligible for 1 – 3% in cash back rewards every month. Clients with high credit scores may also be eligible for 0% interest credit cards for up to 21 months in some cases. We will review each client's current credit cards and spending habits and recommend strategies that can be used to leverage their current credit card utilization.

- Tax Planning: Advice may include ways to minimize each client's current and future income taxes as a part of their overall financial planning strategy. For example, we may make recommendations on which type of account(s) or specific investments to be owned based on their "tax efficiency," or "tax deferred status," with consideration that there is always a possibility of future changes to federal, state and local tax laws and rates that may impact their situation.

  We recommend that each client consults with a qualified tax professional before initiating any tax planning strategies and we may provide clients with contact information for accountants or attorneys who specialize in this area. From time-to-time, we will participate in meetings or phone calls between clients and their tax professional with their approval or request.

- Estate Planning: This typically includes establishing or reviewing each client's current estate plan, which may consist of a will, designated beneficiaries on all of their accounts, strategic planning of where assets are located and how they will be distributed, assigned powers of attorney, trusts and potential estate tax liabilities.

  We always recommend that clients consult with a qualified attorney when they initiate, update, or complete estate planning activities. We may provide clients with contact information for attorneys who specialize in estate planning. From time-to-time, we will participate in meetings or phone calls between clients and their attorney with their approval or request.

Small Business Consultation

We are available to assist small businesses in a variety of ways to include business strategy, accounting, practice management, general financial advice, debt management, as well as assisting clients with matters involving their financial institution(s), attorney(s) or accounting firm.

Educational Workshops

Leverage Financial Advisory may host or present educational seminars or workshops on topics including, but not limited to, investment management and financial planning. These seminars or workshops will be offered in person and/or virtually online.

Advisor Agreements

Investment supervisory and management services are provided under the terms of a written advisor agreement executed by Leverage Financial Advisory and the client. Implementation of the recommendations made by Leverage Financial Advisory are at the discretion of the client.

Clients Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

Leverage Financial Advisory will tailor its advisory services to its client's individual needs and objectives. Clients may impose, in writing, reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Wrap Fee Programs

A wrap fee program is an investment program where the investor pays one stated fee that includes management fees, transaction costs, fund expenses, and other administrative fees. Leverage Financial Advisory does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2019, Leverage Financial Advisory managed $2,169,363 of client assets, all on a discretionary basis.

We Typically Recommend The Following:

Base Plan: Clients with less than $150,000

Core Plan: Clients with less than $600,000

Premium Plan: Clients with more than $600,000

Additional Plan Information

If a client selects the Base Plan or the Core Plan and would like additional investment management or financial planning services that are not included within their selected Plan, they may receive those services for an additional hourly or fixed fee.

Investment Management services include Financial Planning services, but are not required to be utilized by the client(s) in order to receive Investment Management services.

Fees are 1.00% of the client's combined Assets Under Management (AUM), as well as an Initial Planning Fee ranging from $300 to $5,000 based on the complexity of the initial financial plan and account setup. Initial Planning Fees are typically higher for married couples.

Leverage Financial Advisory uses the value of the account(s) as of the last business day of the billing period for purposes of determining the market value of the assets upon which the advisory fee is based.

There is a minimum annual fee of $720 ($60 per month) for the Base Plan, $1,500 ($125 per month) for the Core Plan, and $6,000 ($500 per month) for the Premium Plan, in addition to the Initial Planning Fee.

The annual fees are pro-rated and paid in arrears, on a monthly and/or quarterly basis. Fees are withdrawn directly from the client's accounts with the client's written authorization, or may be invoiced and billed directly to the client on a monthly and/or quarterly basis. Fees are negotiable depending on individual client circumstances.

Clients will receive an invoice or statement from Leverage Financial Advisory each time a fee is directly deducted from their account. The Initial Planning Fee is payable upon the execution of a written advisory agreement. Fees may be paid either by check, ACH transfer, or through a third-party payment processor such as Zelle.

Either party may terminate the agreement upon 30-day's written notice to the other party. Upon termination of any account, the fee will be pro-rated and any unearned fee that may have been collected in advance will be refunded to the client.

Leverage Financial Advisory offers the following options for one-time client services:

Annual Portfolio Review

With this service clients will receive an in-depth investment portfolio review and plan recommendation. The service typically consists of an introductory meeting, up to eight hours of work thereafter, and a final review meeting to provide explanations, guidance and specific action steps for clients to successfully implement their plan. At, or prior to the introductory meeting, clients will provide their current account statements, and any portfolio reports, electronic records of holdings, etc., to accommodate this review. We will evaluate the client's current holdings and recommend an asset allocation model based on their investor profile, risk tolerance, time horizon and liquidity needs, while taking into consideration any potential tax consequences that may arise due to the implementation of our recommended strategy. The review may also include account type recommendations, such as the use of an IRA and/or the consolidation of multiple accounts.

We are compensated for Portfolio Review services by an agreed upon fixed fee typically starting at $800 per plan based on the estimated scope of work and complexity of the services requested. A deposit equal to one-half of the estimated total is required before planning work will begin. The remaining fee will be payable upon completion of the review. This service does not include any ongoing investment advisory or portfolio management services.

Project-Based Engagements

We understand that some clients prefer to work with an advisor on a "transactional" or "a la carte" basis, so we offer a project-based engagement. This service allows us to address a specific financial planning subject (described in Item 4), typically, limited to a single meeting, up to four hours of work thereafter, and a "call as needed" approach post completion.

We are compensated for Project-Based services by an agreed upon fixed fee typically starting at $500 per plan based on the estimated scope of work and complexity of the services requested. A deposit equal to one-half of the estimated total is required before planning work will begin. The remaining fee will be payable upon completion of the engagement.

Hourly Engagements
Hourly engagements are for services that are very limited in scope, such as assisting someone with their 401(k) allocation. Our hourly rate is $150 per hour, billed in 10-minute increments, and a partial increment (e.g., seven minutes) will be treated as a whole increment. There is not a deposit requirement; the total fee will be due upon delivery of the limited scope plan or advice and the engagement ends after delivery.

Hourly Services	Advisory Fees
Hourly Rate	$150
Billing Increments	$25.00 Per 10 Minutes

All one-time limited engagement fees may be paid either by check, ACH transfer, or through a third-party payment processor such as Zelle.

Either party may terminate the one-time limited engagement agreements upon 5-day's written notice to the other party. Upon termination of any engagement, the fee will be pro-rated based on the work completed, and any unearned fee that has been collected in advance will be refunded to the client. All limited engagements will be completed within 120 days from the date the agreement is signed.

Educational Workshops
Leverage Financial Advisory may host or present educational seminars or workshops on topics including, but not limited to, general information concerning investing and financial planning. These workshops will be offered in person or online. Attendees will be charged a flat fee not to exceed $2,500 per person. The fee will be determined by the cost of materials, time of preparation, the presenters involved, and the length of the event.

Fees are payable prior to the date of the workshops. A refund of the full fee will be provided to the attendee(s) should the workshop be cancelled, or if the attendee is unable to attend and provides notice 48 hours in advance. Attendee fees may be paid by check, ACH transfer, or through a third-party payment processor such as Zelle.

Fee Discretion
Leverage Financial Advisory may, in its sole discretion, negotiate to charge a lesser fee on any of its services offered based upon certain criteria, such as anticipated future earnings capacity, anticipated future additional assets, pre-existing client relationships, account retention and complementary services.

Additional Client Fees Charged
Our fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses that are incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, custodial fees, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are in addition to our fees and Leverage Financial Advisory does not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, or expenses.

At no time will Leverage Financial Advisory accept or maintain custody of a client's funds or securities except for authorized fee deductions. The Client is responsible for all custodial, securities and brokerage execution fees charged by the custodian and executing broker-dealer, as outlined above. Leverage Financial Advisory's fees are separate and distinct from the custodian and execution fees. See Item 12 Brokerage Practices, for further information regarding brokerage and transaction costs.

Prepayment of Client Fees
Leverage Financial Advisory's seminar/workshop fees and deposits of one-half of hourly and fixed fees are payable in advance. Upon termination, any fees paid in advance will be pro-rated to the date of termination and any unearned portion will be refunded to client. For the seminar/workshop fee, if the seminar/workshop is cancelled, the attendee will receive a full refund of the fee paid, within 5 days of cancellation. If the attendee is unable to attend and provides notice 48 hours in advance, the attendee will receive a full refund of the fee paid.

External Compensation for the Sale of Securities to Clients
Not applicable to Leverage Financial Advisory or its supervised person(s).

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Leverage Financial Advisory does not charge performance-based fees and therefore does not engage in side-by-side management.

Item 7 Types of Clients and Minimum Account Size

Leverage Financial Advisory generally provides Advisory Services to:

- Individuals
- High-Net Worth Individuals
- Small Businesses
- Hospitality Industry Professionals

There is no account minimum for any of Leverage Financial Advisory's services.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, & Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Leverage Financial Advisory employs what we believe to be an appropriate blend of the following methods of analysis when providing investment advice:

Cyclical Analysis: Involves the analysis of business cycles to find favorable conditions for buying and/or selling a security.

Technical Analysis: Involves forecasting the direction of prices through the study of past market data, primarily chart patterns, price patterns, trends, momentum, volume, and relative strength.

Fundamental Analysis: Involves analyzing individual company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line and competitive advantages, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry.

Quantitative Analysis: Involves evaluating measurable factors such as the value of a company's assets, liabilities, sales growth rates, operating margins, forecast guidance, etc. This technique would not take into account qualitative factors such as management expertise, or the state of employee morale.

Industry Research: Additionally, in performing our analysis, we may use commercially available information services and financial publications, ratings services, market data analytics, research materials provided by various broker-dealers and other research developed by third-party providers.

Investment Strategies

Generally, our investment advice is based on a globally diversified strategy involving a long-term, disciplined approach that manages risk through appropriate asset allocations. We recognize that each client's needs and goals are different; subsequently, portfolio strategies and underlying investment assets may vary. The following are common strategies utilized within our client's portfolios:

Strategic Asset Allocation: Consists of setting target allocations of various asset classes (stocks & bonds) within a portfolio, based on the age/risk tolerance/goals of the investor, and rebalancing periodically back to the original allocations as the asset classes deviate from their original target due to differing returns. An example would be any age based "target date" portfolio for retirement or educational funding.

Tactical Asset Allocation: Consists of changing the target allocation of a portfolio based on anticipated market movements.

Index Investing: A low-cost strategy that tracks a market-weighted index or portfolio, such as the S&P 500. By tracking an index, an investment portfolio is typically well diversified, has low turnover (minimal trading/transaction costs), low management fees, and relative tax efficiency (due to low turnover).

Core + Satellite: This strategy blends passive (index investing) with active investing, where passive investments make up the majority “core” of a portfolio and actively-managed investments are added as smaller “satellite” positions. For example, the core of a portfolio may be built around low-cost diversified index funds or ETFs, and the satellite holdings may include active investments such as individual stocks or sector specific ETFs that are believed capable of adding value.

Dollar Cost Averaging: Investing fixed dollar amounts on a regular basis by dividing up the total amount to be invested across periodic purchases of a target asset in an effort to reduce the impact of volatility on the overall purchase.

Sector Rotation: Seeks to capitalize on the theory that not all sectors of the economy perform well at the same time. Consists of shifting investment capital into sectors identified as offering profitable investing opportunities.

Contrarian Investing: Is characterized by purchasing and selling in contrast to the prevailing sentiment of the time. A contrarian believes that certain crowd behavior among investors can lead to exploitable opportunities in securities markets.

Long-Term Trading: Consists of securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Short-term Trading: Consists of securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow, and be sold, within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations.

Cash Management in Accounts: We use cash as a strategic asset in tactically managing equity portfolios. As market uncertainty increases, we may raise cash levels in the accounts. A 30-50% cash level is an extreme position, signifying that we are significantly cautious about current market forecasts. We are unlikely to raise cash levels beyond 50%, even in our most cautious market view. Most cash positions will generally range from fully invested (0% cash) to 25% cash, however in most cases, at least a partial cash balance will be maintained so that our firm may debit advisory fees for our ongoing account management services, as applicable.

Risk of Loss

Our judgment about the attractiveness and potential appreciation of a particular asset class or individual security may be incorrect, and there is no guarantee that the securities we select will perform as anticipated. The value of an individual security can be more volatile than the market as a whole, or the anticipated appreciation may fail to produce the intended results. Our estimate of a security's potential appreciation may be wrong or, even if our estimate is correct, may take longer than expected before the value is realized. As a result, there is a risk of loss of the assets we manage that is out of our control. We seek to reduce your risk through diversification. Although we will do our best in managing your assets, we cannot guarantee any level of performance or that you will not experience a loss in your assets.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. While the stock market may increase and the account(s) could enjoy a gain, it is also possible that the stock market may decrease and the account(s) could suffer a loss. It is important that clients understand the risks associated with investing in the stock market. Many of these risks apply equally to index funds, ETF’s, mutual funds, stocks, bonds, REITs, commodities and any other type of investment or security. Material risks associated with our methods of analysis, investment strategies, and types of securities we typically use are listed below:

Methods of Analysis Risks

Cyclical Analysis: Assumes that the markets react in cyclical patterns which, once identified, can be leveraged to provide performance. The two main risks with this strategy are 1) the markets do not always repeat cyclical patterns; and 2) if too many investors implement this strategy at the same time, it can quickly eliminate/reduce the potential opportunity.

Technical Analysis: Attempts to predict a future stock price or direction based on market trends. The assumption is that over time, the market creates patterns, and if identified these patterns can be exploited to project where the market, or a stock, will go next. The risk is that markets, and stocks, do not always follow or continue to repeat the same patterns, and relying solely on this method may not take into account new patterns/factors that have emerged.

Fundamental Analysis: This strategy is normally used for equity purchases in stocks that are believed to be undervalued, based on forecast assumptions used to calculate their intrinsic value and expected future earnings. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of the calculated value, and that the assumptions used do not materialize as expected.

Quantitative Analysis: Investment strategies using quantitative analysis may perform differently than expected as a result of, among other things, the factors used in the models, the weight placed on each factor, and changes from the factors' historical trends.

Industry Research: Our methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information that we use for our research, analysis and guidance, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

Investment Strategies Risks

Market Risk: Market risk involves the possibility that an investment's current market value will fall because of a general market decline, reducing the value of the investment regardless of the operational success of the company's operations or its financial condition.

Inflation: Inflation may erode the buying-power of your investment portfolio, even if the dollar value of your investments remains the same.

Strategy Risk: The advisor's investment strategies and/or investment techniques may not work as intended.

Turnover Risk: At times, the strategy may have a portfolio turnover rate that is higher than other strategies. A high portfolio turnover would result in correspondingly greater brokerage commission expenses and may result in the distribution of additional capital gains that could increase taxes. These factors may negatively affect the account's performance.

Limited Markets: Certain securities may be less liquid (harder to sell or buy) and their prices may at times be more volatile than at other times. Under certain market conditions we may be unable to sell or liquidate investments at prices we consider reasonable or favorable, or find buyers at any price.

Concentration Risk: Certain investment strategies focus on particular asset-classes, industries, sectors or types of investment. From time-to-time these strategies may be subject to greater risks of adverse developments in such areas of focus than a strategy that is more broadly diversified across a wider variety of investments.

Interest Rate Risk: Bond (fixed income) prices generally fall when interest rates rise, and the value may fall below par value or the principal investment. The opposite is also generally true: bond prices generally rise when interest rates fall. In general, fixed income securities with longer maturities are more sensitive to these price changes. Most other investments are also sensitive to the level and direction of interest rates.

Political Risk: The risk of financial and market loss due to political decisions or disruptions in a particular country or region. May also be known as geopolitical risk.

Legal or Legislative Risk: Legislative changes and/or court rulings may impact the value of investments, tax implications of certain strategies, and industry specific future earnings (example: the manufacturing industry having new environmental regulations that increase costs).

Small and Medium Cap Company Risk: Securities of companies with small and medium market capitalizations are often more volatile and less liquid than investments in larger companies. Small and medium cap companies may face a greater risk of business failure, which could increase the volatility of the client's portfolio.

Risks of Specific Securities Most Commonly Used

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be comprised of bonds “fixed income” (lower risk), stocks “equity” (higher risk), or a combination of both. Mutual funds are typically diversified portfolios, but can be negatively impacted by industry and/or market downturns, among other things. When a client invests in mutual funds, the client indirectly pays its proportionate share of any fees and expenses of those funds (management fees, sales commissions, etc.). Therefore, in some funds, clients may incur high expenses. In addition, the client’s overall portfolio may be affected by losses of an underlying fund and the level of risk arising from the investment practices of an underlying fund (such as the use of derivatives).

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs): An ETF is an investment fund traded on stock exchanges, similar to a stock. Investing in ETFs carries the risk of capital loss. Areas of concern include the lack of transparency in portfolios, increasing complexity, high management fees, and the possibility of inadequate regulatory compliance. ETF prices may vary significantly from their underlying Net Asset Value due to market conditions, and certain Exchange Traded Funds may not track underlying benchmarks as advertised.

ETFs are also subject to the following risks: (1) an ETF’s shares may trade at a market price that is above or below their net asset value; (2) the ETF may employ an investment strategy that utilizes high leverage ratios; or (3) trading of an ETF’s shares may be halted or de-listed from an exchange if the listing exchange’s officials deem such action appropriate. The advisor has no control over the risks taken by the underlying funds in which client’s invest.

Discount/Premium to NAV: Generally, ETF shares trade at or near their most recent net asset value (NAV). The NAV represents the value of each share's portion of the fund's underlying assets and cash at the end of the trading day. The NAV is generally calculated at least once daily for indexed based ETFs and potentially more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies in the markets may cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to the NAV.

Index Tracking Error: This is the extent to which any ETF deviates from the index that it is set up to mimic. Managing this is a key job for the manager of the fund, and how they have performed is something for the client to look at by comparing the fund’s record with the selected index in the fund documents or on the manager’s website. Some asset classes, such as emerging markets, are likely to demonstrate more tracking error than others.

Liquidity/Shutdown: There is no guarantee that an active secondary market for an ETF will develop or continue to exist. Therefore, if a liquid secondary market ceases to exist for shares of a particular ETF, a shareholder may have no way to sell those shares. In the event that an ETF becomes very unpopular and has minimal demand, the fund can be shut down and liquidated. When the fund is liquidated shareholders are paid in cash and transaction costs and capital gains/losses can be incurred. Authorized Participants (APs): One of the major parties at the center of the creation and redemption process for ETFs. They provide a large portion of liquidity in the ETF market by obtaining the underlying assets required to create a fund. Traditionally, APs are large banks such as JP Morgan Chase, Bank of America, Goldman Sachs, and Morgan Stanley, among others. If there was a credit or liquidity crisis, ETFs bear the risk of failure due to the potential non-participation of their APs.

When a client invests in ETFs, the client indirectly pays its proportionate share of any fees and expenses of those funds (management fees, administrative costs, etc.). Therefore, in some funds, clients may incur high expenses. In addition, the client’s overall portfolio may be affected by losses of an underlying fund and the level of risk arising from the investment practices of an underlying fund (such as the use of derivatives).

Equity (Stocks): An investment that generally refers to buying shares of common stocks in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and/or capital gains if the value of the stock increases. The value of equity securities may fluctuate dramatically in response to specific situations for each company, industry, and/or the general economic environment; and in the event of an issuer’s bankruptcy or restructuring, a stock could lose all of its value.

Non-U.S. Investments: International and emerging market investments present certain additional risks such as currency fluctuation, political and economic change/uncertainty, social unrest, changes in government regulations, differences in accounting, and a lesser degree of accurate public information available.

Fixed Income: Investments that generally pay a return on a fixed schedule, though the amount of the payments can vary. This type of investment can include corporate and government debt securities, money market funds, commercial paper, leveraged loans, high yield, and investment grade debt and structured products, such as mortgage and other asset-backed securities, although individual bonds may be the best known type of fixed income security. In general, the fixed income market is volatile and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities). Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, liquidity risk, call risk, and credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The risk of default on treasury inflation protected/inflation linked bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value.

Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs): Risks involved in REIT investing may include a lack of a public market in certain issues, limited liquidity and transferability, fluctuations involving the value of the assets within the REIT, a reliance on the investment manager to select and manage assets, changes in interest rates, laws, operating expenses, and insurance costs, tenant rent delinquencies and/or turnover, and the impact of current market conditions.

Bank Obligations: Include bonds and certificates of deposits (CDs) that may be vulnerable to setbacks or panics in the banking industry. Banks and other financial institutions are greatly affected by interest rates and may be adversely affected by downturns in the U.S. and foreign economies or changes in banking regulations.

Municipal Bonds: Debt obligations generally issued to obtain funds for various public purposes, including the construction of schools, roads and public facilities. Municipal bonds pay a lower rate of return than most other types of bonds. However, because of a municipal bond's tax-exempt status, investors should compare their relative after-tax return to the after-tax return of other bonds, depending on the investor's tax bracket. Investing in municipal bonds carries the same general risks as investing in fixed income/bonds in general. Those risks include interest rate risk, reinvestment risk, inflation risk, market risk, call or redemption risk, credit risk, and liquidity and valuation risk.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Neither Leverage Financial Advisory nor its management person have had any legal or disciplinary events, currently or in the past.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Broker-Dealer or Representative Registration
Leverage Financial Advisory is not a broker-dealer nor is its management person a registered representative of a broker-dealer.

Futures or Commodity Registration
Leverage Financial Advisory does not have an application pending as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or a commodity trading advisor, or as an associated person of the foregoing entities.

Material Relationships Maintained by this Advisory Business and Conflicts of Interest
Leverage Financial Advisory does not currently have any relationships or arrangements that are material to its advisory business or clients with either a broker-dealer, municipal securities dealer, or government securities dealer or broker, investment company or other pooled investment vehicle (including a mutual fund, closed-end investment company, unit investment trust, private investment company or "hedge fund" and offshore fund, other investment advisor or financial planner, futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or commodity trading advisor, banking or thrift institution, accountant or accounting firm, lawyer or law firm, insurance company or agency, pension consultant, real estate broker or dealer or sponsor of syndicator of limited partnerships.

Recommendation or Selection of Other Investment Advisers and Conflicts of Interest
Leverage Financial Advisory does not recommend or select other investment advisers.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics Description
Leverage Financial Advisory is registering as a state registered investment advisor with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts securities regulators. The firm has adopted a Code of Ethics that sets forth the basic policies of ethical conduct for all managers, officers, and employees of the firm. In addition, the Code of Ethics governs personal trading by each employee of the firm deemed to be an access person and is intended to ensure that securities transactions effected by access persons of the firm are conducted in a manner that avoids any conflict of interest between such persons and clients of the firm or its affiliates. The firm collects and maintains records of securities holdings and securities transactions effected by access persons. These records are reviewed to identify and resolve conflicts of interest. A copy of LFA's Code of Ethics is available upon request.

Firm Recommendations and Conflicts of Interest

Our firm recognizes that the personal investment transactions of our representatives demands the application of a Code of Ethics with high standards and requires that all such transactions be carried out in a way that does not endanger the interest of any client. At the same time, our firm also believes that if investment goals are similar for clients and for our representatives, it is logical, and even desirable, that there may be common ownership of some of the same securities.

Investment Recommendations Involving a Material Financial Interest
Leverage Financial Advisory and its related persons do not recommend, buy or sell for client accounts, securities in which our firm or a related person has a material financial interest without prior disclosure to the client.

Personally Investing in the Same Securities Recommended to Clients
Leverage Financial Advisory and its related persons may invest in the same securities that are also recommended to clients. This may provide an opportunity for related persons of LFA to buy or sell securities before or after recommending the same securities to clients, resulting in the related persons profiting off the recommendations they provide. In order to minimize this potential conflict of interest, our related persons will place client interests ahead of their own interests and adhere to our firm's Code of Ethics. LFA will always document any transactions that could be construed as conflicts of interest and will never engage in trading that operates to the disadvantage of clients when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Trading Securities At or About the Same Time as Clients' Securities
Leverage Financial Advisory and its related persons may buy or sell securities for themselves at or about the same time they buy or sell the same securities for client accounts. This may provide an opportunity for related persons to profit off the trades they execute for clients. In order to minimize this potential conflict of interest, our related persons will place client interests ahead of their own interests and adhere to our firm's Code of Ethics. Additionally, securities typically recommended by LFA are widely held and publicly traded. Should a conflict occur because of materiality (i.e., a thinly traded stock), disclosure will be made to the client(s) at the time of trading. Incidental trading not deemed to be a conflict (i.e., a purchase or sale which is minimal in relation to the total outstanding value, and as such would have negligible effect on the market price), would not be disclosed at the time of trading. LFA will always document any transactions that could be construed as conflicts of interest and will never engage in trading that operates to the disadvantage of clients when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Factors Used to Select Broker-Dealers for Client Transactions
If requested by the client, Leverage Financial Advisory will recommend custodians and/or brokers-dealers to be used based on execution and custodial services offered, cost, quality of service and industry reputation. LFA will consider factors such as commission prices, speed and quality of execution, client management tools, and convenience of access for both the advisor and client in making its suggestion. Leverage Financial Advisory recommends Interactives Brokers and Vanguard.

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits
Leverage Financial Advisory does not receive research or other products or services other than execution from a broker-dealer or third party as a result of client securities transactions.

Brokerage for Client Referrals
Leverage Financial Advisory does not receive client referrals from any broker-dealer or third party as a result of the firm selecting or recommending that broker-dealer to clients.

Directed Brokerage
Leverage Financial Advisory does not require that a client direct it to execute transactions through a specified broker-dealer.

If the firm permits a client to direct brokerage, describe your practice
Leverage Financial Advisory will allow clients to direct brokerage at the advisor's sole discretion. Clients need to be aware that if they direct LFA to a particular broker-dealer for execution, the advisor may not be able to achieve the most favorable execution of client transactions. Directing brokerage may cost clients more money than if LFA were to execute transactions at the broker-dealer it recommends and/or has an established relationship.

Aggregating Securities Transactions for Client Accounts
If Leverage Financial Advisory buys or sells the same securities on behalf of more than one client, then it may (but would be under no obligation to) aggregate or bunch such securities in a single transaction for multiple clients in order to seek more favorable prices, lower brokerage commissions, or more efficient execution (this practice is commonly referred to as "block trading"). In such cases, LFA would place an aggregate order with the broker on behalf of all such clients in order to ensure fairness for all clients; provided, however, that trades would be reviewed periodically to ensure that accounts are not systematically disadvantaged by this practice. LFA would determine the appropriate number of shares and select the appropriate brokers consistent with its duty to seek best execution, except for those accounts with specific brokerage direction (if any).

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Account Reviews
All Ongoing Investment Advisory and Financial Planning client accounts are monitored on an ongoing basis. Client accounts are reviewed by Leverage Financial Advisory's Principal, Brian M. Bond. The nature of the review is to determine if the client account is still on track with the client's stated goals and objectives. We generally do not deliver written reports in conjunction with our account reviews.

One-time written Financial Plans and/or Hourly Engagements, once prepared and delivered to the client, are not reviewed again unless the client requests the financial plan to be updated.

Additional reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events, or by changes in client's financial situations (such as a job promotion, marriage, child being born, physical move, or inheritance). Clients are encouraged to notify Leverage Financial Advisory if changes occur that might materially affect their financial plans.

Account Statements & Reports
Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular summary account statements at least quarterly, directly from the financial institutions/custodians where their assets are held. From time-to-time or as otherwise requested, clients may also receive written or electronic reports from LFA, which contain certain account and/or market-related information. Clients should compare the account statements they receive from their financial institutions/custodians with any documents or reports they receive from LFA, and inform LFA of any discrepancies.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Economic Benefits Provided to the Advisory Firm From External Sources and Conflicts of Interest
Leverage Financial Advisory does not currently have any such arrangements.

Advisory Firm Payments for Client Referrals
Leverage Financial Advisory does not currently have any such arrangements.

Item 15 Custody

Under state regulations, Leverage Financial Advisory is deemed to have custody of client's assets if a client authorizes LFA to instruct their qualified custodian to deduct LFA's advisory fees directly from their account. The qualified custodian utilized by LFA/the client maintains actual custody of client assets. The client will receive written statements no less than quarterly from the custodian. Leverage Financial Advisory will also send a monthly and/or quarterly invoice or statement to the client, as well as the custodian, outlining the amount of the advisory fee to be deducted from the client account. LFA encourages clients to carefully review their account statements and firm invoices for any inaccuracies. Any discrepancies should be immediately brought to the firm's attention.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Leverage Financial Advisory provides discretionary and non-discretionary investment advisory services to clients. The Investment Advisory Contract established with each client sets forth the discretionary authority for trading. Where investment discretion has been granted, LFA generally manages the client's account(s) and makes investment decisions without consultation with the client as to when the securities are to be bought or sold for the account, the total amount of the securities to be bought or sold, what securities to buy or sell, or the price per share. In some instances, LFA's discretionary authority in making these determinations may be limited by conditions imposed by a client, in writing (in written investment guidelines or objectives, or written client instructions otherwise provided to LFA).

In instances where Leverage Financial Advisory does not have discretionary authority over the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold in the client account(s), the advisor will obtain the prior consent and approval from the client for each transaction effected in the client account. The client is not required to follow any recommendations made by LFA.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Leverage Financial Advisory will not ask for, nor accept voting authority for client securities. Clients will receive proxies directly from the issuer of the security or the custodian. Clients should direct all proxy questions to the issuer of the security.

Item 18 Financial Information

Balance Sheet
Leverage Financial Advisory does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $500 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, therefore a balance sheet is not included with this brochure.

Financial Conditions Reasonably Likely to Impair Advisory Firm's Ability to Meet Commitments to Clients
In instances where Leverage Financial Advisory has discretionary authority over client accounts, the advisor is not aware of any financial condition that will likely impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients. If LFA does become aware of any such financial condition, this brochure will be updated and clients will be notified.

Bankruptcy Petitions During the Past Ten Years
Not applicable to Leverage Financial Advisory.
