

So I propose that this project is to help fully advance humanity's maturation toward and into ever greater universal value-creation, from dividing and dominating

A) selfishness ⇒ to ⇒ B) helpfulness.

And in more tangible terms, from

A) profiteering ⇒ to ⇒ B) affordability, physically and emotionally, sustainably.

And in societal governmental terms, from

A) authoritarianism ⇒ to ⇒ B) democracy.

I propose the most vivid evidence of this maturation is that in just the past 45 years, as a world, we have reduced extreme poverty by over 50%, due mostly to the supreme value-creating power of democracies building and spreading their wealth through commerce and aid. - Which has helped most of those hundreds of millions of people start contributing pricelessly to their local, and the global, economy.

And for you, like the vast majority of people who live in democracies, to be so generally unaware of that truly mind-blowing reality, is evidence that democracies are not all-wise or by any means perfect. They are messy as hell. Just look at the U.S. now. Then ask your phone for quotes that compare it to all other forms of government.

And this is NOT to demonize you, China, Russia, India, Turkey, Brazil, Hungary, and other countries who are led more by authoritarians or are leaning that way. You are amazing, infinitely helpful people. And so, a big part of this project's purpose is to help INSPIRE your LEADERS to CAPITALIZE INFINITELY MORE on HOW YOUR COUNTRIES GOT SO GREAT, IN ORDER TO MAKE THEM INFINITELY GREATER: Through your people's HELP to EACH OTHER and THE WORLD. So in the simplest terms, I propose that, as all good parents teach their toddlers, they need to learn to share with others. Share power with others, through democracy. And then they and everyone else will be infinitely richer and happier overall. And to go through that painful growing process with as little pain as possible, I propose that you just have one mutually-help-ful dialog at a time, using my Free Online Guide™, below. And sometimes that can seem virtually impossible. So if you would like me to lead you through some of those dialogs, please let me know. Thank you!
