Virus Body

By Zheny "Mohan" Wang '20

THIS WORK IS A visualisation of my dream during the pandemic period. The visualisation dimension
increases of objects
diverse while and still begin some of the same and connection with all the fragments. As a whole, the work is human body
whose "skin," the canvas
paper, is a green and red color and it will be ready by electronic wires
connected by blood vessels.
The body is a signal in different ways and will not be lost again and what is missing is occupy ing the body. The entire work is a genetic drawing inspired by the structure of the molecule
and how they are connected in the pandemic in the China. This also one of the fragments that will find
the greatest connection with the people and during the pandemic. In pandemic, the body
structure that is deeply impacted and is dimensional and it will be a personal story
and also the pandemic
that has been connected everywhere and of our global village.

瑤族民歌二帖

■王崢

〈氓仔〉

黑摸摸的水
摸得一抹黑
魚塘打水石上飛
偷得三更
五更不得追

氓仔影崇崇
魚都浮，貓公睡
貓公不餓，山有鬼
落雨，落雷
山鬼有眼，
氓仔不得歸

〈鳳山有老虎〉

日下山
貓公銜鼠上鳳山
狗仔伴貓索魚食
鉤也濕，嘴也濕
魚多半响吊鷹姿
捨莫魚味日斜斜
捨得魚味月上山
月出大貓笑小貓
吼吼叫，貓懶狗仔跳
一路討得好虎追
坡上飛，坡下隨
兩尾濕濕下鳳山
魚走鷹飛
三聲虎公退

Thirst

Pour in me
The screams of Yellow River
I am thirsty, to thee I declare
Like a running giant from the mythology Return the teardrops to eyelashes the clapping waves to ancient lakes

Fresh water, only fresh water to thee I toast Wisteria, a home-grown hysteria
only on fresh water it thrives along with the laundry bubbles
all fill in me a drinkable life

Rice wine dries out
fresh water too
but saltwater fuels the thirst
the descendants of archaic civilizations search in the five oceans, the millennial oasis
only to die a mythological death

Monsoon is calling
A drought is unreserved for sunken ships except for a lake after lake from Tibet
They are oceans' orphaned children in water's hometown were they left behind before the glaciers' melt-down never would they drink a monsoon
To thee I promise

But pour in me the glaciers
The thirst is thirsty
just like Nile River before the desert
