

And you can be sure, the worst of selfishness will continue to increasingly, insidiously fight to the death (and potentially abjectly, horrifyingly torture millions of people along the way, as in history) to continue to divide and dominate the public for its own immediate rewards.

When it could infinitely more easily, profitably, and rewardingly put helpfulness above all in all it says and does.
But some old habits die hard.