

Tips for Recording Jack and Mariah Summerall Descendants

Schedule Interview

- Contact the family member and explain what we are doing.

“The JSFG history committee is working on a family history project to preserve the stories and memories of our family members so future generations can know where we came from and the lives that helped shape our family. I would like to record a short interview with you about your life to share at this and future gatherings.

The interview is very informal—just a chance for me to listen and learn. If you have any old photographs, I'd love to see those too and learn who the people are and what was happening when they were taken. Would you be willing to sit down with me for a short recorded interview?

- Set a time and location for the interview.
- Share the link for the Jack and Mariah Summerall Family Tree form and ask them to fill out and return it to the JSFG history committee at the email/address provided.

Phone, Settings, Phone Stand

Day of the Interview

- Print a copy of the interview questions or take your laptop with you.
- Phone settings are completed.
- Charge your phone to 100%/
- Clean the lens with a soft cloth.
- Make sure the microphone port is not covered.

Location, Environment, Lighting and Positioning the Person

- Choose a quiet room where the person can comfortably sit on something that doesn't squeak or swivel. Check for background noise like refrigerators, clocks, traffic and turn off fans.
- If it's daytime, a room with natural light from a window is preferable. The window should be in front of the person, not behind them (Figure 1). Seat people wearing glasses alongside the window on their left or right side to reduce glare on lenses. (Figure 2)

Phone Position

- Place the phone in a horizontal position  on a tripod or stand at or slightly below the person's eye level and within 2–5 feet of your subject for clear voice pickup with the built-in mic.
- Please do not hold the phone by hand

Framing the Person

- Center or slightly off-center the person for a natural look.
- When the person's face is centered, lock the focus and exposure by touching the phone screen and holding it on the person's face until AE/AF Lock (iPhone) or a Lock icon (Android) appears.
- Position yourself next to the phone's camera lens so when the person is talking their eyes are in line with the camera.
- Ask the person to look at you when talking.

Recording

- Enable Do Not Disturb or Airplane Mode on ALL phones present in the room to avoid call interruptions
- Keep the phone in the same position until the interview is completed.
- Have a glass of water and tissues nearby.
- Start the recording and double-check that it is ACTUALLY recording.
