

On the other end of the spectrum, the natural “snowballing” of significant wealth is acceleratingly concentrating it into the hands of ever fewer <.01% of people.

So now there are approximately over 3,000 billionaires in the world. And growing. That’s a very approximate AI image of the 9 richest. And that concentration is okay, in and of itself.

But just as it takes only 1 drop of benzene to make 1000 gallons of water undrinkable, due to the “if it bleeds it leads” competitive nature of so-called “news,” recent history shows that it only takes 1 short-sighted selfish billionaire to sow enough doubt and distrust in “news,” in the U.S. and world to greatly muck up otherwise fairly well-functioning democracies, and their mostly universally peace-and-prosperity-growing influence in the world. See my free online guide for details on that.

HOWEVER, I propose that if just 1 of those 9 men heroically donated just 1% of his net worth to an endowment to finance totally independent, nonprofit, fully transparent, regularly audited, skillfully and entertainingly promoted investigative journalism on all media platforms, especially social media, to strengthen democracy in the world as much as humanly possible:

That will greatly accelerate the growth of everyone else’s wealth, and thus their own, as well as everyone’s peace and prosperity including theirs, infinitely faster than anything else can.

So if you are one of those billionaires, or want to organize 9 others at the top to also donate .01% or are even a group of millionaires, or even a few peasants who want to try to raise that endowment, I ask you please to do so. I beg you to do so. Because what the heck are we here for anyway? Except to try to make the absolute most of this mortal life? – Which is extremely torturous for millions of people for the simple lack of this sort of help before now.
