

This project is just getting started.

It is totally free, not-for-profit, and nonpartisan, and it is hopefully, ultimately, more helpful, overall, than anything you've ever read, or will read, if I have done and do my job right. Please let me know if it ever seems this may not be all that. Or cannot become all that. So of course please tell me how you think I might improve all of this!

And conservatives, if this seems like a liberal project, swipe down to where I say it can be most helpful for liberals to apologize to you.

My "job" with this project is to truly "save the world," i.e., help limit EVERYONE'S bother and suffering and/or increase their enjoyment infinitely faster, overall, than is now happening. And I propose that takes continually increasing profits and rewards for everyone.

So let's make that happen, okay?

I, Tim Mossman, am developing this by myself, and with the great input of dozens of friends and people I've met or overheard who have contributed priceless insights.

This is a continual work-in-progress. I am not affiliated with any group, and I will only accept donations through GoFundMe, details are in the footer.

- For which, thank you x infinity! Truly!
