

“All the News
That’s Fit to Print”

The New

That may seem like a lot to ask of you, media and leaders, to put that first in all you say and do. But I propose that when you prioritize helpfulness that way, that will make your content infinitely more valuable to everyone, and thus to YOU. And enough of you doing that will start to help heal the world from selfishness, which handicaps representative democracy, and thus the economy (see Promo Note #2 above and toddler below), and thus EVERYONE’S peace and prosperity more than anything else can. And you can ESPECIALLY do that if you also upgrade and post your motto beneath:

“Only Most-Relevant-Contexted” Verifiably-Evidenced Content” with a QR code to that continually updated context and evidence. And you post corrections and retractions more prominently than the misrepresentations they set totally straight. Especially to editorial and opinion content.

- To distinguish it from childhood-nurturing-starved, selfish, shortsighted, attention-whoring, billionaire-backed clickbait social media, that benzene-poisons representative democracy, and thus the whole economy, and thus EVERYONE’S peace and prosperity, ultimately, INCLUDING THOSE BILLIONAIRES’, faster than in-the-most-relevant-contexted, continually verifiably-evidenced content can “whack-a-mole” it.

*See “benzene” above and below.

If you think this approach is in any way misinformed, naïve, and / or can be improved, please let me know!

For details on all that, see my Free Online Guide™, link below.